MAYOR MOVES TO STRENGTHEN COMMUNITY APPEALS BOARD

Mayor Thomas M. Menino announced he will take action to strengthen the City of Boston's Community Appeals Board (CAB) by making it more responsive to community concerns. The Community Appeals Board is responsible for reviewing citizen complaints of alleged police misconduct. CAB was established by an Executive Order in 1992 based upon a recommendation of the St. Clair Commission. Upon his election in November, Mayor Menino asked his Policy Office to review ways to make the Board more effective for Boston residents.

To make CAB stronger and more responsive to Boston's communities, Mayor Menino has directed Police Commissioner Paul Evans to pursue the following actions:

- Appointing a new Chair, who will not be a city employee. The past Chair of CAB also served as a department head under the previous administration. Mayor Menino expects to make at least three new appointments to the five (5) member board in the next few days.

- Providing funding for a full-time staff person for the Board starting July 1, 1994. At present there is no funding for full-time staff for CAB.

- Coordinating CAB and its staff person under the City's Office of Civil Rights and its Executive Director, Victoria Williams. Previously the board was staffed on a part-time basis by the City's Real Property Department.

- Expanding the mission of the board beyond just reviewing disciplinary matters, to include efforts to enhance community policing through an open dialogue with the general public and civil rights community about police procedures.

Mayor Menino said, "I was a supporter of the Community Appeals Board when it was established in 1992, but I felt there was some flaws in the way it was structured. I want a strong Board that is free from any perceived undue interference from City Hall or the Police Department. I have asked Civil Rights Director Victoria Williams and Police Commissioner Paul Evans to work together to see that the Board is accessible and open to the public. In the next few days, I will be appointing individuals who represent the diversity of Boston's population and who are well respected in our neighborhoods."

MAYOR ANNOUNCES INCREASE IN MINORITY EMPLOYMENT

Mayor Thomas M. Menino has announced an increase in the full-time minority employment rate for the City of Boston.

The full-time minority employment rate is now 29.8 percent. This is an incremental change of 0.8 percent from the same quarter a year ago. This means that Boston employed 3,671 minority employees for the First Quarter. (School Department employees are excluded from these figures.)

Average salary levels for minorities are also higher than for the same period

MAYOR THOMAS M. MENINO ANNOUNCES $180,000 SAFE NEIGHBORHOODS GRANT FOR EAST BOSTON

Mayor Thomas M. Menino has announced the approval of a $180,000 Safe Neighborhood Initiative Plan for East Boston submitted by the Suffolk County District Attorney's Office to the Massachusetts Commission on Criminal Justice.

Modeled after the Dorchester Safe Neighborhood Initiative, the East Boston Safe Neighborhood Initiative Plan was put together through a strong partnership between District Attorney Ralph Martin's Office, the Boston Police Department and the East Boston community. The street-level crime prevention plan will coordinate the community's existing anti-crime programs by providing resources for the following:

- Additional Boston Police foot patrols focused around Central Square;
- Assignment of another Assistant District Attorney to oversee the Initiative's implementation; and a year ago. Currently, 22 percent of full-time minority city employees make $33,000 or more each year. Only 21 percent averaged $33,000 or more for the same quarter in 1993.
- An investigator/youth service worker for the community.

Mayor Menino said, "My Administration is committed to giving equal opportunity to all. My goal is to see that minorities are represented at all levels of city government. I'm pleased that the First Quarter report shows we have already started to make progress with our Affirmative Action goals."

First Quarter figures are for the period from January 1, 1994, through March 30. Women are included in the "minority" category.

Highlights of the First Quarter report:

— More than 47 percent of the new hires during the First Quarter were women.

— 37 percent of all City departments are now headed by women.

— First Quarter figures show that in the new hire category, 16 percent were Black, 6 percent Hispanic, 8 percent Asian.

United Way

Comprehensive Workers' Compensation Program for United Way funded agencies. The purpose of the Group is to help control operating costs for United Way funded social service agencies by reducing their Workers' Compensation insurance premiums.

Rene Mallen, Vice-President of Human Resources at the United Way, participated in the formation of the self-insurance group. According to Mallen, "The Massachusetts Bay Self-Insurance Group is another of the avenues through which the United Way of Massachusetts Bay is helping its member agencies stretch their charitable dollars."

MBSIG is a non-profit corporation controlled by its member agencies. The Group is dedicated to providing the highest quality Workers' Compensation services possible. Linda Caliga, Vice President of Massachusetts Bay Self-Insurance Group, Inc., and Executive Director of Visiting Nurse & Community Health Foundation, Inc., states "Our VNA looks forward to substantial cost savings from our membership in this United Way program." Actuarial studies performed on similar groups indicate members can reduce Workers' Compensation costs by at least 25 percent.

The group will be managed on a daily basis by Boston Risk Management Corporation. Boston Risk was selected by MBSIG for its expertise in self-insurance as well as its dedication to excellence in service to clients. Frederic C. Church, Jr., President of Boston Risk Management Group was an architect of the oldest and largest self-insurance group in New England, Connecticut Municipal Group, formed in 1980.

This highly successful Group has earned $125 million for its members, a net savings of forty percent annually. Church also helped construct the oldest and largest self-insurance group in Massachusetts, the Massachusetts Municipal Group, formed in 1986. This Group concurrently offers its members initial premiums that are 15 to 25 percent below the standard premium available from traditional insurance companies.

Based on his years of experience with self-insurance, Church said, "Where insurance is concerned, taking matters into your own hands invariably leads to superior service and the potential for large savings."

Boston Risk Management Corporation will provide MBSIG with a comprehensive program dedicated to preventing and managing work-related injuries, including safety training for member agencies and rapid response to employee injury. Boston Risk's goal is to achieve a "win-win-win" situation. The agencies will win a lower cost of Workers' Compensation coverage. The employees will win a safer workplace with fewer injuries. And the community will win more of the scarce charitable dollars spent on social service instead of insurance.

Boston Risk Management Corporation is a member of the Plymouth Rock family of companies. Plymouth Rock Assurance Corporation was selected by Boston Magazine last year to receive its first-ever award for the best insurance company.

THREE NEW CROSS-TOWN BUS ROUTES TO HELP ECONOMIC GROWTH IN BOSTON

Boston Mayor Thomas M. Menino on May 23, joined Lieutenant Governor A. Paul Cellucci, Secretary of Transportation and MBTA Chair James J. Kerassiotis and MBTA General Manager John J. Haley, Jr., to announce three MBTA cross-town bus routes linking areas with strong economic bases with some of Boston's greatest potential growth areas.

Mayor Menino said, "I have long been advocating for this circumferential line. Connecting some of Boston's great economic engines with areas ripe for economic growth and investment will help spark a real economic future here in Boston." The Mayor also noted that while 65 percent of downtown

MWRA MEETING ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Massachusetts Water Resources Authority (MWRA) is now developing a System Master Plan for improvements to the regional wastewater system over the next 30 years. As part of this process, the Authority is examining a number of possible alternatives for controlling pollution from Combined Sewer Overflows (CSOs).

In order to generate these alternatives, the Authority has completed an assessment of existing water quality for all local waters impacted by CSO discharges. A range of water quality goals have been proposed for each water body, and, in compliance with the Authority's court schedule, various CSO control alternatives that contribute to these goals will be developed by the end of June 1994.

To begin the public participation process on this phase of the project, the Authority has scheduled two sets of meetings, grouped by water bodies, to discuss the water quality assessment and CSO control alternatives. You are encouraged to participate in these discussions and attend any meetings of interest to you.

The alternatives will be studied further during the summer in order to se-workers arrive by public transportation, only 30 percent of the workers in the circumferential corridor just one mile away can arrive by public transport.

Dubbed the "Urban Bus Ring," the three express-type, cross-town bus routes include:

- Cross-town Longwood, which will run between the Longwood Medical Area and Andrew Station via the South End Medical Area;
- Cross-town Ruggles, which will run between Ruggles Station and the Kendall/MIT Station in Cambridge via the Longwood Medical Area, Boston University and MIT; and
- Cross-town Cambridge, which will run between Central Station in Cambridge and the South End Medical Area via Massachusetts Avenue.

The bus service, which will begin in September and run weekdays between 6:30 a.m. and 6:30 p.m., will carry over 7,500 riders daily.

THERE'D BEEN A LONG DRY SEASON, and there wasn't enough hay to keep the cows fed, so Gunister and one of his friends decided to go into the hay merchandising business. They got a truck and drove to another state, where they bought hay for three dollars a bale. Then they brought it home and sold it for $2.50 a bale.

After a few weeks in the business, Gunister's friend said, "You know, there must be something wrong. We're just not makin' any money."

DORCHESTER Y CELEBRATES 75TH WITH NEW YOUTH & FAMILY CENTER

Strong community commitment and fundraising have made possible a special groundbreaking ceremony at the YMCA of Greater Boston, Dorchester Family Branch, Saturday, May 7, beginning at 10 a.m.

The event marked the 75th anniversary of the Dorchester Family YMCA and celebrates the building of a new gymnasium, teen center and computer training lab. Approximately $390,000 of the $1.4 million construction resulted from a grass roots effort spearheaded by community volunteers.

On hand to break ground that day were Boston Mayor Thomas M. Menino, State Senator Dianne Wilkerson and YMCA of Greater Boston President John M. Ferrell. The day of celebration included former Congressman and newly appointed ambassador Brian J. Donnelly and other civic leaders. Following the groundbreaking, part of the reception featured festive foods and live entertainment performed by the jazz ensemble Rain.

Beginning in January, 1991, the recent Dorchester Branch Capital Campaign co-chaired by Senator Wilkerson and Michael Corcoran began to raise funds and awareness of the YMCA in Dorchester. Since that time more than 250 individuals, corporations and foundations have contributed the funds that make this new building into real bricks and mortar. As a result, the Dorchester Family Branch will be able to extend services to more than 1,500 additional residents of all ages in the community. Special thanks will be given at the event for the support of a number of outstanding Boston institutions including: The Boston Company, City of Boston, Department of Housing and Urban Development, Raytheon Corporation, the Hyams Foundation, and Bay Colony Associates.

Founded in 1851, the YMCA of Greater Boston is the oldest in the United States. Today, the YMCA of Greater Boston is one of the largest urban YMCAs in the country with seven building facilities located in inner city Boston and four facilities in suburban communities. There are four additional program centers which include: an Adolescent Parent and Children's center based at English High School in Jamaica Plain; Egleston Square Youth Center; and the Families in Transition program based at the YMCA headquarters on Huntington Avenue in Boston.

The Dorchester Family YMCA was founded in 1919 and offers childcare, including the first toddler program opened in the area; adult education; employment and job skills training; drug and alcohol awareness programs; teen programs; services for seniors; and much more. Today's YMCA is comprised evenly of male and female members, with a child to adult ratio of about three to one.

MAYOR MENINO TO GRANT FRANKLIN INSTITUTE 1.25 MILLION DOLLARS

Mayor Thomas M. Menino, on June 2, signed an order, passed upon his request by the City Council, directing 1.25 million dollars to the Franklin Institute; endowing the school's capacity to provide educational and training opportunities for Boston residents.

The money came from a Supreme Judicial Court order citing Boston as the beneficiary of this money from Benjamin Franklin's will, but the Mayor decided to allocate this money to the Institute. The Mayor's decision was based upon the school's continued commitment to providing accessible educational opportunities for Boston residents — opportunities which contribute to a more marketable work force.

The Mayor said, "My Administration has worked hard to gain jobs by retaining businesses here in Boston while attracting new ones. But as the number of jobs grow, the size and education level of our qualified work force must also grow, especially today with the increasing use of technology. The Franklin Institute, through its vast number of programs, has demonstrated its ability to widen the base of people receiving a solid education, allowing them to pursue careers as qualified employees. This is an investment in our economic future as much as it is in education."

The Institute serves people from all walks of life from homemakers returning to school, to high school students seeking higher education, to people preparing for career changes. A majority of the students are from the City of Boston, and of that majority 70 percent are from economically disadvantaged neighborhoods. These numbers underscore the Institute's role in providing educational opportunities, which translate into job opportunities, that otherwise may not exist for some people. More than half the graduates also end up staying here in Boston putting the skills they have learned to work.

President of the Franklin Institute, Richard D'Onofrio says despite a wide range of programs its mission is focused. "We cater to the needs of the coming generation and those who do not have the resources to access higher education," he said.

The Mayor also recognized the number of programs developed by the Institute for those outside its current conventional enrollment. About 175 Boston Public High School students participate in the outreach program focusing on science, communication and lifestyle skills. There is also a degree program for single parents and English classes for new arrivals to the United States.

The school's curriculum focuses on engineering and industrial technologies ranging from architecture to calculus to automotive repair. The Institute also provides a number of options for students within the Boston Public Schools to enhance skills in certain trades or subjects. One program provides students at the Muriel Snowden School with classes in college-level derivative calculus, the classes are taught at the Franklin before, during or after the normal school day. This particular program not only develops math skills, but enhances cognitive and analytical abilities. Many kids in this program have gone on to higher education, not only at Franklin but to Northeastern, UMass and Cornell.

The Mayor feels granting this money to the Franklin Institute is keeping with Ben Franklin's wishes, by not only providing educational opportunity, but by grooming a more marketable workforce. The Mayor sees a more marketable workforce as key to making the City more business friendly.

MAYOR MENINO AWARDED
AT UMASS/BOSTON
COMMENCEMENT AND ANNOUNCES NEW
"REACH BACK" PROGRAM

Mayor Thomas M. Menino, on June 4, was awarded the Chancellor's Medal for Distinguished Service and addressed the graduating class during the commencement exercises for the University of Massachusetts at Boston on the campus main plaza. The Mayor, who graduated from UMass Boston in 1988, reflected on his own educational experience and emphasized the importance of educational opportunity; the Mayor highlighted this emphasis by announcing his upcoming "Reach Back" program.

The "Reach Back" program was designed to shepherd kids toward the opportunity of one day becoming a degree recipient. The Mayor said, "What if college students and recent graduates like you reached back to those younger students, offered hands of support, mentoring hands, may be help with tutoring or coaching, may be to just be friends, but always reinforcing goals and dreams — to say, 'stay in school.'"

The Mayor likened the announcement of his "Reach Back" program to President Kennedy announcing his Peace Corps program at the University of Michigan, because both issued graduates the challenge of helping people in need.

The Mayor, furthering his commitment to affordable education, offered to advocate for greater financial aid to the University and reminded people of his inaugural pledge, to help qualified Boston Public School Students accepted to a college in Boston find the means for attendance.

Several speakers preceded the Mayor including Chancellor Penney and the class of 1994 valedictorian. Honorary degrees were also given out to five people: author and Atlantic Monthly editor Jack Beatty, Rev. Dr. Michael Haynes of the 12th Baptist Church in Roxbury, Philip Morrison, Institute Professor (Emeritus) at MIT, Lloyd Richards, formerly the Dean of Yale's School of Drama, and Eunice Kennedy Shriver. Police Commissioner Paul Evans also received the Alumni Award at the ceremony.

"INSIDE DEAF WORLD" WITH LEAH COHEN AT BPL

Leah Cohen, a hearing woman who grew up on the grounds of the Lexington School for the Deaf in Queens, New York, where her father was superintendent, will present excerpts from her recently published book, Train Go Sorry: Inside a Deaf World, during a reading/performance in the Rabb Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library in Copley Square on Tuesday evening, June 14 at 7 p.m.

As a child without a hearing impairment, Leah tried to fit in with her deaf family (her grandparents were deaf; her parents weren't) and playmates by pretending the pebble she balanced in her ears were hearing aids.

In her new book, Train Go Sorry (the sign language idiom for "missing the boat") she tells what it's like to be a sympathetic observer on the fringes of the deaf community.

Currently a resident of Boston, Ms. Cohen is a graduate of Hamphire College and earned a master's degree from the Columbia School of Journalism. She teaches at Emerson College and has worked as a sign language interpreter.

The public is cordially invited to attend. The program will be presented in American Sign Language and voice interpreted. Infrared listening receivers are also available. For additional information call the Boston Public Library's Access Center at 536-5400, Ext. 295 (voice) or 36-7055 (TDD).

Through his series of Awards Ceremonies this spring, Mayor Menino will have honored two students from the graduating class of each of the 117 Boston Public Schools.

These kids are working hard and giving it their all. Tonight is their time to shine as we celebrate what is right about the Boston Public Schools."

This spring's series of Awards Ceremonies is the first time that students citywide have been recognized in this expansion of a program that Mayor Menino initiated as a district city councillor and ran in his district for nine years.

The official City of Boston World Cup opening extravaganza took place on June 19 beginning at Noon. Designed to showcase the city's cultural diversity, the event featured ethnic pavilions, food, entertainment, a headliner performance by "America" at 7:00 p.m. on City Hall Plaza/North Stage, and a 15-20 minutes fireworks display over Boston Harbor. The festival encompassed the area of City Hall Plaza, Faneuil Hall Marketplace, Christopher Columbus Waterfront Park, and Hanover Street in the North End.

The Boston Host Committee, the public/private group which submitted the successful bid to bring the World Cup to Boston, will stage two signature fundraising events featuring Julio Iglesias at Great Woods on June 22, and John Williams and the Boston Pops at Symphony Hall on

COMPETITION FORMAT

The 24 finalists for the 1994 FIFA World Cup have been seeded and drawn into six competition groups (A through F). In the first stage, each team plays three games in a round-robin format within its group. Each of the nine World Cup venues will host four first stage games, two of which will feature one of the six top-seeded teams (see chart).

The first- and second-place teams in each group, along with four "wild card" third-place teams, qualify for the single-elimination second stage, beginning with the round of 16. For example, if the USA finishes second in the first stage group, it would, as 2A in the chart, play its round of 16 game in Washington, D.C. The winning teams from the round of 16 advance to the quarterfinals, which are held in Boston, Dallas, New York/New Jersey and San Francisco. For example, if the USA won its round of 16 game it would as W6 in the chart, play its quarterfinal game in Boston.

Quarterfinal winners advance to the third stage, beginning with the semifinals to be held in Los Angeles and New York/New Jersey. For example, if the USA won its quarterfinal game it would, as WC in the chart, play its semifinal game in New York/New Jersey. Semifinal losers play a third-place/fourth-place game, and the winners move on to the championship. Both games will be played in Los Angeles.

HISTORIC SIGNIFICANCE OF FLOUR AND GRAIN EXCHANGE

The Flour and Grain Exchange was originally built for the Boston Chamber of Commerce in 1892, at a cost of $400,000. This organization was the third such body to exist in the city. The first Chamber of Commerce originated in 1793 and continued until 1804. The second body succeeded the original in 1836, but was dissolved by 1843. The third Chamber of Commerce was incorporated in 1885, a consolidation of two corporate trade bodies, the Boston Commercial Exchange and the Boston Produce Exchange. This new organization took possession of the quarters of the produce exchange under the domain of Quincy Market. Originally organized as a "grain exchange" the early chamber members were representatives of the grain and produce trades, as well as transportation and manufacturing interests.

The objectives of the association were to promote just and equitable principles of trade, to establish and maintain uniformity in commercial usage; to correct abuses which may exist; to acquire, preserve, and disseminate valuable business information; and, to adjust controversies and misunderstandings between its members. There was, however, a feeling among the members that the organization could not attain its full stature until it had a building of its own, one that would be both an ornament to the city and a credit to itself.

The site was donated in 1889 by the Central Wharf and Wet Dock Corporation and Henry M. Whitney, a member of the Chamber and the founder of Boston's electrified local transit system. The site was donated with the condition that a suitable building be erected on it, one which would fulfill the purpose of providing suitable room for a commercial exchange in the city. A special building committee was appointed and construction began in May, 1890. In January, 1892 the building was formally dedicated at a grand ceremony where the audience included chambers of commerce members from across the country.

The Flour and Grain Exchange (c. 1892)
From the corner of India and Milk Streets, looking southeast.

At the time of the dedication, the first floor was occupied by banks and steamship companies. The second floor and upper floors contained large offices. The third floor housed the Chamber of Commerce and included a board room, secretary's room, committee rooms, a reading room, director's rooms, parlors, lavatories and a telegraph office. Support services in the basement included a large restaurant, kitchens, a barber shop and the boiler and engine rooms.

The early Chamber of Commerce was influential, devoted and active in furtherance of the commerce and promotion of Boston. The Flour and Grain Exchange Building itself is historically significant as an expression of the financial growth of Boston and a desire to advance the interests of trade and commerce in the city.

Architectural Significance

The Flour and Grain Exchange is architecturally significant as a major work of the nationally prominent Boston architectural firm, Shepley, Rutan and Coolidge. The firm is the successor to Henry Hobson Richardson, a nationally renowned 19th century architect and designer of Trinity Church. The principals of the firm, George Foster Shepley, Charles Hercules Rutan and Charles Allerton Coolidge worked for H.H. Richardson until his death in 1886.

George Foster Shepley (1860-1903), was born in St. Louis. He graduated from MIT in 1882, and joined Richardson's office as a draftsman. Charles Hercules Rutan (1851-1914) was born in Newark, New Jersey and began his architectural training with the firm of Gambrill & Richardson in 1869. He was promoted to draftsman and eventually became one of Richardson's chief designers. Charles Coolidge (1858-1936), a native Bostonian, attended Harvard College and M.I.T. Coolidge received his early training in the Richardson's office. Each had increasing responsibilities in the latter years of the firm when Richardson's health failed. After Richardson's death, the three architects formed a partnership to complete the 25 projects left in Richardson's office. Unfinished projects turned over to the firm include the Allegheny County Courthouse in Pittsburgh and the Marshall Field Warehouse in Chicago, two designs which are noted as among Richardson's best.

The Romanesque massing and detail of the Flour and Grain Exchange owe much to Richardson's own Frederick L. Ames warehouse constructed in 1882 (now demolished) and the Cincinnati (Ohio) Chamber of Commerce Building. The Ames Warehouse stood at the corner of Bedford and Kingston Streets and, like the Flour and Grain Exchange, featured a curved facade organized into a succession of superimposed arched window openings, surmounted by a row of triangular dormers.

The architects and builders of the Flour and Grain Exchange employed innovative techniques for the construction of the building. According to the book issued at the dedication, "the floors and ceiling of the offices in the sixth and seventh stories over the Board Room are suspended from the roof."

The list of the firm's commissions is long and distinguished; their most significant works include: the original buildings of Stanford University (1890); the University of Chicago; the Chicago Art Institute and Public Library (1883-97); and the New York Hospital. Their work in the Boston area include the Ames Building (1892), the tallest building in the city at the time of its completion, the First Parish Church in Brookline (1892), South Station Terminal (1899) and, numerous buildings at Harvard University and the Harvard Medical School (1903-07). Other Boston works include 17-23 Beach Street (1906) and the Boston Safe Deposit and Trust Company Building at 85-102 Franklin Street (1908-11).

Shepley, Rutan and Coolidge designed numerous lesser known buildings in Boston's neighborhoods such as Rotch Memorial Hospital at 55 Shattuck Street and the Harvard Dental School at 188 Longwood Avenue, both completed in 1910, in the Longwood Medical Area. The firm also designed the Robert Breck Brigham/New England Baptist Hospital at 125 Parker Hill Avenue (1912-14) and the Jefferson School at 240 Heath Street (1903-04) on Mission Hill, and the Boston YMCA at 312-320 Huntington Avenue (1911-12) in the Fenway. Coolidge completed the Peter Brent Brigham Hospital, units at Massachusetts General Hospital and Children's Hospital.

Shepley, Rutan and Coolidge (1896-1915) was known subsequently as Coolidge and Shattuck (1915-1924) and then Coolidge, Shepley, Bulfinch and Abbot (1924-52). The firm is currently known as Shepley Bulfinch Richardson and Abbott. The 100 year lineage makes the firm the second oldest continuing architectural practice in the country.

The Grain Exchange also represents the work of a notable construction firm, the Norcross Brothers. This firm is associated with many of Boston's most significant late-19th century buildings, and with almost all of H.H. Richardson's best known designs. Well known in the industry for their innovative construction techniques, the firm was among the earliest builders to become general contractors, and was without question among the most important construction companies in America in the late nineteenth and early 20th centuries. The Norcross Brothers provided building materials from their own granite, slate and marble quarries, kilns, mills and ironworks. They provided services as engineers, consultants, estimators, suppliers of materials and skilled craftsmen. The Norcross Brothers built more than fifty percent of Richardson's designs and most of the major commissions. The builders had offices in Providence, New York, Pittsburgh, Chicago and St. Louis, and their clients included McKim Mead and White, Van Brunt and Howe, and Peabody and Stearns. Their most significant work includes the New York Public Library, the Rhode Island State House, The Corcoran Gallery and Scottish Rite Temple in Washington, and the remodeling of the White House.

READING AT BPL

Ralph Lombreglia, author of Make Me Work, will read from his new collection of stories as the Boston Public Library's popular “Out of Boston Author Series,” featuring writers with ties to Boston, continues in the Mezzanine Conference Room of the Central Library in Copley Square on Wednesday evening, June 22.

Mr. Lombreglia is a frequent contributor to The New Yorker and The Atlantic Monthly. He was a Wallace Stegner Fellow at Stanford from 1982 to 1983, and the recipient of an NEA fellowship in 1987. His first collection of short stories, Men under Water, was published in 1990 and received widespread praise from the critics.

His new work has also drawn excellent reviews and confirms his reputation as “an astute observer of offbeat situations . . . At once comic, sad, and enlightening.” (Ann Beattie)

The reading begins at 6 p.m. and is free and open to the public, although seating is limited.

MAYOR MENINO ANNOUNCES $1.9 MILLION RECONSTRUCTION OF THE MATTAPAN SQUARE NEIGHBORHOOD BUSINESS DISTRICT

On June 1, Mayor Thomas M. Menino broke ground for phase II of the $1.9 Million reconstruction of the Mattapan Square Business District. Accompanied by neighborhood residents, local merchants and community leaders, the Mayor unveiled a rendering of the proposed archway that would span Blue Hill Avenue as part of this project.

The improvements, which are being funded through the City's Capital Plan along with a $750,000 grant from the Edward Ingersoll Browne Trust Fund, will include the installation of new walkways, lighting, trees, plantings, artwork and a pedestrian plaza along with the upgrading of Blue Hill Avenue roadway and traffic signals.

This project is an integral part of Mayor Menino's "Main Street Initiative" program. This program, announced by the Mayor last fall, seeks to revitalize neighborhood business districts throughout the city by coordinating capital projects with the local business community in a manner that fosters the strength, viability and character of the neighborhoods they serve.

Mayor Menino stated: "The Mattapan Square neighborhood business district is a fine example of the type of public/private partnership that my administration is promoting. The business leaders of Mattapan, working in tandem with local residents and city agencies, have developed a plan which builds on the local business community's efforts to attract new business and shoppers to the square. Their efforts, fostered by the City's Office of Business Services, clearly demonstrate the effectiveness of this type of partnership. It is also important to note that the Mattapan Square Commerce Association, as part of our "Broom to Broom" program, will be entering into a joint maintenance agreement with the City for the square's upkeep. I am most gratified by these efforts."

The minority-owned engineering firm of Bryant + Associates and the minority-owned landscape architect firm of Park Lu Associates developed the design details for the square's enhancement after a series of neighborhood input meetings sponsored by the City's Public Works Department and the Browne Fund.

The Mattapan Square business district is one of Boston's oldest and most diverse neighborhood shopping districts. Including more than 300 establishments, the square provides hundreds of jobs for local residents and acts as Boston's southern gateway. It is estimated that more than 2,000 shoppers utilize the district's services during any given day.

Directors of the Mattapan Square Association Lenzer Evans and Stuart Rosenberg noted that: "Mattapan Square is an example of how unity between a business community and government can work to obtain viability for not only the commercial district but for the entire community as well."

Local civic leader, Glenola Mitchell, a member of the design committee for the square's renovation, stated: "The site committee worked long and hard to develop the design for the multi-cultural gateway which will welcome visitors to the city. It will become an impressive Boston landmark."

The public art component of the square's revitalization was developed after an extensive community sponsored artist selection process. This process resulted in the selection of artist Robert Behrens, whose proposed artwork, a series of multi-cultural panels in an archway spanning Blue Hill Avenue, which invoke the culture, history and pride of the Mattapan Community, is scheduled for installation in the Spring of '95.

The Edward Ingersoll Browne Trust Fund was established by the City of Boston in 1974, when the proceeds from one-third of Mr.

Browne's 1892 estate became available to Boston, to create a special fund "for the adornment and benefit of Boston." Grants from the trust have funded more than 90 capital projects (many with public art components) totalling in excess of $10 million, including the construction of Angell Memorial Park in Post Office Square, the Hernandez School Park in Egleston Square, and the Lee Community Center Park in Dorchester.

The Browne Fund is one of the more than 250 Trust Funds that have been bequeathed to Boston since 1630. The Trustees of the Browne Fund are Mayor Thomas M. Menino, City Councillor Albert L. O'Neil and Boston's Chief Financial Officer, John C. Simmons.

Robert Fleming, Executive Secretary of the City of Boston Treasury Department's Trust Office, which manages the City Trusts, stated, "The partnership that has developed during the design of this project is a fitting example of how a community can come together to bring about positive changes. The square's renovations and the artwork's development are a testament to the fortitude and character of the residents and merchants of Mattapan."

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without advertising, based on the following communications:

ADMINISTRATIVE SERVICES DEPARTMENT

Budget & Program Evaluation

C. 1270-94
 March 21, 1994.

Consultant Services

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to Anita M. Lauricella, an individual, located at 22 Castleton Street, Boston, MA 02130, to provide consulting, analysis, and writing services to the Mayor's Administrative and Finance transition team. This contract is exempt from the provisions of G.L. c. 30B and is awarded under the authority of the City Charter.

Under the terms of the contract Ms. Lauricella will assist with the development of policy analysis, transition recommendations, and summary reports. Ms. Lauricella is uniquely qualified to do this work because of her demonstration of excellent knowledge of City government, analytical techniques, writing, and organizational skills in performing similar functions for other government agencies.

I have determined after reasonable investigation, that Ms. Lauricella is qualified and the price offered is a reasonable one.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $10,000. Payment shall be made at the rate of $35 per hour, which I have determined to be reasonable for the work performed.

The term of this contract shall be February 2, 1994, to June 30, 1994.

The contract is being processed late due to the time required to recruit a candidate to meet the needs of the transition team agenda, and for the receipt, completion and return of the required documents.

Very truly yours,
 Barbara S. Gottschalk,
 Director.

COMMUNITY CENTERS

Support Services

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to the Jackson Mann Community School Council, Inc., a non-profit corporation, located at 500 Cambridge Street, Allston, MA 02134, for support and stimulation of services for the Girls' Centers Program. This contract is exempt from the provisions of G.L. c. 30B because it is a grant agreement made with a nonprofit corporation for support and stimulation, and is awarded under the authority of the City Charter.

Under the terms of the contract, the Jackson Mann Community School Council, Inc. will provide support and stimulation of health, recreational, educational, social, and developmental services for the Girls' Centers Program, a federally funded project for which the City of Boston has been chosen as a model city. In fact, this program has again been refunded and is now entering its fifth year, demonstrating its success and proving its value to the citizens it serves.

The Jackson Mann Community School Council, Inc. is uniquely qualified to do this work because it has demonstrated the ability to provide the above services, and will provide these services for no cost.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $106,893, which I have determined to be reasonable for the work to be performed.

The term of this contract shall be May 1, 1994, April 30, 1995.

Because of the professional nature of the services to be performed, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Respectfully yours,

Evelyn Riesenber,
Acting Executive Director.

EDIC/BOSTON

C. 19161-94
March 1, 1994.

EDP Program

Dear Mayor Menino:

Pursuant to the vote of the Public Facilities Commission (PFC), dated May 28, 1993, stating that the Chief Executive Officer of the Economic Development and Industrial Corporation of Boston (EDIC) is authorized to request from the Mayor, in the name of and on behalf of the Commission, written authority to enter into contracts with service providers funded under the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to award a contract to the Boston Public Schools, a Department of the City of Boston, located at 26 Court Street, Boston, MA 02108. Under the terms of the contract, the Contractor will provide credentialization services through its External Diploma Program (EDP) to approximately 100 low-income adults. This contract is exempt from the provisions of G.L. c. 30B, as it represents an inter-agency agreement within the City of Boston.

This program was selected for refunding based on an evaluation of its refunding document submitted to EDIC, and an intensive review of the Contractor's performance during FY 1993. The proposal and program review process focused on a number of criteria, including administrative responsiveness, the ability to achieve negotiated performance standards during FY 1993, site visits conducted by staff of the Jobs and Community Services Department of EDIC, and the availability of funds.

Compensation under the terms of this contract shall not exceed $50,000, payment being made from the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program. The period of performance shall be from July 1, 1993, until June 30, 1994.

This Contractor has had contracts with this agency for this program for the previous three (3) fiscal years at the following funding amounts: FY 91-$43,500; FY 92-$43,500; FY 93-$43,500.

This request has been delayed due to the length of time involved in the program and funding review process.

Fiscal Year 1994 represents the fourth consecutive year this program has been refunded, where refunding is contingent primarily on the Contractor's performance during FY 1993. As this is a negotiated contract at a reasonable cost, based upon an extensive program performance and refunding document review, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Sincerely,

Marisa Lago,
Chief Executive Officer.

MAYOR MENINO RELEASES BOSTON COMPACT STRATEGIC PLAN

Mayor Thomas M. Menino, on June 15, released the strategic plan for the new Boston Compact. At the Boston Compact signing ceremony on January 13th of this year, Mayor Menino challenged those signing the Compact to develop and present such a plan by June 15th.

Mayor Menino said, "The Boston Compact Strategic Plan goes one step further toward advancing educational and career opportunities for Boston school children. Each of those signing the Compact is firmly committed to implementing its goals. But a commitment on paper is not enough. We must work together to detail specific approaches to ensure that each initiative meets with success. And we must measure this success by the only way that really matters — in the progress of our students."

The Boston Compact strategic plan launches a series of collaborative initiatives:

Goal #1

Access to Employment and Higher Education

A College Success initiative which focuses on retention of Boston Public School graduates once they enter college and a more challenging preparation at the high school level.

A School-to-Work initiative which goes beyond student employment to integrate fully classroom teaching with work experience.

Goal #2

Commitment to Innovation

A School Based Management initiative which requires all schools to move to shared decision-making and trains hundreds of parents, teachers and administrators (already approved in 1993).

A Pilot School initiative which will allow at least six schools to innovate free from virtually all contractual and administrative restraints (to be opened in September of 1995, pending resolution of current contract negotiations).

Comprehensive Curriculum, High Standards and Effective Assessment Methods

- An initiative which will support the first Boston Public Schools comprehensive curriculum exercise since 1981, establish high academic standards in compliance with new state and federal legislation, and create new assessment methods to evaluate more effectively student progress and the impact of various Compact initiatives.

Training and Professional Development

- A Center for Leadership Development which will coordinate training for teachers, parents and administrators to promote innovation throughout the Boston Public Schools (also subject to current contract negotiations).

Goal #5

Support for Parents and Families

- An Early Childhood Education initiative which ensures that all

MAYOR MENINO OFFICIALLY OPENS NEW VISITOR INFORMATION CENTER

To illustrate the city's commitment to tourism and signal the beginning of the revitalization of Tremont Street, Mayor Thomas M. Menino officially opened the new Visitor Information Center, on Wednesday, June 15, at noon at the Boston Common (Tremont Street side). Mayor Menino said, "The creation of this newest landmark demonstrates that the City of Boston is backing tourism 100 percent."

The Center, home of the Boston Park Rangers and operated by the Greater Boston Convention and Visitors Bureau, serves as the official start of the Freedom Trail and offers a variety of information for Boston visitors, plus convenient new restrooms.

The building is the result of an intense public process between the Boston Parks and Recreation Department, greenspace advocates and historic preservationists. The Center was designed by Scot and Kate MacPherson and planned with input from preservationist Robert Neiley and landscape architects Brown and Rowe. The project, totalling $1.4 million in city capital funds, has been under construction for one year; the old Women's Comfort Station, built in 1910, was completely renovated with a 600-square-foot addition constructed for the Rangers, allowing more greenspace to Boston Common.

Parks Commissioner Patrick S. Harrington said, "This is a public process that really worked because not only did

Five individuals signed the Boston Compact:

Schools Superintendent Lois Harrison-Jones; School Committee Chair Felix Arroyo; incoming Coordinating Committee Chair Stephen Brown, Chair of the John Hancock Company; Boston Higher Education Partnership Chair Sherry Penney, Chancellor of UMass Boston; and Boston Teachers' Union President Ed Doherty.

Mayor Menino met with the group in his office to discuss and approve the plan. Paul O'Brien, acting Chair of the Boston Private Industry Council, convened and chaired the meeting. Also present were representatives of the three new constituencies on the Boston Compact Steering Committee — parents, human service providers and cultural institutions.

The Compact Steering Committee voted to secure specific commitments in support of these initiatives for a mid-October Compact summit meeting. The Committee also voted to make monitoring and evaluation the highest priority for implementation of the Compact initiatives.

BOSTON CHOSEN TO PARTICIPATE IN NEW HUD ANTI-CRIME INITIATIVE

Mayor Thomas M. Menino, on June 12, announced that Boston has been selected by HUD as one of only twelve cities nationwide to participate in the Safe Neighborhood Action Plan (SNAP), a HUD initiative unveiled recently by Secretary Henry G. Cisneros to combat crime in HUD assisted housing.

Mayor Menino said, "I'm very excited that Boston has been chosen to participate in HUD's new SNAP Program. I recently visited several Boston housing developments with Mary Lou Crane, the HUD Regional Administrator in Boston. I look forward to working with the regional HUD office, with residents, owners, managers and neighborhood anti-crime organizations to put these valuable resources to the best possible use."

Under the SNAP Program — a joint project of HUD, the U.S. Conference of Mayors and the National Assisted Housing Management Association — Boston's local government, the owners/managers of assisted housing, residents, service providers and law enforcement officials will work together to develop and implement an innovative and comprehensive anti-crime strategy that utilizes both public and private resources.

A convened neighborhood task force on crime will help define the role that each participating agency can most effectively fulfill.

MAYOR PROTESTS INCREASE IN CABLE TV COSTS

Mayor Thomas M. Menino has written a letter to Cablevision of Boston, protesting the company's plan to increase rates to subscribers.

Cablevision plans to increase the basic fee by $1.30 a month, from $7.52 to $8.82, effective July 14.

The Mayor wrote to the company, "It is troubling to me that you plan to increase rates."

Mayor Menino has ordered a series of public hearings on the rate increase plan. "Such hearings will be held in the neighborhoods," the Mayor said. He added, "The hearings will enable citizens to voice their concerns regarding the rates and give Cablevision an opportunity to explain why they have increased rates to compensate for mandated reductions as stipulated by Congress and the FCC."

A timetable for the hearings is still being worked out.

MAYOR ANNOUNCES PLAN TO HELP UNEMPLOYED

City residents trying to find work are about to be offered an opportunity by the administration of Mayor Thomas M. Menino.

Dozens of residents of selected Boston neighborhoods will be invited to apply for a training program to remove lead paint from buildings.

Mayor Menino has announced that because of a partnership between the city, state, federal government, and Roxbury Community College, dozens of unemployed workers will be trained so they can be involved in contract work worth more than ten million dollars over the next several years.

A Memorandum of Agreement released to the public June 14 charts the course for lead paint to be removed from publicly subsidized housing units.

The EPA will run the one week training course which will certify participants to do the work. Residents who meet certain qualifications will be drawn from the following Boston neighborhoods: Dorchester, Roxbury, Hyde Park, Mattapan, Roslindale, Jamaica Plain, East Boston, South Boston, Charlestown, and Chinatown. These neighborhoods have been chosen because statistics show that 51 percent of the lead poisoned children come from these locations.

The Mayor said, "This program is a shining example of federal, state, and local governments working together to respond to the needs of people in the City. With this program we can reduce a health hazard and create jobs."

A 1980 Census for Boston indicates that 85 percent of the occupied housing units in the City contain lead based paint. Thirty percent of the state's confirmed lead poisoned children were Boston residents.

7th ANNUAL JOINER WRITERS' WORKSHOP AT BPL

The 7th Annual Writers' Workshop, sponsored by the William Joiner Center for the Study of War and Social Consequences at the University of Massachusetts/Boston, will be held in the Mezzanine Conference Room of the Boston Public Library in Copley Square on Tuesday evening, June 28, beginning at 7 p.m.

Authors Larry Heinemann, Lady Borton, Tim O'Brien, and To Nhuan Vy will read from their works. All have written acclaimed novels dealing with the problems faced by Vietnam veterans trying to adjust to society upon returning home to the United States.

A member of the UMass faculty, Larry Heinemann received the National Book Award for his 1986 novel Paco's Story. He has also authored Close Quarters and Cooler by the Lake, which is a humorous account of life in his native Chicago.

Lady Borton is the author of two books, Sensing the Enemy and After Sorrow. She has been a columnist for the Akron Beacon Journal and a regular commentator on National Public Radio.

Tim O'Brien is also a recipient of the National Book Award for fiction which he won for Going After Cacciato. Among his other books are If I Die in a Combat Zone and The Things They Carried.

To Nhuan is a novelist who will be in attendance at the Writers' Workshop with three other Vietnamese writers, Nguyen Thieu, Tran Dang Khoa, and Pham Thien Duat.

The program is free and open to the public. For more information, please contact the William Joiner Foundation at 617-287-5850 or the Boston Public Library at 617-536-5400, Ext. 336.

42nd ANNUAL BPL SUMMER FILM & VIDEO FESTIVAL

The 42nd Annual Boston Public Library Summer Film Festival will present three film series in the Rabb Lecture Hall of the Central Library in Copley Square on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays throughout the summer beginning July 5.

The focus of the Monday series, "On the Road Again," which will be shown at 3 p.m. and again at 6 p.m. beginning July 11, will be on the "Road" films that Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, and Dorothy Lamour made famous in the 1940s. The hilarious comedy and smooth musical crooning will be an enjoyment to audiences of all ages.

The Tuesday series, "1939 Revisited," is a celebration of the 55th anniversary of the greatest filmmaking year in the history of Hollywood in which 15 film classics were released. Nine of these classics, including Gunga Din, Goodbye Mr. Chips, and Gone with the Wind, will be shown in July and August. This series will be screened at 6 p.m. (except August 30, when it will be shown at 5 p.m.).

Then on Thursday evenings, the Boston Public Library will continue its tradition of screening seldom-seen, award-winning "New and Noteworthy" documentaries that rarely reach theatre or television screens. This year's series, which will be shown at 6 p.m. beginning July 7, includes 13 recently acquired documentary films representing today's most creative and informative cinema.

It should be noted that Hollywood film companies and independent filmmakers have abandoned 16mm film and adopted videotape as the primary screening format. For this reason a number of films in this year's festival are available only on videotape.

All films are free and open to the public, although seating is limited. Complete schedules of all series are available in the lobby of the Central Library in Copley Square. For more information, please call the Boston Public Library at 617-536-5400, Ext. 319.

EVERY WEEK RECYCLING PICK-UP

Starting July 1st, recycling collection is EVERY WEEK.

EXPANDED RECYCLING PROGRAM

The new recycling program lets you include MAGAZINES, CARDBOARD and BROWN PAPER BAGS. So, now you can put out almost twice as much.

IT'S JUST AS EASY AS EVER

Here's how: save your newspapers, brown bags, corrugated "waffled" cardboard (no cereal or tissue boxes) and magazines in a brown paper bag or tied up with twine. Then put it out, on garbage day, next to your trash, by 7:00am.

Exceptions: If your area has 2 trash pick-up days, you should recycle on the first day, if you have three garbage days, recycle on the middle pick-up day.

FIRE DEPARTMENT GETS FIRST ARSON DOG

The Boston Fire Department, on June 10, introduced its first arson dog and the area's newest arson fighting team. Shuttle, a three-year-old black labrador retriever and his handler, Fire Inspector Bob Peterson, recently completed the first phase of accelerant detection training in Connecticut as part of Aetna's Arson Alert Program. Boston was selected to receive the arson dog by the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms (ATF), which shares training and certification responsibilities with the Connecticut State Police for arson dogs donated through the Arson Alert Program.

As Shuttle gets used to his surroundings in Boston, the pair will continue the second phase of training here. Following successful completion of this phase, Shuttle will receive his arson dog certification from ATF. He must be recertified each year.

"Shuttle is an important ally in the war against arson fires," said Chief Richard Mullen, head of the Boston Fire Investigation Unit/Arson Squad. "We're excited that we were chosen to receive this arson dog."

Boston was one of six locations selected nationwide to participate in the most recent training class of arson dogs. The program provides training and acquisition of accelerant detection dogs, through funding by Aetna.

"We chose Boston to receive a dog because of the need, the fire department's interest in the program and the good working relationship with our local office," said Terrance McArdle, special agent in charge of the Boston ATF office.

"On behalf of Aetna's employees in Massachusetts and throughout the country, we are proud to play a role in the pairing of this team and in bringing about a deterrent to the crime of arson," said William Koppang, resident vice president of Aetna's Boston office.

Shuttle will be Peterson's constant companion at home and at the scene of fires in Boston. "He's a friendly guy and can be a lot of fun. But when Shuttle is working, he's an arsonist's nightmare," said Peterson.

MAYOR UNVEILS 94-MILLION-DOLLAR EMPOWERMENT ZONE PROPOSAL

Mayor Thomas M. Menino has released details of the Boston Empowerment Zone application which was filed with the Clinton Administration last week.

The application seeks a 94-million-dollar commitment from the federal government to help revitalize neighborhoods and expand programs, including those which provide job training and programs for children.

Boston is competing for one of six urban Empowerment Zones and the City will be told before October whether it will be granted the designation.

Mayor Menino told reporters, "We realize there are no quick fixes to taking care of poverty. That's why our application includes dozens and dozens of proposals for attacking the problem. If Boston receives the Empowerment Zone designation, then my administration will be able to build on programs already in place which are meant to improve the quality of life in the City. We know what works. This will give us the funds needed to implement what works at a faster pace."

A Steering Committee consisting of 100 city officials, community residents, academics, and business leaders has worked together on the Empowerment Zone application, prioritizing programs and projects, listening to public input, and developing strategies. Mayor Menino says, "In a sense we have already succeeded with the Empowerment Zone application because the process of applying has brought the community of Boston together."

ZONE PROPOSAL . . .

The following resources and commitments are among those defined in Boston's Empowerment Zone plan:

- Seven major banks have jointly committed to set aside 35 million dollars in flexible term capital for businesses and individuals in the Zone. They are also making available a total of 2.4 million dollars in equity and 650 thousand dollars in technical assistance to help access these resources.

- Eight medical institutions in the Longwood Medical Area have proposed to build a Medical Industrial Support Facility to provide goods and services to those hospitals. These purchases could be made through local vendors in the community creating employment opportunities in Boston.

- The Boston Emerging Industries Center plans to locate in the Empowerment Zone at the Crosstown Industrial Park.

- The State of Massachusetts has designated Boston as an Economic Target Area which will provide significant tax incentives for private economic investments.

- The Massachusetts Government Land Bank has agreed to set aside 9 million dollars in capital for the City and Empowerment Zone.

- The City is committed to lowering the number of infant deaths. Boston has received a grant to implement the Healthy Start initiative. The goal is to reduce infant deaths in the Project Area by 50 percent by 1996.

Through Steering Committee meetings, a clear consensus was developed concerning the revitalization effort for the proposed Empowerment Zone area. The City's Strategic Plan has three aspects:

- economic opportunity and jobs,
- education and work readiness,
- and healthy children, families, and neighborhoods.

Boston's proposed empowerment zone would include areas of several neighborhoods, in Mattapan, the South End, South Boston, Chinatown, Downtown, and in Roxbury.

The Chairman of the City's Empowerment Zone Committee, Joseph Feaster, says the process of drawing up the Zone application brought the community together. "In all the time I've been in Boston, more than 25 years, I've never seen so many people from so many different backgrounds come together to work on a project beneficial to the City. Everyone worked together, people in the neighborhoods, people who own businesses, people who work with children and the elderly. Everyone came together. I'm very optimistic our application will be approved."

CREATIVE WRITING FOR CHILDREN AT HYDE PARK BRANCH LIBRARY

BANKS COMMIT LOANS, GRANTS TO EMPOWERMENT ZONE PROPOSAL

A consortium of banks is committing 35 million dollars in loans and additional equity and grant funds to boost small and growing businesses in Boston's proposed Empowerment Zone area.

Mayor Thomas M. Menino outlined the new commitment from the banks in a speech at the Boston Urban Bankers Forum on June 23. The Mayor said, "The commitment on the part of these banks is an excellent example of the private sector stepping forward to help Boston's major business initiative."

In connection with the application by the City of Boston to HUD for funding of Boston's Empowerment Zone Strategic Plan, the banks are willing to make the following commitments:

Loans

Bank of Boston, Bay Banks Inc., Citizens National Bank, Fleet Bank of Massachusetts, Shawmut National Corporation, State Street Bank and Trust Company, and U.S. Trust are willing to set aside one million dollars a year for the next five years to be directed towards commercial lending in the Empowerment Zone. This will provide 35 million dollars. These loans will be available under each bank's particular lending program for women and minority small business owners. The programs make provisions for less rigid lending criteria or lower rates.

Equity

Presently, the Massachusetts Minority Enterprise Investment Corporation (MMEIC), has 1.4 million dollars available for equity investments in minority-owned businesses. MMEIC has been capitalized by the banking industry. This 1.4 million dollars would be available for equity investments in small minority-owned businesses in the Empowerment Zone. Once the money is spent, several banks will augment the Fund with an additional one million dollars. Those banks are: Bank of Boston, Bay Banks, Inc., The Boston Company, Citizens National Bank, Fleet Bank of Massachusetts, Shawmut National Corporation, State Street Bank and Trust Company, and U.S. Trust.

Technical assistance

Several banks will provide 20 thousand dollars per year for the next five years for technical assistance. Those banks are: Bank of Boston, Bay Banks, Inc., Citizens National Bank, Fleet Bank of Massachusetts, Shawmut National Corporation, and State Street Bank and Trust Company. The U.S. Trust Company will provide five thousand dollars per year for the next five years. These commitments, totalling 625 thousand dollars, will supplement the ongoing small business technical assistance initiatives presently being performed by MMEIC.

The Boston Bank of Commerce is the only minority-owned bank in Boston and it will be working with the other banks in connection with these commitments.

It should be noted that The Boston

Company has agreed to participate in the equity portion of these commitments. The Boston Company does not make commercial loans so the bank will not take part in the lending nor the technical assistance portions.

Mayor Menino thanked the bank officials for their support and added, "I need your continued help in providing minority communities and professionals with the necessary resources that will foster new and better economic opportunities."

The week of June 27 the Menino Administration filed an application for Boston to be designated as one of six Empowerment Zones in the country. Mayor Menino went to Washington, D.C., June 29, to file the application with officials in the Clinton Administration.

MAYOR UNVEILS THINK TANK PLAN

Mayor Thomas M. Menino has announced plans to set up a three-year think tank experiment which will help develop solutions to the problems facing Boston. The think tank will draw on what the Mayor calls the City's "intellectual capital" by bringing a professional staff and students from area colleges and universities to City Hall to work with the Mayor's Cabinet.

The think tank plan is called the "Menino Project." The Mayor released the details of the Project in a speech June 25 at Northeastern University.

The Mayor said, "This is an idea whose time has come. It is a unique opportunity to bring new energy and ideas to city government. This is especially important in the 1990s because government has never faced so many challenges with so few resources."

The Menino Project will begin in August and will involve research, problem-solving, and constructive criticism. The Project will include:

- Research: the think tank will research the existence of similar programs in other cities to see how they work and what the results have been.
- Seminars: colleges and universities will be invited to send a representative to an exploratory seminar with the Mayor and the Cabinet to discuss expectations of the think tank and to choose specific subjects for study.
- Credit for students: colleges and universities will be asked to place self motivated interns in the program where they can earn credits for their research and work.
- Recommendations from faculty: college and university professors will be invited to examine various topics, define problems and develop solutions.

The Mayor's project will consider various issues for study, including job creation, environmental challenges, health and safety, and historic preservation.

TENTATIVE APPROVAL FOR TEACHERS CONTRACT

Mayor Thomas M. Menino and School Superintendent Lois Harrison-Jones have announced that negotiating teams for the City and the Boston Teachers Union have reached agreement on a contract.

The School Committee was asked to ratify the contract at a meeting on June 22. Members of the Union are scheduled to vote on the proposed agreement during a meeting which will be scheduled within two weeks.

The proposed three-year contract includes:

Course expansions: Full time kindergarten will be phased in. All elementary school students will be offered art, music, and/or foreign language classes.

Greater parental involvement: Teachers will be required to schedule a one-hour period each week to meet with parents. Parent orientation days will be held at the beginning of the school year. ### SKIN CANCER

When the Sun Is No Longer Fun

The sun gives life — but it can also be a deadly force. Exposure to the sun is responsible for more than 90 percent of skin cancers. This year more than 500,000 Americans will develop some form of skin cancer, and between 7,000 and 8,000 will die from it. In fact, one out of every seven Americans will develop the disease during his or her lifetime.

Recent research indicates that both consistent, long-term exposure to the sun and intense periods of exposure can be equally harmful. The good news, however, is that almost every type of skin cancer is preventable.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without advertising, based on the following communications:

HEALTH & HOSPITALS DEPARTMENT

C. 318-93
December 15, 1993.

Radiology Equipment

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and award a contract to Trustees of Health and Hospitals of the City of Boston, Inc., a non-profit charitable corporation established by Chapter 656 of the Acts of 1965, located at 1010 Massachusetts Avenue, Boston. This contract is exempt from the provisions of G.L. c. 30B and is awarded under the authority of the City Charter.

As a result of a public bid, a contract was awarded to Siemens Medical Systems, Inc., on June 25, 1990, for the provision of miscellaneous radiology and ultrasound equipment to the Department of Health and Hospitals in an amount not to exceed $668,000.

The Department of Health and Hospitals ("DHH") had an urgent need to replace the existing radiology equipment despite the fact that insufficient funds had been budgeted for this purchase in FY 1991. Accordingly, on August 14, 1990, Trustees voted to lend DHH sufficient funds to purchase the equipment from the income assets of the J. George Cooper Fund. Trustees further stipulated in its vote that DHH would repay to Trustees the funds borrowed over a term of years with interest calculated at ten percent per annum, the prime interest rate in effect on the date the vote was taken.

I am fully aware that although Trustees permitted DHH to defer repayment of these funds until this time for the convenience of DHH, a contract should have been executed shortly after the vote was taken. Accordingly, I have advised DHH staff to take steps so that a delay of this nature does not recur in other contractual situations.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $865,090.60. This includes payment of the principal of $668,000 plus interest accruing over time amounting to $197,090.60. Payments shall be made in accordance with the attached agreement and payment schedule.

The term of this contract shall be June 30, 1993, through December 31, 1996.

Because the equipment was urgently needed by Boston City Hospital in 1990, and Trustee had already expended the monies necessary to procure this equipment at DHH's request, and because it is to the benefit of DHH to repay the borrowed funds to the J. George Cooper Trust Fund for future use, no benefit would inure to the City by publicly advertising for bids.

This contract encompasses more than one fiscal year and the City's financial obligations are subject to the availability of an appropriation in accordance with the requirements of City of Boston Code, St. 5, ss. 4 and 8.

Sincerely Yours,
Lawrence A. Dwyer,
Commissioner.

C. 319-93

Consulting Services

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request your permission to dispense with public advertising and award a contract to ML Strategies, Inc., a Massachusetts corporation with its principal place of business at One Financial Center, Boston, Massachusetts 02111, for consulting services to enhance the financial viability of Boston City Hospital. This contract is exempt from the provisions of M.G.L. c. 30B and is being awarded under the authority of the City Charter.

Under the contract ML Strategies, Inc., (hereinafter "MLS") will be compensated for providing the City of Boston and its Department of Health and Hospitals with assistance in formulating and undertaking a strategic planning initiative to enhance the financial viability of Boston City Hospital. The specific services provided are described in detail in the attached contract document. These services should enable the City to make timely payments on the debt service on the bonds which it issued to finance the construction of the hospital's new inpatient facility.

MLS is a strategic consulting firm with significant experience and expertise in finance, health care, management, public affairs, and government and regulatory matters. Additionally, this firm is affiliated with the law firm of Mintz, Levin, Cohn, Ferris, Glovsky and Popeo, P.C., (hereinafter "Mintz Levin") which served as bond counsel to the City for the purpose of financing the new hospital. As such, the staff of MLS is familiar with the operating needs of Boston City Hospital and its potential areas of revenue enhancement.

Because MLS is closely related to Mintz Levin, has specialized expertise in hospital finance and has already provided the services in a satisfactory manner to the benefit of the City and this Department, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

The City's former Director of Administrative Services, Thomas Snyder, initially determined to retain MLS to provide the City with the consulting services described above. These services were provided by MLS to the City during fiscal year 1993. Unfortunately, and perhaps attributable to an anticipated change in City administration, no contract was ever executed by the Administrative Services Department during this time. However, as the firm's services were satisfactorily performed, it appears appropriate to award a contract to MLS for the time period July 1, 1992, through June 30, 1993, in the amount of $200,000. I consider this sum to be reasonable as it represents a substantially discounted rate which was negotiated with MLS for services to the City as a public sector client. Records of the meetings held by MLS with the Administrative Services Department and the Department of Health and Hospitals demonstrate the use of a significant amount of MLS staff time devoted to this project during the year in which services were provided and as such support the contract amount. An amount equal to the cost of this contract has been reserved by the Administrative Services Department for this purpose from the Department of Health and Hospitals' fiscal year 1993 budget.

For the reasons stated above I recommend that you approve this contract award.

Sincerely yours,
Lawrence A. Dwyer,
Commissioner.

Anesthesiologists

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request your permission to dispense with public advertising and award a contract to the Trustees of Boston University, acting by the Boston University School of Medicine, a Corporation, located at 80 East Concord Street, Boston, for provision of a professional staff of qualified anesthesiologists. This contract is exempt from the provision of G.L. c. 30B and is awarded under the authority of the City Charter.

Under the terms of the contract, the University shall provide the City with a physician who will be known as the Director of Anesthesiology of the Boston City Hospital and a professional staff of qualified anesthesiologists with appropriate staff privileges to train/supervise residents and medical students and to provide direct clinical service required in the care of hospital patients. The University is uniquely qualified to do this work because it maintains a high quality post-graduate training program for physicians, partakes in medical research and is capable of transmitting medical knowledge that will provide and maintain health care programs for the treatment of the sick and injured of the City of Boston.

Each said qualified physician or other practitioner shall provide such administrative, supervisory and clinical services as his/her position description calls for in such manner as to assure continuous and timely delivery of high quality and cost-effective patient care and compliance with administrative and regulatory requirements. Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $2,207,694, which I have determined to be reasonable for the work to be performed.

The term of this contract shall be July 1, 1993 to June 30, 1994.

Because of the professional nature of the services to be performed, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

This award is being processed late due to protracted discussions within the Medical Affairs Department on the appropriate budgetary allocation for particular medical services. As a result, the original contract request was not received

Medical Tubing

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and award a contract to Baxter Healthcare, Baxter Anesthesia Division, 87 Concord Street, North Reading, MA 01864, for the provision of Antireflux Y and Air Eliminating Spike Sets. This contract is exempt from the provisions of M.G.L. c. 30B and is awarded under the authority of the City Charter.

Under this contract Baxter Anesthesia Division will provide the Department of Health and Hospitals with Antireflux Y sets No. 6466510 at $4.95 each, and Air Eliminating Sets No. 22033000 sets at $17.95 each. These products are the only tubing which will fit the Baxter/Bard Ambulatory PCA pump now being used at Boston City Hospital. This pump is the only pump in the market that is capable of both epidural and IV applications. The Anesthesia Department has begun expansion of the pain control management system throughout the hospital. Presently there are four (4) pumps in house but the volume is expected to increase by an additional twenty-five pumps. The hospital will order, monthly, fifteen (15) Spike Sets and eight (8) Y sets per pump.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $92,665.

The terms of this contract shall be March 1, 1994, through February 28, 1995.

In view of the above, and because the cost, in my opinion is reasonable, no benefit would inure to the City by publicly advertising for bids.

This contract encompasses more than one fiscal year and the City's financial obligations are subject to the availability of an appropriation in accordance with the requirements of City of Boston Code, St. 4, ss. 4 & 8.

Very truly yours,

Chester L. Veal,
Acting Commissioner.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request your permission to dispense with public advertising and award a contract to Pilling Weck, P.O. Box 12600, Weck Drive, Research Triangle Park, NC 27709, for the purchase of Ligating clips (Hemoclips). This contract is exempt from the provisions of M.G.L. c. 30B and is being awarded under the authority of the City Charter.

Under the contract Pilling Weck will provide the Department of Health and Hospitals with various clips to be used with the Hemoclip Appliers currently in use in the Operating Rooms of Boston City Hospital. Appliers are provided to the Department on a loaner basis. With the implementation of the Case Cart System at Boston City Hospital, Pilling Weck has supplied the Facility with thirty new Appliers for their use. Pilling Weck is the only company manufacturing stainless steel clips which are currently being used by the Hospital and also has the only Applier that opens fully for thorough cleaning and sterilization.

the Contract Office until September 29, 1993. All subsequent activities required to complete the contracting process were therefore significantly delayed. I have instructed the Medical Director to take all necessary steps to see that contract requests for medical services during FY 1995 are received by the Contract Office no later than May 20, 1994. This should ensure that future contracts will be executed prior to the start of the contract term.

Physicians

Dear Sir:

Pursuant to the authority delegated to me by the Board of Health and Hospitals, I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and award a contract to Trustees of Boston University, acting by the Boston University School of Medicine, located at 80 East Concord Street, Boston, for provision of qualified physicians. This contract is exempt from the provisions of G.L. c. 30B and is awarded under the authority of the City Charter.

Under this contract the University shall provide qualified physicians to serve in medico-administrative and supervisory staff positions in the divisions of Medicine, Obstetrics-Gynecology, Pediatrics, Surgery, Psychiatry and Emergency Medicine at Boston City Hospital as are listed in addendum A. The University is uniquely qualified to do this work because it maintains a high quality post-graduate training program for physicians, partakes in medical research and is capable of transmitting medical knowledge that will provide and maintain health care programs for the treatment of the sick and injured of the City of Boston.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $14,820,427.

The term of this contract shall be July 1, 1993, through June 30, 1994.

Because of the professional nature of the services to be performed, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

This award is being processed late due to protracted discussions within the Medical Affairs Department on the appropriate budgetary allocation for particular medical services. As a result the original contract request was not received by the Contract Office until October 12, 1993. All subsequent activities required to complete the contracting process were therefore significantly delayed. I have instructed the Medical Director to take all necessary steps to see that contract requests for medical services during FY 1995 are received by the Contract Office no later than May 20, 1994. The term of this contract shall be January 1, 1994, through December 31, 1995.

Dictaphone Corporation is uniquely to do this work because it manufactured the equipment, performed the installation, and has personnel specially trained to service the equipment, at a cost I consider to be reasonable. As such, public advertising would serve on useful purpose.

This contract encompasses more than one fiscal year and the City's financial obligations are subject to the availability of an appropriation in accordance with the requirements of City of Boston Code, St. 4 SS. 4 & 8.

Very truly yours,

The term of this contract shall be January 28, 1994, through June 30, 1994.

The programmer must have a medical background, with extensive knowledge of surgical and anesthesia to provide these services. Mr. Clark meets these criteria and no benefit would inure to the City by publicly advertising for bids.

Very truly yours,

Chester L. Veal,
Acting Commissioner.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $25,500.

In view of the above, and because the cost in my opinion is reasonable, no benefit would inure to the City by publicly advertising for bids.

The contract amount is an approximate figure based on an estimated volume of 300 boxes. Under the terms of the contract, Dr. Richard Toran of the Newton-Wellesley Neurological Inc. will provide neurological examination and review of medical records; serve as expert witness at trial and provide report of examination in the case *Gerald D'Amico v. Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to Attorney Elizabeth O'Donnell for professional legal services to the Law Department's Urban Affairs Bureau in the matter of Outdoor Advertising Board v. the City of Boston. This contract is exempt from the provisions of M.G.L. c. 30B and is awarded under the authority of City Charter.

This provider is especially qualified to perform this service because of her extensive familiarity and prior involvement with this matter.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $7,500. Compensation shall be paid at the rate of $20 per hour, which I have determined to be reasonable for the work to be performed. The period of performance of this contract shall be from January 29, 1994, through February 15th, 1994. This contract is being submitted late because Attorney O'Donnell's services were originally being covered under service order, however, due to the complexity of this case and its extensive longevity, it became apparent that a contract would be required for payment of services.

Because of the professional nature of the work to be performed, the reasonable cost, and Ms. O'Donnell's relevant legal experience, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Sincerely,

EVERY WEEK RECYCLING PICK-UP

Starting July 1st, recycling collection is EVERY WEEK.

EXPANDED RECYCLING PROGRAM

The new recycling program lets you include MAGAZINES, CARDBOARD and BROWN PAPER BAGS. So, now you can put out almost twice as much.

IT'S JUST AS EASY AS EVER

Here's how: save your newspapers, brown bags, corrugated "waffled" cardboard (no cereal or tissue boxes) and magazines in a brown paper bag or tied up with twine. Then put it out, on garbage day, next to your trash, by 7:00am.

Exceptions: If your area has 2 trash pick-up days, you should recycle on the first day, if you have three garbage days, recycle on the middle pick-up day.

MAYOR MENINO ANNOUNCES NEW COMMISSION ON HEALTH CARE

Mayor Thomas M. Menino, on June 6, announced the creation of a new Commission on the future of health care in the City of Boston.

Headed by Patricia McGovern, former Chair of the Massachusetts Senate's Ways and Means Committee, the 9-member Commission will follow up on the recommendations of the earlier health care committee chaired by Attorney James Segel to insure that the organization of the City's health care delivery system is able to cope effectively and efficiently with current and future changes in the health care industry.

Its specific mission and scope of work are as follows:

- (1) Work to create a model for a new and streamlined organization for the Department of Health and Hospitals;
- (2) Review Boston's health care delivery systems and make recommendations to the Mayor to create a closer affiliation or consolidation of services between the Department of Health and Hospitals and the Boston University Medical Center Hospital;
- (3) Monitor and assist in the implementation of approved recommendations in a timely fashion;
- (4) Make recommendations to the Mayor which would consolidate and make more efficient the management of both health care institutions;
- (5) Advise the Mayor on the future financial relationship between the City of Boston, the Department of Health and Mayor Menino named a new Boston Health Care Commission to implement the merger of Boston City Hospital and Boston University Medical Center Hospital. Pictured are the commission's chair, former Senator Patricia McGovern and Boston's Health Chief Larry Dwyer. Other commission members include: Elaine Ullian, President of BUMCH; Robert Ciolek, Chief Operating Officer for the City of Boston; John Cradock, Director of the East Boston Neighborhood Health Center; Dr. Rev. Roy Hammond, Pastor of Bethel AME Church; Jeanne Blake, author and former medical reporter for WBZ TV; Celia Wcislo, Executive Director of Local 285, SEIU; and Dr. Judy Ann Bigby, Assistant Professor of Medicine at Harvard Medical School.

Hospitals and Boston University Medical Center Hospital;

- (6) Draft any local or state legislation necessary to accomplish the recommendations accepted by the Mayor;

In addition to Patricia McGovern, the eight other members of the Commission are:

Robert Ciolek, Chief Operating Officer of the City of Boston;

Lawrence Dwyer, Commissioner of the Department of Health and Hospitals;

Elaine Ullian, Chief Executive Officer of Boston University Medical Center Hospital;

John Cradock, Director of the East Boston Neighborhood Health Center;

Dr. Rev. Roy Hammond, Pastor of the Bethel A.M.E. Church;

Jeanne Blake, former medical reporter for WBZ-TV, author and businesswoman;

Celia Wcislo, Executive Director of Local 285, Service Employees International Union (SEIU); and, Dr. Judy Ann Bigby, Assistant Professor of Medicine at Harvard Medical School.

It is expected that one of the first items of business for the group is to appoint a "Technical Implementation Committee," to be jointly headed by two senior professionals, one from the Boston University Medical Center Hospital with a co-chair from the City's Department of Health and Hospitals.

The Committee will have its first meeting within a week and is expected to be in existence for approximately one to two years.

MAKING BOSTON THE BEST CITY IN AMERICA

Statement of Thomas Menino, Mayor of Boston

When elected Mayor of Boston last November, I took on the challenge to make significant progress in the areas of economic growth, neighborhood stability, public safety, education, and government reorganization. Success in any one of these areas depends on success in all of them.

It was clear to me that to succeed in the host of areas where I was challenged, I first had to outfit Boston's government for the task. I have restructured Boston's government so that its focus is where it belongs — on the services it provides and the functions it serves.

I have created a strong form of Cabinet government — with each Cabinet position representing one of the primary functions of city government. My Cabinet consists of the following officers:

- Chief Operating Officer Robert Ciolek;
- Chief Economic Development Officer Marisa Lago;

- Chief Financial Officer John Simmons;

- Chiefs of Public Safety, Police Commissioner Paul Evans and Fire Commissioner Martin Pierce, Jr.;

- Chief of Basic City Services;

- Director of Education and Training, Schools Superintendent Lois Harrison-Jones;

- Chief of Health and Human Services Ann Maguire; and

- Chief of Staff Alyce Lee.

This strong, new Cabinet form of government allows us to introduce into the public sector the modern management practices now used by virtually every successful business. By restructuring city government around its many functions, we realize a number of benefits.

- The Cabinet allows us to coordinate departments;

- It improves communication and coordination;

- It saves money; and

- It increases responsiveness and accountability within City Hall.

This Cabinet structure establishes a clear line of responsibility, forces Cabinet officers to communicate and coordinate with each other, and — most important — reduces the city's departments to the functions they serve.

My intent in all of this is simple — to deliver quality, efficient, affordable services to the neighborhoods and businesses of Boston.

The position of Chief Economic Development Officer is particularly unique. Of all the areas where government has traditionally recognized its inherent interests, the area of economic growth and development has been the most neglected.

For years, City government has acted as an opponent of business rather than an ally. City government has acted as a gatekeeper to slow business down, rather than as a responsible partner to find ways to help business grow. No more!

Marisa Lago, my Chief Economic Development Officer, or CEDO, is an advocate for business and an advocate for Boston. All of the city's economic planning and development functions fall under her jurisdiction. She will use that authority to make Boston the best city in America in which to do business.

Having a Chief Economic Development Office in place enables us to end the confusion and lack of coordination that has surrounded the planning and development process in Boston. Lago's office is designed to reflect its four main functions — planning, development, housing, and marketing.

First, we are re-establishing the Boston Redevelopment Authority's role as the city's chief economic planning agency. Over the years, the BRA has become bogged down in side issues, and its primary focus has been lost.

In terms of its development functions, the office of the CEDO has two separate areas of responsibility — economic development in the downtown and economic development in the neighborhoods.

Downtown and neighborhood development remain separate responsibilities for one simple reason — downtown and neighborhood interests do not always agree. Just as busiesses deserve a process that is fair and predictable, so too do neighborhood residents deserve a process that is responsive to their needs and concerns.

The third main function of our Economic Development Office is to consolidate and coordinate all of the city's housing programs. From building new homes to constructing whole new developments to refurbishing existing housing stock — housing is big business.

The fourth and final function of the Economic Development Office is to market Boston aggressively. Larisa Lago will do more than manage the Boston economy — she will be a salesperson for Boston to let the rest of the country know why Boston is a great place to do business.

- We produce one of the best-educated work forces in the entire country;

- Our economy is diverse — from financial services and hi-tech to health care and medical research; and

- Boston city government supports business by investing heavily in its infrastructure.

But even with these impressive assets, we have been formulating short- and long-range plans to deal with the new economic realities of the Boston economy.

We are proceeding on two fronts. First, we are tearing down the barriers to economic growth. And second, we are laying the foundation for new jobs and economic growth.

One of the first barriers we are tearing down is Boston's costly and burdensome planning process. We are working not only to cut in half the time it takes to get the necessary city approvals to start a major business venture but also to create a planning process that is predictable, streamlined, and efficient.

In order to lay the foundation for new jobs and economic growth, we are moving forward aggressively on a number of economic fronts — all of which are aimed at maximizing Boston's economic potential.

- First, we are continuing to attract new business to Boston in emerging industries like hi-tech and biotech.

- We are moving forward with plans to develop Boston's seaport district for a variety of uses — from commercial to recreational — for residents and visitors alike.

- We are working to revitalize the downtown and other business districts.

- We are maximizing jobs growth in Boston's neighborhoods.

From the beginning, my administration had been charting a new course for economic revival and jobs growth. We are committed to finding new ways to reach out to businesses — to help them grow and succeed so that Boston can continue to grow and succeed.

FILM

HONG KONG FESTIVAL 1994

This 12-program series began July 8 and continues through August 13.

Friday, August 5, at 6:00 pm:

Saturday, August 6, at 1:00 pm:

Super Cop: Police Story III by Stanley Tong, with Jackie Chan, Michelle Khan, and Maggie Cheung (1992, 96 minutes). Chan is a Hong Kong detective on an undercover mission to learn where a gang is hoarding illegal cash. He is set up as a criminal in a prison alongside Panther, the gang's jailed leader.

Friday, August 5, at 8:00 pm:

Saturday, August 6, at 3:00 pm:

Once a Cop by Stanley Tong, with Michelle Khan (1993, 106 minutes). This semi-sequel to Super Cop, is guaranteed to get your blood pumping. The dazzling Michelle Khan as a hard-kicking police-woman from the PRC dominates with her fierce and focused presence. This tightly structured thriller follows the cops' efforts to head off an elaborate and inventive heist.

Friday, August 12, at 5:30 pm:

Saturday, August 13, at 12:30 pm:

The Bride with White Hair by Ronnie Yu, with Leslie Cheung and Brigitte Lin (1993, 100 minutes). In one of the most talked-about Hong Kong films of the past year, an ancient Chinese love story becomes the basis for a colorful martial arts fantasy.

Friday, August 12, at 7:30 pm:

Saturday, August 13, at 2:30 pm:

Bullet in the Head by John Woo, with Tony Leung and Jacky Cheung (1990, 136 minutes). This is the full-length director's cut. At once exuberant and pessimistic, Bullet is the draining story of three rumbling teenage thugs who flee Hong Kong for the supposedly greener pastures of war-ravaged Vietnam in 1967. Made as a response to Tianen-man Square, this is Woo's personal favorite.

GAY YOUTH

This two-program series explores what it is like to add being ostracized to the usual complications of growing up in the 90s.

Thursday, August 11, at 6:00 pm:

Sunday, August 14, at 3:00 pm:

OUT: The Story of Gay and Lesbian Youth by Mark Adkin (Canada, 1993, 85 minutes). Sunday, August 14, at 1:00 pm:

Thursday, August 18, at 6:00 pm:

Queer Son by Vickie Seitchik (videotape, 1994, 49 minutes), preceded by Homoteens by Joan Jubela (videotape, 1993, 56 minutes). In Homoteens, video producer and editor Joan Jubela worked with several engaging gay and lesbian teens on a series of vignettes which tell their stories in their own words.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without advertising, based on the following communications:

POLICE DEPARTMENT

C. 1158-94
February 18, 1994.

Marked Sedans

Dear Mayor Menino:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and to award an emergency contract in accordance with the provisions of M.G.L. c. 30B, s. 8, to Ford Motor Credit Company, Commercial Lending, PO Box 739, The American Road, Dearborn, Michigan, 48126.

Under the terms of this emergency contract, Ford Motor Credit Company will finance the purchase, over a three (3) year period, of eighty (80) new 1993 marked Ford Crown Victoria sedans equipped with public safety interior equipment, according to Police Department specifications, at an annual rate of 4.85 percent. The total amount to be financed, including interest of $71,345.68, $1,566,545.68. The vehicles will be purchased from Natick Auto Sales A.M.I., 235 Boston Post Road, Marlboro, MA 01752.

Under General Laws Chapter 7, section 22B, two or more political subdivisions may join together for the purpose of obtaining and accepting competitive bids on similar items of materials, supplies, equipment or services which they intend to purchase. Pursuant to this law, the City of Newton, on behalf of the Greater Boston Police Council (GBPC), of which the City of Boston is a member, publicly advertised for bids to provide public service vehicles and equipment (CC: 070- ) to the member cities and towns, and Natick Auto Sales A.M.I. was the successful bidder. According to the terms of that agreement, the cost of the purchase of the above described vehicles (inclusive of financing) shall be $1,495,200.

As funding for these 1993 vehicles was only made available to the Police Department in early December, and in view of the fact that there is insufficient time available to publicly advertise lease/purchase financing, the department must initiate this emergency procurement request.

The age of our marked vehicles has had a significant impact upon public safety. Currently, 30 percent of our fleet's marked sedans are over six years old and those vehicles, on the average, have logged over 22,000 operating hours. The cost to repair these older vehicles is not only excessive but unacceptably expensive. The expense to make repairs to vehicles which should no longer be in operation not only is exhausting our maintenance budget, but the condition of these vehicles poses a legitimate safety concern for the officers who must operate them. Further, to exacerbate these circumstances, the age of these vehicles has, over the last four (4) months, doubled the amount of breakdowns occurring during 911 responses. This rate of increase is alarming and cannot be allowed to continue.

In keeping with the Department's routine and prudent maintenance policy and in the interest of the safety of our officers and the public generally, the department has been forced to remove over 25 vehicles from service, thereby creating a shortage of vehicles for out Area patrols. This shortage has and will continue to increase each week as more of the older vehicles are deemed "not repairable". The shortage has also forced the Fleet Management Division to adapt a new philosophy of a breakdown repair operation as opposed to a preventative maintenance operation, which is an unsafe manner to operate a public safety fleet. This is partly due to the increase in volume of breakdown repairs which automatically reduces our level of preventative maintenance due to the time constraints placed upon our repair staff and the lack of rotation cars in the districts.

All circumstances considered, I view the immediate purchase and financing of these vehicles as an emergency. The failure to obtain these vehicles expeditiously will place a severe handicap on the manner in which the Police Department can deliver public safety services to the citizens of Boston. Further, I have determined in consultation with the City's Office of Budget and Program Evaluation that the annual interest rate of 4.85 percent offered by the Ford Motor Credit Company is a reasonable rate which is lower than the rate currently paid by the City with respect to the existing capital equipment acquisition program financed by the issuance of Certificates of Participation (COPs).

Compensation under this emergency contract shall be $522,182.15 per year for Years 1 and 2 and $522,181.38 for Year 3 of this agreement, payable annually in advance for three (3) fiscal years for a total amount not to exceed $1,566,545.38 subject to the availability of an appropriation each fiscal year. The term of this agreement shall be March 15, 1994, through June 30, 1996. I have determined that this emergency award is both urgent and necessary in order to deliver public safety services to the citizens of Boston. Given this determination, I respectfully submit this award for your approval.

Respectfully,

Paul F. Evans,
Police Commissioner.

C. 1161-94
March 30, 1994.

Expert Witness

Dear Mayor Menino:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to LaCapra Associates, located at 64 Broad Street, Boston, MA 02109, to provide expert witness testimony and preparation of exhibits to be used in litigation. This contract is exempt from the provisions of M.G.L. chapter 30B and is awarded under the authority of the Boston City Charter.

Under the terms of the contract, LaCapra Associates will develop monitoring and evaluation procedures pursuant to the conditional settlement and any subsequent arbitration of Denise Karuth et al. v. the Mayor of the City of Boston et al. (Suffolk Superior Court Civil Action No. 91-0697B); rank, evaluate and interview applicants for multiple medallion companies pursuant to the Commissioner's Special Order; provide technical background assistance and testimony as required by Boston Neighborhood Taxi Association v. Department of Public Utilities et al. (DPU 88-203); and prepare a demand study for the utilization of cab service for both general neighborhood and transportation challenged ridership. This contractor is unequally qualified to do this work because it has appeared on behalf of the Commissioner in DPU 88-203 and is a recognized expert in regulatory economics.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $24,000, which I have determined to be reasonable for the work to be performed.

The term of this contract shall be July 1, 1993, to June 30, 1994. The hourly rate for this contract shall be $95 per hour for principals of the firm and $75 per hour for staff. The amount of this contract shall not exceed $24,000.

Because of the professional nature of the services to be performed, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose. This contract is processed late because the budgetary allocation needed to support this contract could not be determined until this time and for the reason that the prospect of litigation in this matter has not allowed a definite scope of services to be determined until now.

Respectfully,

Paul F. Evans,
Police Commissioner.

C. 1162-94
March 11, 1994.

Training

Dear Mayor Menino:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to Anacapa Sciences, Inc., a corporation, located at 901 Olive Street, Santa Barbara, California, 93102. Anacapa will conduct an on-site job training course entitled Criminal Intelligence Analysis to sworn members of The Boston Police Department. This contract is exempt from the provisions of M.G.L. c. 30B and is awarded under the authority of the Boston City Charter.

Under the terms of the contract, Anacapa Sciences, Inc. will conduct an intelligence training course for seven (7) sworn department members at the Boston Police Academy. The methods and techniques presented in this course provide sound investigative strategies and practices including intelligence gathering, data evaluation, assessment of inferences and analytical charting of intelligence.

Please be aware that currently the Boston Police Department's entire intelligence gathering system is based on the Anacapa Method of Analysis and that Anacapa Sciences, Inc. is the sole provider of this training. Anacapa Sciences, Inc. is an internationally recognized authority within the law enforcement community. Their system of intelligence analysis is used by the Federal Bureau of Investigation, Drug Enforcement Administration and Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco and Firearms. Due to our close collaboration with these agencies, it is imperative that Boston Police Department maintain the same investigative reporting methods and techniques.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $4,795, at the rate of $685 per person, which I have determined reasonable for the work to be performed. The term of this contract shall be May 9, 1994, through May 20, 1994. This funding shall be charged against appropriation 011 211 0211 PD04 0290 with an initial encumbrance of $4,795.

Given the fact that Anacapa Sciences, Inc. is the sole purveyor of this vital training, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Respectfully,

Paul F. Evans,
Police Commissioner.

CONTRACTS AMENDED

ASSESSING DEPARTMENT

C. 1213-94
April 29, 1994

Legal Services

Dear Mr. Mayor:

On August 30, 1993, Your Honor approved the award of a contract, without public advertising for bids, to Gilman McLaughlin & Hanrahan, a partnership located at 470 Atlantic Avenue, Boston, MA 02110, for legal services representing the City of Boston and its Assessing Department in proceedings at the Appellate Tax Board and in the Courts of the Commonwealth relating to matters of taxation and tax abatement litigation, during the period of July 1, 1993, to June 30, 1994, at a cost not to exceed $30,000. This contract was amended on February 10, 1994, for an additional $10,000 for a total amount not to exceed $40,000. This contract is exempt from the provisions of G.L. chapter 30B because it is a contract for legal services and is therefore being awarded pursuant to the City Chapter.

Your approval is requested to amend this contract further to provide for additional services which were not anticipated in the terms of the original contract. There is a substantial likelihood that the case of Northwest Airlines vs. City of Boston will be appealed. The cost of a post trial brief and the preparation and argument of appeals could require an additional 100 hours of legal time. The cost of this amendment shall not exceed $25,000 which I have determined to be reasonable. The total cost of this contract as amended shall not exceed $65,000. The period of this contract shall not be changed.

Because of the professional nature of the services to be performed and the desirability of maintaining current counsel familiar with this litigation, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Very truly yours,
Ronald W. Rakow,
Commissioner.

FIRE DEPARTMENT

C. 1716-94
April 26, 1994

Labor Relations

Dear Mr. Mayor:

On July 28, 1993, Your Honor approved an award of a contract to James B. Cox, Esquire from the firm of Mahoney, Hawkes and Goldings, 75 Park Plaza, Boston, MA 02116. This contract was for services required to represent the Boston Fire Department in various labor relations matters as referred to him by the Office of the Fire Commissioner/Chief of the Boston Fire Department during the period commencing July 1, 1993, and ending June 30, 1994; the total cost was not to exceed $40,000.

At this time, your approval is requested to amend this contract by increasing the total amount by an additional $15,000, which I have determined to be reasonable. The contract, as amended, shall not exceed $55,000.

The period of performance shall remain the same.

This amendment is necessary because it is now apparent that the original contracted amount is insufficient to meet the cost of services that will be rendered in FY94.

Because of the professional nature of the services to be performed, and the reasonable cost of the services to be provided, it is my opinion that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Sincerely,
Martin E. Pierce, Jr.,
Commissioner/Chief.

Design Services

Dear Mr. Mayor:

On January 14, 1994, Your Honor approved the award of a consultant contract to Robert G. Neiley, Architect, 286 Congress Street, Boston, MA 02210, for Design Services for Maintenance/Office Building, Pier 4, Charlestown Navy Yard, during the period of January 3, 1994, to June 30, 1994, at a cost not to exceed $9,900.

Your approval is requested to amend this contract in consideration of additional supplementary services necessary to provide structural design and further evaluation to the roof, walls and existing steel members as necessary to be included in a new workshop proposed for the Courageous Sailing Center. The Sailing Staff requested this area be incorporated as part of the existing building and to be used as a working area for the boat repairs. A new design and calculations had to be included into the contract to alleviate any potential structural failure. Robert G. Neiley, Architect, is qualified to engage the services of a Structural Engineer to design the structural scheme for the building.

The cost for this Amendment shall not exceed $4,000, which I have deemed to be reasonable. The total cost of the contract, as amended shall not exceed $13,900. The period of this contract shall be extended from June 30, 1994, to September 30, 1994.

Because of the professional nature of the services, I request your permission to dispense with advertising in the City Record as required by City of Boston Code St. 4, Sec. 5.

Sincerely,
Patrick S. Harrington,
Commissioner.

BHA NEW TENANT SCREENING PROCEDURES

Statement of Mayor Thomas M. Menino, June 22, 1994.

People — regardless of race, age, class, or even ZIP Code — have a right to live without fear. In order for that right to be preserved for all, it is essential that all people abide by the same rules of conduct and decency.

The revised screening procedures we are proposing today for all Boston Housing Authority developments put into writing the very simple and basic rules and responsibilities that the vast majority of public housing residents already live by. In short, they will help to ensure that any person who wishes to live in a Boston public housing development will obey the law, respect the neighbors, and pay the rent — again, rules and responsibilities that the vast majority of residents already live by.

Among the new features of the proposed screening process for first-time tenants, home visits will be reinstated whenever necessary to ensure that individuals who wish to live in Boston public housing will act as responsible tenants and good neighbors.

Aggressive credit checks and extensive personal interviews will also be conducted so that new tenants understand their responsibilities and are capable of living up to them.

We are also proposing new screening procedures for residents who wish to transfer from one development to another. As with new resident applicants, we want to tighten the screening process so that chronic problem tenants are not merely shuffled from one place to another.

For the first time ever, neighbors of the residents applying for transfer will be contacted to determine their conduct as neighbors. B.H.A. managers and area directors will also be required to review the residents' record and sign off on all applications before any transfer is made. Finally, the Boston Housing Authority will continue to remove residents who repeatedly violate the terms of their lease and the law.

The proposed screening procedures are good news for the overwhelming number of B.H.A. residents who respect their homes and communities and who rightfully expect their neighbors to do the same. But this proposal is just one part of a comprehensive effort by my administration to strengthen and stabilize our public housing developments.

In addition to the proposed screening procedures, my administration is bringing greater economic diversity to public housing in Boston by reserving 50 percent of all new tenant slots for working families. We are also bringing greater safety and security to public housing by coordinating the city's various police agencies so that there is increased police visibility in all B.H.A. developments.

In the end, all of this will not only help to create safer and more stable public housing for residents and families, but it will make the surrounding communities safer as well. As mayor and as a lifelong resident of Boston, I look forward to the day when our public housing developments are not islands unto themselves, but an integral part of the larger community.

PUBLIC HOUSING TENANTS TO BE BETTER SCREENED

Tenants who live in public housing in Boston will be better screened for admission under new guidelines announced by Mayor Thomas M. Menino.

The new guidelines are subject to approval by the federal government. They include:

- More specific definitions of who is eligible for public housing in the City.
- Stiffer rules in terms of who is financially qualified for public housing.
- An option for a home visit if the Boston Housing Authority finds discrepancies in information provided by prospective tenants.

The revised stricter standards are designed to dispel the notion that the Boston Housing Authority's communities are to be used as housing of last resort.

Mayor Menino says the recommendations will improve the quality of life for all public housing residents: "These guidelines put into writing the very simple and basic rules and responsibilities that the vast majority of public housing residents already live by. In short, they will help to ensure that any person who wishes to live in a Boston Public Housing Development will obey the law, respect their neighbors, and pay the rent."

B.H.A. New Tenant Screening . . .

In conclusion, it should be noted that although the proposed screening procedures will make a positive difference, there are still loopholes that need to be closed, and my administration is already taking steps to close them.

First, I have directed the B.H.A. to draft state legislation that would give public housing authorities limited access to the criminal records of non-adult members of families applying for public housing. I have also directed the B.H.A. to work closely with the Juvenile Courts and the Criminal History Systems Board to ensure that the legislation does not violate any individual's right to privacy.

Second, I have directed the Boston Housing Authority to immediately draft federal legislation which would permit criminal background checks on residents seeking to transfer from one B.H.A. apartment to another.

Again, the vast majority of residents and young people are responsible and law abiding. But we can not allow a very small number of lawless tenants to terrorize residents and diminish the quality of life for all the good people who make public housing their homes.

In closing, I want to thank David Cortiella, Marisa Lago, and all of the folks who have worked so hard on this. But most important of all, I want to thank the residents of Boston's public housing developments — some of whom are here today.

These individuals represent the overwhelming majority of public housing residents — caring, committed, and willing to stand up for their families and neighbors. As mayor, I am grateful for their hard work and support, and I will continue to work alongside them to improve the safety and quality of public housing in Boston.

PUBLIC HOUSING . . .

ing is not a simple entitlement. They mean that all applicants must demonstrate personal responsibility if they wish to live in housing provided by the government.”

The guidelines will be the subject of a thirty-day comment period. After that time the draft recommendations will be submitted to HUD for federal approval. Among the proposals:

- Home visits will be reinstated. They were suspended several years ago because of budget cutbacks.
- Aggressive credit checks and extensive personal interviews will be conducted. No applicant will be accepted if the applicant shows a record of failing to meet previous financial obligations such as rent, utilities, or credit card payments.
- Stricter screening will be implemented for public housing tenants who wish to transfer from one development to another. For the first time ever, neighbors of the tenants will be contacted as references and BHA managers and area directors will be asked for recommendations.
- Criminal background checks will be more extensive. The Menino Administration will be filing legislation with the state to allow public housing officials to get access to the criminal records of non-adults who are members of an applicant's family. In addition, the BHA will ask HUD for permission to conduct criminal background checks on tenants wishing to transfer within the BHA.

In announcing these proposed guidelines, Mayor Menino stressed that most tenants are responsible and law abiding. “It is for the protection of the majority of public housing tenants that we seek approval of these stricter screening procedures. We cannot allow a very small number of lawless tenants or teens to terrorize residents and diminish the quality of life for all the good people who make public housing their homes. People, regardless of race, age, class, or even zip code, have a right to live without fear. In order for that right to be preserved for all, it is essential that all people abide by the same rules of conduct and decency.”

CITY OF BOSTON RELEASES MINORITY AND WOMEN BUSINESS STUDY

The City of Boston recently released the findings of an independent study of the utilization of minority and women owned business enterprises (M/WBE) in the metropolitan Boston area. The Disparity Study was conducted by National Economic Research Associates in response to the 1989 City of Richmond v. J. A. Croson U.S. Supreme Court decision. In that decision, the Supreme Court stated that nonfederal government entities must demonstrate an identifiable pattern of discrimination against minority and women owned businesses to justify having a race or gender based remedial program to address the underutilization of M/WBEs.

The Disparity Study confirms that there is evidence of past underutilization of minority and women owned businesses in the Boston area which is attributable to race and gender discrimination. Although the study concludes that an M/WBE program such as the City's is justified, modifications to the current program to reduce the risk of a successful constitutional challenge are recommended for consideration.

Mayor Menino has asked the City's Corporation Counsel to review the study to determine what changes are needed to the City's M/WBE ordinance and policies. Mayor Menino will also be making appointments to, and directing, the Minority and Women Business Enterprise Advisory Board to review the report and make recommendations on how the M/WBE program can better assist minority and women businesses. He has asked Attorney Joseph Feaster, President of Feaster Enterprises, to chair the Advisory Board.

Mayor Menino said, "I have been a strong supporter of the M/WBE program since its creation in 1987. I am fully aware of how important minority and women businesses are to the City of Boston in providing job opportunities and neighborhood stabilization. I am wholeheartedly committed to helping minority and women businesses grow and prosper in Boston and that will be one of the key goals of the M/WBE program in my Administration."

Mayor Menino has directed Brooke Woodson, the new Director of the Minority and Women Business Enterprise Office, to pursue the following actions to strengthen the City's M/WBE program:

- Expanding the M/WBE program by offering technical assistance to existing and newly forming M/WBEs;
- Creating a Boston Residents, Minority and Women Contract Compliance Taskforce, comprised of officers from the City's major construction and procurement agencies, to find ways to improve the City's contract monitoring and certification activities and to enhance the training of procurement personnel;
- Naming a liaison between the M/WBE office and the Office of Business Services to help minority and women businesses get started, stay and prosper in Boston;

- Conducting a study of how other major American cities are addressing problems resulting from the Croson decision and subsequent disparity studies;
- Obtaining signed letters from City Department heads stating their commitment to meeting the goals of the M/WBE program.

M/WBE Director Brooke Woodson said, "It was very important that Mayor Menino took the initiative to commission the Disparity Study. The study is a necessary tool to help make the City's M/WBE program strong and legally defensible. Our objective now is to work with the minority and women business communities, City departments and the City Council to find ways to maximize the participation of Boston based companies and minority and women entrepreneurs in the City's contracting arena in light of recent court decisions."

In other M/WBE developments, Mayor Menino recently introduced an amendment to the City Council, which was passed unanimously, to extend the expiration date of the M/WBE ordinance. He also announced that a Roxbury-based, minority-owned firm, Sherman Disposal, Inc., was the low bidder and was, therefore, awarded a three-year Public Works Department contract of over 3 million dollars for disposal and hauling services. The company, Sherman Disposal, Inc., received technical assistance from the City to enhance its ability to compete in the marketplace.

*Gore, Menino Honor

Vice President Albert Gore and Boston Mayor Thomas Menino recognized the winners of the fifth annual Boston Management Consortium "City Excellence Awards" at a ceremony on June 7.

The Boston Management Consortium, a model public-private partnership between over 110 member organizations from the business community and academia and Boston city government, provides the best of Boston's problem solvers, trainers, and strategists to help City government work more efficiently towards solutions to key urban issues.

The City Excellence Awards are given to teams who have improved and enhanced City services by creatively applying learning to their work. Over 200 people, ages 5 to 70, were among the finalists for the five awards sponsored by Fidelity Investments, IDS/American Express, Jordan Marsh, Liberty Mutual Insurance Group, and NYNEX.

"These awards reflect the goals of my administration. By demonstrating the best practices of customer service and teamwork, these teams are positively impacting the quality of life in Boston. I am very proud of all the winners and finalists," says Mayor Thomas Menino.

The 1994 winners are:

Mason Elementary School Based Management
IDS Financial Services/American Express
"Service to Youth Award"

Youth Service Officer Program,
Boston Police Department
Fidelity Investments
"Follow Through Award"

Community Service Program,
Boston Police Department,
Area C-11
NYNEX "Managing for Safer Neighborhoods Award"

Telephone Reference Department,
Boston Public Library
Liberty Mutual Insurance Group
"Customer Service Award"

Risk Management Council
Jordan Marsh "Teamwork Award"

The winning teams' work cut across complex themes of education, youth violence prevention, customer-focused library services, crime prevention, risk reduction, and cost efficiencies.

According to Bill Nigreen, Vice President of Quality Development, Fidelity Investments, and President of the Boston Management Consortium, "The business leaders who selected the City Excellence Award winners agree that any company would be proud of these teams' accomplishments. Bostonians should be proud of these City employees who are striving for and achieving excellence in City government and a model public-private partnership that works."

vestment's Follow Through Award for effectively expanding a simple drug education program, through seven years of innovation, into an entire philosophy and methodology for the ways that police can work with youth. The result provides positive alternatives to violence, gangs, and drugs, and casts police in a positive light as role models. "Follow Through" refers to learning that occurs when a manager or group acquires a new skill or technique, applies it to their work, and continually returns to learning situations to reinforce the learning and improve the work process.

SERVICE TO YOUTH AWARD: MASON ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

The winner of this year's IDS Financial Services/American Express Service to Youth Award goes to the Mason Elementary School Based Management Program at the Mason Elementary School demonstrates how a collaboration of parents, teachers, administrators, community businesses, and John Hancock as the school's business partner, used shared decision-making and the latest management change techniques to turn one of the least chosen schools in the City into one that has a waiting list at almost every grade level. Under the leadership of school principal Mary Russo, the Mason School proved that inner city public schools can produce involved, insightful and inspired pupils.

The Mason's impressive achievements — including improved school performance by all students, a five-day-a-week after-school program, and the successful integration of special needs and regular education students in the classroom — have led to glowing testimonials from parents like Marilee Driscoll, who had considered leaving the City for suburban school systems. Says Driscoll, a resident of the Charlestown Navy Yard, "We were bowled over by the Mason School — especially by Mrs. Russo, her administrative support staff, and the teachers, who all have a real commitment to excellence." The accomplishments of the Mason School Based Management Program make it a model for the future of the Boston public schools

FOLLOW THROUGH AWARD: YOUTH SERVICE PROGRAM, BOSTON POLICE DEPARTMENT

The Youth Service Officer Program, Boston Police Department was presented with this year's Fidelity In-

vestment's Follow Through Award for effectively expanding a simple drug education program, through seven years of innovation, into an entire philosophy and methodology for the ways that police can work with youth. The result provides positive alternatives to violence, gangs, and drugs, and casts police in a positive light as role models. "Follow Through" refers to learning that occurs when a manager or group acquires a new skill or technique, applies it to their work, and continually returns to learning situations to reinforce the learning and improve the work process.

Currently there is a Youth Service Officer working in every district of Boston, interfacing with community organizations, and most importantly establishing relationships with youth, both in the classroom and on the street. The program is considered one of the most innovative in the country, and is being used as a model in other cities. Says New York City Police Commissioner Bill Bratton, who recently requested the YSO training materials. "This program is of national significance. By reaching out to youth in different ways for 7 or 8 years, these police officers have created a model that really works, and that's why I want to replicate it in New York."

MANAGING FOR SAFER NEIGHBORHOODS: COMMUNITY SERVICE PROGRAM, BOSTON POLICE DEPARTMENT, AREA C-11

The Community Service Program at Area C-11 in Dorchester is this year's NYNEX Managing for Safer Neighborhoods Award winner. An ever evolving program to address a wide variety of issues affecting the quality of life for the residents of Dorchester, the Community Service Program has been partnering with the community to develop initiatives ranging from neighborhood crime watch groups to weekly community news reports to graffiti abatement programs.

The key to success for the Community Service Program has been open, honest communication with the community combined with a proactive approach to crime prevention. The success of this program has served as a model for the development of Boston's Neighborhood Policing Plan and C-11 now shares their learning with other uniformed officers in an introductory course on neighborhood policing at the Boston Police Academy.

CUSTOMER SERVICE AWARD: TELEPHONE
REFERENCE DEPARTMENT,
BOSTON PUBLIC LIBRARY

This year's winner of the Liberty Mutual Insurance Group Customer Service Award is the Telephone Reference Department within the Boston Public Library. Overcoming problems with service that was not an easy task. Faced with a growing number of hang-ups from multiple transfers and people being placed on-hold, the Boston Public Library decided to readdress their concerns for achieving total customer satisfaction by forming the Telephone Reference Department. Extensive training on customer service and improving referencing skills enabled the newly formed Telephone Reference Department to handle a 150% increase in inquiries and reduce the rate of hang-ups from transfer by 20% alone.

"Since the information of the Telephone Reference Department, the process for calling the Boston Public Library has been made 99.5% easier," says Sally Beecher, head of the department.

TEAM WORK AWARD: RISK MANAGEMENT COUNCIL

Proving that previously competing interests within City government can work together, this year's winner of the highly competitive Jordan Marsh Teamwork Award is the Risk Management Council in City Hall. Beating out thirty other teams, a task force composed of the City's risk managers from Health Insurance, Workers' Compensation, Retirement Board, Personnel, Labor Relations, and Law, formed the Risk Management Council to create a "can do" attitude in employees and to ensure that risks can be minimized.

The shared sense of identity and purpose that evolved within the Risk Management Council has translated into reduced costs and inefficiencies within the City, including savings of $6.9 million in FY'93 alone. By crossing departmental "boundaries" to address common concerns and develop workable solutions, the Council has made a momentous leap forward to manage risks in an innovative and highly effective manner.

48 MORE NEIGHBORHOOD POLICE RECRUITS TO BE SWORN

Mayor Thomas M. Menino and Boston Police Commissioner Paul F. Evans, in their continuing effort to embrace the Neighborhood Policing philosophy, while at the same time augment the human resources of the police department, swore in 48 more recruits.

The 48 recruits were sworn in on Thursday, July 7, 1994, at an 11:00 a.m. ceremony in Roxbury, opposite 2201 Washington Street.

In keeping with the goal of having the Police Department reflect the ethnicity of the city, the diversity of the recruit class is in keeping with this agenda. There are 31 males; 1 Hispanic, 4 Asian, 8 Afro-American and 18 Caucasian; 17 females; 2 Hispanic, 7 Afro-American and 8 Caucasian. The average age is 30 years of age with the youngest 23 and the oldest 59 years of age. Ten are college graduates and 16 have previous law enforcement experience. One is a retired, Boston Police Officer who was the recipient of the Department Medal of Honor in 1974, returning nineteen years after retirement.

With the addition of these recruits, the number of recruits studying at the Boston Police Academy, will be 88, representing virtually every neighborhood in the City of Boston.

MAYOR TAKES STEPS TO SAVE CITY ONE MILLION DOLLARS

Mayor Thomas M. Menino has announced that steps have been taken to save the City more than one million dollars over the next three years. The savings will be realized because of the hiring of a new financial advisor and bond counsel for the City.

The Administration has just accepted a bid by Evensen Dodge, Inc. to be the City's Financial Advisor. And the Administration has accepted a bid from Palmer and Dodge to provide bond counsel services.

Mayor Menino says, "By hiring Palmer and Dodge the City is saving more than 200 thousand dollars a year for the next several years. And by going with Evensen Dodge the savings will be more than 115 thousand a year. By hiring these two companies my administration is not only saving money, it is also getting quality work. The reputations of these companies is known nationwide."

Evensen Dodge, Inc. has offices in Boston and is a nationwide, full-service financial advisory firm.

Palmer and Dodge has one of the largest bond counsel practices in the country and the largest in New England.

THE BOSTON WATER & SEWER COMMISSION COLLECTS OVER $4.4 MILLION THROUGH AMNESTY PROGRAM

Through an Amnesty Program, put forward by Boston Mayor Thomas M. Menino, the Boston Water and Sewer Commission collected over $4.4 million in unpaid water and sewer charges in a one-month period. Implemented during the month of June, the program was offered to customers with delinquent accounts.

The Amnesty Program was announced on May 16, 1994, as one of the solutions to protect tenants from losing their water service because their landlords failed to pay their water bills. At that time Mayor Menino emphasized his commitment to tenants but also acknowledged the Commission's responsibility to collect outstanding water and sewer charges. To the extent that some of the Commission's customers fail to pay their obligations to the Commission in a timely manner, the remaining "good" customers would have to be assessed for that shortfall. Ensuring payment from all of its customers helps to keep water and sewer rates down for the City of Boston.

"The Boston Water and Sewer Commission is continually exploring avenues that may lead to customer rate relief, and the $4.4 million collected last month is one more step in that direction," added Menino. "In 1994 the Commission was able to freeze water and sewer rates. The Amnesty Program is helping us keep the possibility of a 1995 rate freeze viable."

With minimal collection effort, "the Amnesty Program proved to be a cost effective way of collecting unpaid water and sewer charges," noted Patricia A. Fahy, BWSC Acting Executive Director. "The Program offered customers the opportunity to pay overdue balances in full within a certain time period, and have all outstanding delinquency charges deleted from their accounts."

Over 4,800 customers took advantage of the one-time offer. Commission representatives were available to collect payments and answer customer inquiries at convenient locations throughout the City during the day and evening.

The tragic fire on June 24, 1994, Box 9-4113, presented the firefighting force with the most severe and difficult fire conditions.

The untimely death of Fire Lieutenant Stephen F. Minehan, who was attempting the rescue of two critically injured firefighters, would have been compounded by the loss of several firefighters had it not been for the very courageous and professional efforts of all members present.

Deputy Fire Chief Kevin J. Mochen, the chief officers, company officers, and all members of the firefighting force are to be commended for their extraordinary actions and outstanding performance at Box 9-4113.

The operating force of the Fire Alarm Office who were on duty are commended for their exemplary performance in handling the communications operation during this entire incident.

My sincere gratitude to all of the members for their heroic actions and extraordinary efforts at this very tragic fire. A special word of appreciation to all of the members of this proud department for the many acts of kindness, care and concern that were extended to the Minehan family during their time of sorrow.

I was never so proud of each and every member of my department as I was during these very sad times. You are all to be highly commended for your response and performance at the fire scene and throughout the entire week of services for one of our own, Fire Lieutenant Stephen F. ## MAYOR MENINO SIGNS CHILDREN'S WINDOW FALLS LAW

Launches Summer Child Safety Initiative

Boston's health chief Larry Dwyer outlines the Boston Window Falls Prevention Program, which Mayor Menino signed into legislation recently. The program, part of the city's Department of Health and Hospitals, will provide education and community outreach to address the dangers of children falling from windows. Joining Dwyer and Menino are Childhood Injury Prevention Program Director Ellen Freedman and Dr. Bob Vinci, Director of BCH's Pediatric Emergency Services.

Mayor Thomas M. Menino has signed legislation establishing a Boston Window Falls Prevention Program. The new program within the city's Department of Health & Hospitals will provide education and outreach to address the dangers of children age six and under falling from windows.

Four Boston area children have fallen from open windows in recent months, suffering extensive physical injuries. In July 1993, then-acting Mayor Menino launched a summer child safety campaign, "KIDS CAN'T FLY!" to prevent window falls after seven children were injured from high falls. Annually in the Boston area, approximately 30 children are treated for injuries sustained in falls from windows. Injuries are the leading national cause of death for children between one and 19 years of age. In Massachusetts, over three million emergency room visits each year are the result of injuries.

Mayor Menino thanked the Boston City Council for approving this legislation and acknowledged the broad-based support for this legislation, including the work of the Boston City Hospital Child Injury Prevention

B.C.H. GAINS ACCREDITATION IN NEW HOSPITAL

Boston City Hospital has won accreditation within its new hospital facility by the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Healthcare Organizations (JCAHO). The three-year award is the result of a successful intensive site survey in April that followed the hospital's relocation of all inpatient, trauma, emergency, surgical and diagnostic services into the state-of-the-art new facility on Albany Street near Massachusetts Avenue.

"I'm happy to hear that the Joint Commission has recognized the hard work we've invested in Boston City Hospital and its future," said Mayor Thomas M. Menino. "Congratulations to all who worked so hard at BCH to meet the combined challenges of the hospital move and JCAHO review."

"The JCAHO has recommended a full accreditation with the highest ratings in recent history, and commended the hospital for substantive progress since the 1990 survey," said Commissioner Larry Dwyer. "In addition to meeting their tough new national standards for continuous improvement, the surveyors were particularly impressed with the clinical and organizational performance and outcomes of care, the commitment of staff, and our comprehensive strategic planning process. All this within 90 days of moving into the new hospital! I thank the staff for a job well done!"

Over the past year, BCH has successfully moved into its new facility, favor-

Task Force in helping to draft the legislation and advice and support from the Fire Department, Boston's Rental Housing Association, local hardware retailers, Boston Housing Authority and child safety advocates.

"Our message for parents and guardians is simple: 'We can take steps to prevent these unnecessary childhood injuries due to window falls.'" said Mayor Menino. "Take care to open windows from the top, install window guards, and lock all unopened outside doors and windows that are not fire exits. Last year, 463 children suffered injuries as the result of window falls, including 12 fatalities in this country. Boston hospitals treat about 30 children each year for injuries due to preventable window falls and that's why we are here today to establish this program. Preventable injuries and fatalities demand our best education and prevention efforts."

Health and Hospitals Commissioner Lawrence A. Dwyer said, "Today's signing makes last year's 'Kids Can't Fly' effort an expanded, permanent function of the city's public health mission. City health officials, state building safety, fire and health officials have worked together on this legislation since last summer when Mayor Menino requested a report on preventable window falls and a recommended plan of action.

"Last year, we received tremendous support from Boston's media outlets who broadcast the PSA (Public Service Announcement) that is part of the media and community outreach campaign," said Commissioner Dwyer. "We are asking again for your support. In addition, we are working with city and state agencies, the community health centers, child health initiatives and Boston's Community Centers to get the message out about preventable window falls."

The Childhood Injury Prevention Program at DH&H provides safety tips on the most common injuries that are incorporated into outreach efforts of departmental programs and other city agencies including Boston EMS, Healthy Baby/Healthy Child and Healthy Boston. The Window Falls Program will be integrated and expanded through other outreach efforts targeting young children such as the immunization, lead poisoning and nutrition programs.

Dr. Robert Vinci, chief of Pediatric Emergency at Boston City Hospital, said "We have seen and treated too many young kids in our emergency room whose injuries could have been avoided. Working with other city agencies on these issues will mean fewer children who require our services."

ably completed the JCAHO survey, undergone positive review by both the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development for its unique federal mortgage guarantee and the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' Health Care Financing Administration for its federal reimbursements and only recently completed a successful clinical review by the American College of Surgeons. At the same time, the hospital has drastically reduced its forecasted deficit; increased its aggregate census; continued quality improvement in clinical areas; and, embarked on a multi-year strategic planning initiative.

"Above all, the national standards are intended to stimulate continuous, systematic and organizationwide improvement in an organization's performance and the outcome of care," says John Clem, director, Hospital Accreditation Services, Joint Commission. "The community should be proud that Boston City Hospital is focusing on the most challenging goal — to continuously raise quality to higher levels."

BCH has operated on an extended accreditation over the last six months, granted by the JCAHO to allow the hospital to fully engage in the historic move into its new inpatient facility. For the first time in the BCH's 130-year history, all services have been moved under one roof. The six-month extension afforded BCH the opportunity to direct staff and regulatory resources toward final stage licensing and new construction acceptance; facilities orientation and training for its 2,300 staffers; the successful 24-hour move of 230 acute care patients; the simultaneous trauma emergency service relocations; post occupancy debriefing and analysis and, punchlisting of operational adjustments and new facilities.

The JCAHO survey team visited Boston in late April for a 4-day BCH inpatient and outpatient services as well as the elderly home care program and the four hospital-licensed community health centers in East Boston, South Boston, Fields Corner (Dorchester House) and Codman Square. The 1991 Joint Commission's standards represent a major transition to performance focus from the more traditional and historic capability review. The new standards of JCAHO have shifted from department-specific review to a functional review of the integrated, collaborative systems approach to the delivery of patient care services. Every accredited hospital facility submits to voluntary review by JCAHO, which ensures hospital participation in Medicare and Medicaid reimbursement programs. The Joint Commission was founded in 1951 to improve the quality of health care through its standards. It is governed by representatives of the American Medical Association, American Hospital Association, American College of Surgeons, American College of Physicians, nurse professionals, and the public.

CITY OF BOSTON KICKS OFF SUMMER POOL PROGRAM

Mayor Thomas M. Menino officially kicked off the City of Boston's summer pool program on Saturday, July 2, at the Mirabella Pool on Commercial Street in the North End.

The pool kickoff activities began at 11:00 a.m. with relay races for children in three age categories: 10 and under, 11-13, and 14-17. Following the children's relay races, the city's lifeguards competed for the first annual "Mayor's Cup," a cup that will be awarded to the winning relay lifeguard team on an annual basis. Mayor Menino watched the Mayor's Cup races and presented awards to the winners.

At the pool kickoff Mayor Menino said, "The City of Boston's pools play an important part in providing Bostonians of all ages with a cool, safe and healthy summer activity. I am pleased that the community centers whose hours I extended will also have extended pool hours. It is clear on a hot day like today that our pools fill a need."

Boston Community Centers, the City of Boston's largest youth and human service agency oversees 38 community centers as well as the city's 19 pools and L Street Beach. Pool hours and programming are extended during the summer months which this year will complement the extended Friday and weekend hours of 16 community centers.

The Mirabella Pool, one of the city's most popular, attracts close to 500 people over the course of a hot summer day.

A list of the city's pools and telephone numbers follows.

BOSTON LISC CHOSEN FOR AMERICORPS PROGRAM

*Grant Will Place
10 AmeriCorps Participants in Community Development Corporations in Boston*

Ten community development corporations (CDCs) in Boston and Cambridge have been selected to participate in AmeriCorps, the new national service program, as part of a nationwide effort sponsored by the Local Initiatives Support Corporation (LISC).

Committed to helping revitalize the nation's most distressed communities, LISC is the nation's largest community development support organization, operating in 32 cities and regions across the country.

The 10 AmeriCorps participants will work with 10 CDCs in Boston and Cambridge in conjunction with the Massachusetts Association of CDCs, tackling issues of community building and neighborhood strategic development. Participants will work in community outreach activities, home ownership program implementation, organization of homebuyer training classes, property and market research and assistance with project managers. Also in New England, nine additional LISC AmeriCorps participants will be placed in Rhode Island and Connecticut.

LISC has long provided financial and technical assistance to non-profit CDCs. CDCs have been in the front lines in the battle to revitalize distressed communities through building or rehabilitating affordable homes and apartments, revitalizing commercial and industrial space, community organization and other initiatives.

Through AmeriCorps, LISC will be able to address a critical need confronting community-based developers — the need to recruit young talent and increase the viability of community-based development as a career option. CDCs nationwide have clamored for a reliable pipeline of new talent and leadership, and AmeriCorps affords LISC the opportunity to develop that pipeline.

“AmeriCorps will enable LISC and its partner CDCs to introduce young people to career positions in CDCs and it fits with a crucial dimension of LISC's mission at a watershed moment in the field,” LISC President Paul S. Grogan said. “Federal agencies from the White House down are intent on addressing the inter-relatedness and intensity of conditions at the neighborhood level — welfare dependency, job loss, crime and drug rates, youth and family problems, affordable housing shortages and poverty. The primary role of CDCs in this comprehensive strategy is clear.”

In addition, CDCs and local LISC programs will be able to use the $1-million AmeriCorps grant — with the possibility of another $1 million grant next year if the program is reauthorized — to generate about $2 million in local matching funds from LISC and its corporate and philanthropic supporters. Bringing together these public and private resources will create the dynamic local partnerships that have played such crucial roles in successful community renewal strategies across the country.

For more than 20 years, CDCs have been leading the fight to rebuild devastated communities across the country through a variety of strategies. For instance, community organization, rehabilitation or construction of affordable homes and apartments, upgrading or developing commercial and industrial space, job training programs and other health, education and human needs initiatives.

AmeriCorps, the domestic Peace Corps initiative signed into law by President Clinton last September, involves thousands of young Americans who will perform critical services in urban and rural communities nationwide. Some 20,000 youths will participate in the program in the first year. AmeriCorps members will receive educational awards to help finance higher education.

In addition to its New England efforts, LISC, one of 58 national organizations and federal agencies selected for the first phase, will use the $1 million grant to recruit 73 other Ameri-

Corps participants and place them in community development corporations in San Diego, San Francisco, Los Angeles, St. Paul, Kansas City, Seattle, Michigan, and the Mid-South Delta region that covers parts of Mississippi, Arkansas, and Louisiana.

The first wave of AmeriCorps program winners — selected through a nationwide competition by the Corporation for National and Community Service — will comprise the AmeriCorps National Service Network. More than 7,000 AmeriCorps members will participate in 58 programs operating in hundreds of urban and rural communities in 47 states and the District of Columbia.

All AmeriCorps programs and members will work within the AmeriCorps national service priority areas of education, public safety, human needs and the environment. The programs will begin in the fall.

Boston has long been a laboratory of innovation in community development. LISC's oldest CDC assistance program was launched in Boston in 1979. Throughout the 1980s LISC played an important role in shaping the CDC environment in Boston. LISC provided significant part of the initial funding for the Boston Housing Partnership, the first such organization in the country, and Boston LISC was the driving force behind creation of the Neighborhood Development Support Collaborative. In New England, LISC-supported CDCs have produced 4,674 affordable housing units and more than 700,000 sq. ft. of commercial/retail space. Such work has been supported by $1.6 million in LISC grants, $2 million in LISC recoverable grants and more than $9 million in LISC project-related loans.

Since its establishment in 1979 by the Ford Foundation, New York City-based LISC and its affiliates have raised more than $1.3 billion from more than 1,100 donors and investors helping more than 1,000 neighborhood-based developers expand their efforts to reclaim and build their communities. Included in this project was the development of more than 50,000 affordable homes and apartments and 8.6 million square feet of commercial and industrial space. LISC's support has enabled CDCs to leverage an additional $2.5 billion in support of their efforts.

Now, every week is "your week" to recycle.

EVERY WEEK RECYCLING PICK-UP

EXPANDED RECYCLING PROGRAM

The new recycling program lets you include MAGAZINES, CARDBOARD and BROWN PAPER BAGS. So, now you can put out almost twice as much.

IT'S JUST AS EASY AS EVER

Here's how: save your newspapers, brown bags, corrugated "waffled" cardboard (no cereal or tissue boxes) and magazines in a brown paper bag or tied up with twine. Then put it out, on garbage day, next to your trash, by 7:00am.

Exceptions: If your area has 2 trash pick-up days, you should recycle on the first day, if you have three garbage days, recycle on the middle pick-up day.

OFFICIAL CHRONICLE, MUNICIPAL AFFAIRS

JAMES M. KELLY
PRESIDENT, CITY COUNCIL

VOL. 86

MONDAY, AUGUST 1, 1994

NO. 31

MAYOR ANNOUNCES HOMEOWNERSHIP PROGRAM FOR CITY EMPLOYEES

Mayor Thomas M. Menino, on July 25, announced the "City Homeownership for Municipal Employees (CityHOME) Program," a homebuyer assistance program for City of Boston employees to help them become homeowners in the neighborhoods they serve. A joint initiative of the City of Boston and Bank of Boston, CityHOME strengthens the residency requirement for City employees by providing this special opportunity for homeownership.

Mayor Menino said, "CityHOME will help Boston fulfill a shared dream of strong, stable neighborhoods. Nothing gives people a greater stake in their neighborhood than owning a home. CityHOME is a great opportunity for City employees, and it's great news for Boston residents, who will see the real value of the City's residency law — the reinvestment of City employees in the neighborhoods they serve."

Bank of Boston President Charles "Chad" Gifford added, "As a bank with a strong presence in Boston's neighborhoods, we're delighted to be the City's partner in this initiative. This program will make it easier for City employees to make a personal investment in neighborhoods they serve day in and day out through their jobs."

CityHome will help City employees purchase a one-, two- or three-family house or condominium with a mortgage of less than $203,500 located anywhere in the city. Services range from a Bank of Boston mortgage with a lower downpayment requirement to financial assistance and homebuyer education from the City's Public Facilities Department (PFD). The property may be a newly renovated house, a "fixer-upper," or even an abandoned building owned by the City.

CityHOME's basic features include:

- a Bank of Boston mortgage requiring a downpayment of only 3 percent.
- a $2,000 grant from the City to cover closing costs;

- free homebuyer education classes provided by PFD; and
- more flexible credit restrictions that allow homebuyers to qualify for more house with less income and that make two- and three-family houses more affordable.

CityHOME's Purchase-Rehab Plan provides additional services for the purchase of a "fixer-upper."

- a $5,000 grant from the City for essential health and safety systems;
- a combined purchase-rehab mortgage from Bank of Boston that eliminates the cost of a separate construction loan; and
- free construction specifications prepared by the City.

The CityHOMEstader Plan provides additional incentives for the purchase of a City-owned abandoned house:

- a $25,000 grant from the City for rehab;
- a combined purchase-rehab mortgage from Bank of Boston or the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency (MHFA); and
- free construction specifications from the City.

This initial demonstration round will provide assistance to 100 homebuyers (income limitations apply) at an estimated cost of almost $10 million, with $9 million funded by Bank of Boston.

PRELUDE, PREPARATION AND PROGRESS

Mayor Tom Menino's First Year in Office, July 12, 1993 - July 12, 1994

Dear Friends:

A handshake, an embrace, and a new era began. I'll never forget that day one year ago when I became the "Acting" Mayor of Boston and pledged to move our great city forward. It changed my life, and now, I want to change our people's lives — for the better.

That "acting" period was both exciting and frustrating. We accomplished a lot during that time — freezing water rates, establishing an Office of Business Services that is both retaining and creating jobs in Boston, expanding services for senior citizens, putting more police on the street, and saving millions of taxpayer dollars through competitive bidding and health insurance reform. And we began the process of change in many other areas — through quality appointments such as Alfreda Harris' nomination to the Boston School Committee, through a "Tax Checkoff Scholarship Fund" that was the first step in my goal of making college affordable for all of Boston's young people, and through measures to protect women from the growing menace of domestic violence.

But for all the progress we made in those first three-and-one-half months, there was so much more to be done that an "acting" mayor could not do. People wanted real change, so I said, "Those programs which work, we'll keep; those that don't work, are gone!" And because the people liked the changes of the early days, and wanted more, I received a great vote in November — and a mandate to act.

Thus, we entered the "preparation" phase as I would call it — the naming of a transition team, the formation of a new, "cabinet" form of government, and the recruitment of a new team based on the combination of experienced and dedicated members of the previous administration and energetic new talent, from Chief of Staff Alyce Lee and Chief Economic Development Officer Marisa Lago to our new Police Commissioner Paul Evans and Chief Financial Officer John Simmons. We brought in more talent and experience with the appointments of John Gould, Elizabeth Reilinger and Robert Gittens to the Boston School Committee, and appointed a Task Force, headed by former State Senator Patricia McGovern, to oversee the shaping of a new alliance between Boston City Hospital and University Hospital.

This period was probably the toughest time for me, as we went from a breakneck pace of generating quick changes to a more deliberate period for planning real, long-term change, for our schools, for neighborhoods desperate for economic opportunity, and for changes in basic service delivery — the way we plow, pave and police our streets.

In the last few weeks, we have begun to see the fruits of our labors.

We negotiated a new three-year school contract with the cooperation of the Boston School Committee, the Boston School Department and the Boston Teachers Union. It is an agreement that finally brings the potential for real reform to the Boston schools, and one which I said at the time, means "no more excuses" for inadequate performance. And, at about the same time, we announced a new Boston Compact, dedicated to dramatically expanding the options available to our young people, from "school to work" programs to college tuition assistance to real jobs for graduates.

We put forward a strong "empowerment zone" proposal to the federal government — one that joins Roxbury, South Boston, Mattapan, Chinatown and Dorchester in a coalition for economic change. The skeptics thought we couldn't bring people together — they thought that we couldn't agree on the boundaries or the programs. They thought that the private sector wouldn't come forward to help and they thought that we wouldn't be taken seriously in Washington.

They were wrong.

And we picked up speed in so many other areas — moving to tighten up residency requirements; implementing a tough new ethics law for city employees; increasing the recycling budget by 58 percent in order to insure that Boston has city-wide recycling by the end of Fiscal Year '95, and securing the long-delayed passage of the Boston Fair Housing Commission reform legislation. We expanded the hours of Boston's Community Centers, to give our young people more alternatives to the streets, expanded library hours and services and began a commitment to improving our beaches that has helped to leverage $30 million in proposed new state resources. We also resolved a long-delayed $7 million contractual agreement with the Central Artery/Third Harbor Tunnel project team which will enable the City of Boston to properly review and analyze construction and transportation impacts on the City resulting from this ten-year major project.

In the important area of public safety, Police Commissioner Paul Evans and I have worked hard to secure the resources to put more police on the street, to create a more diverse police force and to implement neighborhood policing. There is funding in this year's city budget to add another 110 police officers. Further, we have secured $1.2 million in federal funds to add 14 officers fluent in the foreign languages of our increasingly changing city, and an additional $1.5 million in state funds for neighborhood policing. Finally, through the help of Senator Ted Kennedy, a pending federal crime bill will help us add even more sworn officers and expand prevention and opportunity for our young people.

We also wish Senator Kennedy well as he fights for universal health coverage — an important priority for the many uninsured families in Boston. Universal health care will bring new challenges for Boston, for Boston City Hospital and for our private institutions, and we will continue to work with all parties to expand health coverage while protecting our excellent health institutions and the jobs they provide.

So, where do we go from here?

In the months to come, I want my Administration to move boldly on an "opportunity" agenda for our people. I want to see a homeownership program that will offer a piece of the "American Dream" to more of our people. And I want negotiations to move forward with the Federal National Mortgage Association and the Local Initiatives Support Corporation, we will see a wide ranging new homeownership initiative.

I want to see our neighborhood business districts flourish, for it is in the districts that people get a sense of community's health. We are already restructuring banks, chain stores, ethnic restaurants, and individually owned pharmacies coming back to our business districts. With the increased commitment to these districts in our capital plan, and our plans for an expanded "Main Streets" program, my administration will make a difference in Boston's local business areas.

And that includes Blue Hill Avenue.

I want to see more opportunities for our youth to succeed. We need to fulfill the promises of the new school contract for more kindergarten programs, for pilot schools that set shining examples for every school building, and for teachers that are rewarded for excellent performance. We need more opportunities for our young people to expand their learning experience, such as through the Fairmount Training Center which seeks to close the growing gap between computer "haves" and "have nots". We also need more strategies to turn troubled youth away from drugs, guns and violence, and the community-based proposal funded by the Annie B. Casey Foundation will help move us forward in that regard.

I want to continue to bring more jobs of all skill levels to Boston — we have already brought in firms with high tech jobs such as IDX and biotech jobs such as Biotransplant. We must complement these growing new firms with jobs in the new supermarkets and chain stores coming to our city and we must realize the hope of more tourism-related jobs through a new convention center, a new home in Boston for the Red Sox, and yes, if the economics can be worked out, a new "megaplex" for Boston. We will also avail ourselves, win or lose, of the economic commitments contained in our "empowerment zone" proposal — $35 million from the banks for new and small businesses; a new industrial support facility for our hospitals and the incubator facilities of the Boston Emerging Industries Center.

I also want to bring to our people a sense that city government works. That those of us who have chosen public service really earn a day's work for a day's pay. Some of these actions have been and will be, small, yet significant ones — planting flowers in City Hall Plaza and better signage in City Hall. Others will be far broader in scope, better street cleaning, weekly newspaper recycling, and neighborhood service delivery meetings throughout Boston that will bring decision makers and workers together with our customers.

Finally, as joyous as the job of mayor can be some days, there are also the days when duty mixes with sadness. I was just days into my term when tragedy befell Reggie Lewis, a man who had meant so much to our young people, a gifted athlete who also "walked the walk". There were many other sad occasions over the past year from the loss of several dedicated police officers slain in the course of duty, to the death of innocent young people like Louis Brown, to the tragic passing of Reverend Accelyne Williams to the heroic sacrifice of Fire Lieutenant Steve Minehan.

Boston will remember, and Boston will move forward — with the help of many Bostonians, new and old, for whom this city is something special.

To that end, I again pledge my best efforts and efforts of my administration.

Sincerely,
THOMAS A. MENINO,
Mayor of Boston.

NEW SUPERMARKET SIGNS LEASE IN THE SOUTH END

Mayor Thomas M. Menino, on July 13, joined community leaders to celebrate the lease signing for a new Wollaston's Market at 400 Tremont Street in the South End. The supermarket will take over a building left vacant by the closing of an A&P Supermarket in January, 1993, and will create 75-100 jobs for the community.

The City of Boston has worked diligently with community leaders, developers and supermarket owners to bring a market back to the South End. Mayor Menino lauded the dedication of community leaders from Castle Square, Bay Village, Chinatown and the South End to this project: "Bringing this supermarket to the South End is an excellent example of how residents can effect change. Their tenacity moved this project forward."

The nearly $1-million supermarket project is being funded from a variety of public and private sources. The City of Boston's Public Facilities Department will loan the project $362,000 for the purchase of fixtures and equipment. State Street Bank is providing a $245,000 loan for leasehold improvements. Supervalu, the nation's largest food distributor company, will provide over $400,000 in inventory and lease guarantees. The land and building are owned by Castle Square Associates, an affiliate of the Druker Company.

Deborah Backus, Chairwoman of the Coalition for a South End Supermarket, said, "We have always believed that Castle Square, Bay Village, Chinatown and the South End could support a neighborhood supermarket. Because we never lost sight of our goal and pushed hard for almost two years, we are able to celebrate today."

Frank Miller, owner of Wollaston's Market, added, "Wollaston's Market will be a perfect match for this community. We are committed to personal service and will meet the social and ethnic needs of the South End and its neighboring communities."

Wollaston's Market will be a full-service neighborhood supermarket providing a full range of groceries and fresh produce products. It is scheduled to open in October and will be open seven days a week with normal operating hours of 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. The arrival of the market marks the continuation of Boston's success in bringing to the neighborhoods supermarkets and other retailers, including the 300-employee Super Stop and Shop which opened this past January at the South Bay Center in Dorchester.

MAYOR MENINO ANNOUNCES "BACK TO BEACHES WEEK"

MAYOR MENINO ISSUES CITY HEAT ALERT

Mayor Thomas M. Menino, on July 22, issued a HEAT ALERT for the City of Boston and increased city services in preparation for the continued hot weather and high humidity expected throughout the weekend.

"The very young, the elderly and people coping with chronic illnesses can experience difficulties during this heat spell," said Mayor Menino, "So we are stepping up our public safety services, opening air-conditioned 'heat relief stations,' increasing our community pool hours, and asking residents to follow sensible advice to avoid serious health hazards."

Mayor Menino has included a num-

MAYOR KICKS OFF LEAGUE OF HOPE BASKETBALL TOURNAMENT

Mayor Thomas M. Menino on Friday night, July 22, at the Roxbury Boys and Girls Club kicked off a basketball league for at risk kids. The program is called the League of Hope. The League's objective is to provide young people between the ages of 18 and 21 years of age with constructive alternatives to hanging out on the streets during the night.

The Mayor said, "For many kids, this program will help pull them back from the edge. They will be engaging in good clean fun that will hopefully Mayor Menino walks along Carson Beach in South Boston during the announcement of "Back to Beaches Week." The Mayor was joined by Governor Weld and other elected officials in support of a multi-million-dollar capital plan now before the legislature to bring Boston's beaches back to their potential.

The Back to Beaches initiative calls for strengthening the relationship between the community and its beaches. The capital plan will improve everything from management of food vendors at the beaches to improved seawalls. All of the City's beaches will benefit from the plan.

ber of the city's health and human services agencies in this effort, including Elderly Affairs, the Department of Health and Hospitals, Boston Community Centers, Boston Housing Authority, Homeless Services, Boston Police and the Mayor's 24-hour hotline.

"We encourage our older residents seeking relief from the heat to take advantage of the air-conditioned facilities that are now open across the city," said Ann McGuire, Secretary of Health and Human Services. "Call the Elderly Hotline, 635-4366, or the Mayor's Office, 635-4500, to find the location nearest you. In addition, we are asking everyone to help their older neighbors or family members who might be at risk. Home care agencies, shelter organizations and the V.N.A. are being contacted to assist by setting up phone tree contacts with their clients."

"Boston Emergency Medical Services (EMS) is increasing its citywide ambulance coverage for the duration of this heat alert for response to medical emergencies," said Health and Hospitals Commissioner Larry Dwyer. "Our EMTs and paramedics will also be distributing heat advisory materials and contact numbers at the hundreds of trip responses they make every day."

Boston Police Commissioner Paul Evans has issued a Special Order for Roll Call and dispatch release to field officers and BHA Administrator David Cortiella has instituted a public housing plan which includes air conditioned community rooms, telephone trees and site-checks for elderly and isolated residents.

Dr. Peter Moyer, Chief of Emergency Medicine at Boston City Hospital, pointed out that successive days of high temperature (86 degrees or higher) and humidity (68-plus dew point) increase the risk of heat-related illnesses for certain populations. "The elderly, chronically disabled, the very young, people living with heart disease, pulmonary problems or diabetes often suffer heat disorders. Certain medications also increase susceptibility, including HCTZ, Lasix, Inderal, Elavil, Benadryl, Thorazine, Scopolamine and Mellaril. The warning signs for heat illness include dizziness, weakness, fainting and vomiting. The life-threatening signs of heat stroke include confusion and agitation, unresponsiveness and hot skin. Call 9-1-1 if any warning of life threatening signs are present. Remove clothing, apply cool water and, if the patient is conscious, give fluids."

Dr. Moyer recommends some easy-to-follow steps to avoid heat hazards:

- Most importantly — slow down!
- Perform outside activities in the early morning and evening hours;
- Draw shades in your home to keep out sun's rays;
- Drink plenty of fluids that don't contain caffeine; avoid alcoholic beverages;
- Avoid oven use; use fans and air conditioning to circulate air;
- Wear clothing that's light in color and fabric and fits loosely;
- In direct sunlight, wear hats and sunscreen to block the sun and avoid sunburn, which slows the bodies cooling mechanisms and increase risk of skin cancer;
- Don't leave young kids unsupervised in cars — a clear safety and heat risk!

- And, if you have questions about medications you're using, call your doctor, health center or hospital.

keep them out of the wrong place at the wrong time."

This is the first time a 6-week summer league for 18-21-year-olds has been available in Boston. The Mayor wanted a program specifically for older kids that would channel their energies into positive activities during a time when not many other constructive activities are happening. The Boston Police Department and the Boston Housing Authority have targeted about 60 young people who fit this "at-risk" description to participate in the 6-team league. The games will begin at 9:30 and continue until midnight three times a week for 6 weeks. The League was made possible through the generosity of the I.S.S. Corporation and a partnership with the Boys and Girls Club.

The Mayor directed several departments including the Boston Police Department, Boston Housing Authority, Boston Community Centers and the Department of Parks and Recreation to form this League. The involvement of I.S.S. and the Boys and Girls Club then made the League a reality.

SKIN CANCER

Is No Longer Fun*

The sun gives life — but it can also be a deadly force. Exposure to the sun is responsible for more than 90 percent of skin cancers. This year more than 500,000 Americans will develop some form of skin cancer, and between 7,000 and 8,000 will die from it. In fact, one out of every seven Americans will develop the disease during his or her lifetime.

Recent research indicates that both consistent, long-term exposure to the sun and intense periods of exposure can be equally harmful. The good news, however, is that almost every type of skin cancer is preventable.

ORDER FOR PETITION FOR SPECIAL LAW TO EMPOWER FAIR HOUSING COMMISSION TO ENFORCE BY JUDICIAL POWER TITLE
VIII AND IMPOSE CIVIL PENALTIES
(DOCKET NO. 0301)

The following was received:

City of Boston
Office of the Mayor

February 25, 1994.

To the City Council.

Dear Councillors:

I transmit herewith for your approval a Home Rule Petition regarding the Boston Fair Housing Commission (BFHC). The Home Rule Petition is a modified version of the petition passed by the Council in 1990, 1991, 1992, and 1993. In those same years, the petition has been filed with the State Legislature which has consistently failed to act on it.

This petition will bring the BFHC's law in line with that of MCAD and the City of Cambridge, both of which have already been granted the legislative authority that Boston is seeking. This legislation is necessary for the BFHC to have enforcement powers substantially equivalent to the Federal Title VIII laws in order to receive federal funding and also to comply with the federal court order.

I urge your Honorable Body to pass this petition as expeditiously as possible so that we can file it for the Legislature's consideration.

Sincerely,

Thomas M. Menino,
Mayor.

An Act to empower the Boston Fair Housing Commission to enforce by judicial power the provisions of Title VIII and impose civil penalties (substantial equivalency).

Ordered: That a petition to the General Court, accompanied by a bill for a special law relating to the City of Boston to be filed with an attested copy of this order be, and hereby is, approved under Clause (1) of Section eight of Article two, as amended, of the Amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to the end that legislation be adopted providing precisely as follows, except for clerical or editorial changes of form only:

Section 1. Definitions

(A) "Housing Accommodations" shall be defined as any building, structure or portion thereof which is used or occupied or is intended, arranged or designed to be used or occupied as the home, residence or sleeping place of one or more human beings and any vacant land which is offered for sale or lease for the construction or location thereon of any such building structure or portion thereof.

(B) "Aggrieved Person" shall be defined as any person who claims to have been injured by a discriminatory housing practice or believes such person will be injured by a discriminatory housing practice that is about to occur.

(C) "Person" includes one or more individuals, partnerships, associations, corporations, legal representatives, trustees, trustees in bankruptcy, receivers, and the Commonwealth and all political subdivisions and boards or commissions thereof.

(D) "Source of income" shall not include income derived from criminal activity.

Section 2. Protected Classes

Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 5 herein, classes protected by this Act include race, color, religious creed, marital status, handicap, military status, children, national origin, sex, age, ancestry, sexual orientation and source of income.

Section 3. (A) All housing accommodations in the City of Boston are subject to this Act, except as hereinafter provided.

(B) Nothing in this Act shall apply to housing accommodations which are specifically exempted from coverage by this Act.

(C) Nothing in this Act shall apply to the leasing or rental of two or fewer roomers, boarders, or lodgers who rent a unit in a licensed lodging house.

Section 4. Nothing in this Act shall prohibit a religious organization, association or society, or any nonprofit institution or organization operated, supervised, or controlled by or in conjunction with a religious organization, association, or society, from limiting the sale, rental or occupancy of housing accommodations which it owns or operates for other than a commercial purpose to persons of the same religion, or from giving preference to such persons, unless membership in such religion is restricted on account of race, color, marital status, handicap, military status, children, national origin, sex, age, ancestry, sexual orientation or source of income.

Section 5. In the City of Boston, discriminatory housing practices are prohibited, provided, however, that no practice shall be prohibited hereunder unless such practice is also prohibited by the federal Fair Housing Act or Chapter 151B of the Massachusetts General Laws.

Section 6. Any person who violates the provision of this Act as to discriminatory housing practices shall, pursuant to the provisions of Section 7 of this Act, be subject to orders, temporary, equitable and legal, including compensatory damages, punitive damages or civil penalties and attorneys' fees and costs.

Section 7. Powers and Duties

The Boston Fair Housing Commission (the "Commission") established pursuant to Chapter 10 of the City of Boston Ordinances of 1982, as amended, shall, in addition to every other power heretofore or hereafter provided by statute or ordinance, have jurisdiction of all housing accommodations subject to this Act. The Commission shall have the following powers and duties as to such housing accommodations, except as to those housing accommodations in any building or structure containing one, two, three or four dwelling units, one of which is occupied by the owner thereof as his or her permanent residence; provided that no building or structure shall be considered occupied by the owner thereof unless the owner occupies one or more dwelling units as his or her residence.

(A) At any time after the filing of a complaint, and before or after the final disposition of a complaint, the Commission may file a petition in Suffolk Superior Court or the Boston Housing Court seeking appropriate preliminary, temporary and/or injunctive relief against such respondent including orders or decrees restraining and enjoining the selling, renting or otherwise making unavailable to the complainant any housing accommodation with respect to which the complaint is made, pending the final determination of proceedings under this Act.

(B) If the Commission, after hearing, finds that a respondent has engaged in any unlawful practice as set forth in Section 5 herein, it shall state its findings of fact and shall issue and cause to be served on such respondent an order requiring such respondent to cease and desist from such unlawful practice or violation of said Section 5. Such cease and desist orders and orders for affirmative relief may be issued to operate prospectively. Any such cease and desist order shall be subject to judicial review pursuant to Section 8 of this Act.

(C) If the Commission, after hearing shall find that a respondent has engaged in any unlawful practice relative to housing or real estate, as set forth in Section 5 of this Act, in addition to any other action it may take under this Act the Commission may:

(1) Award damages to the aggrieved party which damages shall include, but shall not be limited to, the expense incurred by the aggrieved party for obtaining alternate housing or space, for storage of goods and effects, for moving and for other costs actually incurred as a result of such unlawful practice or violation. Damages for emotional distress may also be awarded to the aggrieved party. Any respondent aggrieved by such an award of damages may, within ten days of notice of such award, bring a petition in Suffolk Superior Court or the Boston Housing Court addressed to the justice of the court, praying that the action of the Commission in awarding damages be reviewed by the Court.

(2) Assess a civil penalty against the respondent:

(a) in an amount not to exceed ten thousand dollars if the respondent has not been adjudged to have committed a prior discriminatory housing practice;

(b) in an amount not to exceed twenty-five thousand dollars if the respondent has been adjudged to have committed one other discriminatory housing practice during the five-year period ending on the date of the filing of the complaint; and

(c) in an amount not to exceed fifty thousand dollars if the respondent has been adjudged to have committed two or more discriminatory housing practices during the seven-year period ending on the date of the filing of the complaint.

Any such penalties assessed hereunder shall be deposited in a trust fund to be administered by the City of Boston to be used solely for programs that benefit publicly assisted housing residents in the City of Boston.

(3) Arrange to have adjudicated in court at the Commission's expense the award of punitive damages against such respondent;

(4) Arrange to have adjudicated in court, the allowance of reasonable attorney's fees and costs to any prevailing aggrieved party.

(D) Promulgate rules and regulations to effectuate the provisions of this Act and the powers and duties of the Commission in connection therewith.

Section 8. Judicial Review

(A) The actions of the Commission shall be subject to judicial review upon application as provided herein by any party aggrieved by a final order of the Commission.

(B) Judicial review of a final Commission order shall be in Suffolk Superior Court or the Boston Housing Court which shall have the authority to grant to any party, such temporary relief, restraining order, or other order as the court determines is just and proper. The reviewing court shall affirm, modify, or set aside, in whole or in part, the order, or remand the order for further proceedings and enforce the order to the extent that the order is affirmed or modified.

Section 9. An aggrieved person, with or without filing a complaint at the Commission and without regard to the status of such complaint, may commence a civil action in a court of competent jurisdiction not later than two years after the occurrence or termination of a discriminatory housing practice, or the breach of a conciliation agreement entered into with the Commission, whichever occurs last, to obtain appropriate relief with respect to such discriminatory housing practice or breach; provided, however, that if an aggrieved person has consented to a conciliation agreement, such aggrieved person may not file a civil action with respect to the alleged discriminatory housing practice which forms the basis for such complaint except for the purpose of enforcing such agreement; and provided, further, that an aggrieved person may not commence a civil action with respect to an alleged discriminatory housing practice if a hearing commissioner determines that probable cause exists and a hearing has commenced before the Commission. The computation of such two-year period as to an alleged discriminatory housing practice, but not as to a breach of a conciliation agreement, shall not include any time during which an administrative proceeding is pending with respect to a complaint based upon such discriminatory housing practice. If the court finds that a discriminatory housing practice has occurred or is about to occur, an aggrieved person shall have available any and all remedies pursuant to this Act. This section does not preclude the right of any aggrieved person to seek relief under M.G.L. c. 151B.

Section 10. Purpose. This Act is intended to incorporate the substantive provisions and protections of Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1988 as amended (42 U.S.C. Sections 3601 et seq., the Fair Housing Act) and Chapter 151B of the General Laws, and is to be interpreted in a manner which is not inconsistent therewith.

Section 11. Effective Date.

This Act shall take effect upon its passage.

Couns. KEANE, HENNIGAN, FEENEY, McLAUGHLIN, NUCCI, and MODICA offered the following:

Ordered, That a petition to the General Court, accompanied by a bill for a special law relating to the City of Boston to be filed with an attested copy of this order be, and hereby is, approved under Clause (1) of Section eight of Article two, as amended, of the Amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, to the end that legislation be adopted providing precisely as follows, except for clerical or editorial errors.

Section 1. Notwithstanding the provisions of any general or special law to the contrary, paragraphs 1 and 9 of Section 23 of Chapter 138 of the General Laws shall not apply to the city of Boston, and in place thereof the following provisions with respect to the issue and transfer of liquor licenses shall be in effect in Boston; provided, however, that in all other respects Section 23 and all other sections of said Chapter 138 shall apply in the city of Boston and the provisions of this special act shall be construed to be consistent with all other requirements of Chapter 138:

In the city of Boston, the terms licenses and permits, wherever employed as substantives in this chapter, are used in their technical sense of a license or permit, transferable only as provided in this chapter, and revocable by the granting authority, the commonwealth acting through the same officers or agents and under the same delegated authority for any violation of this chapter or any regulation adopted by the commission or local licensing authority consistent with the terms of this chapter after opportunity for a hearing. The provisions for the issue of licenses and permits hereunder and for the transfer of any license hereunder held by an individual, partnership or corporation to any individual, partnership or corporation, imply no intention to create rights generally for persons to engage or continue in the transaction of the business authorized by the licenses or permits respectively, but are enacted with a view only to serve the public need and in such a manner as to protect the common good and, to that end, to provide, in the opinion of the licensing authority, an adequate number of places which the public may obtain, in the manner and for the kind of use indicated, the different sorts of beverages for the sale of which provision is made.

If the local licensing authority refuses to grant or fails to act upon an application for the transfer of any license held by an individual, partnership or corporation to any individual, partnership or corporation as authorized by this section, the applicant therefore may appeal to the commission under section sixty-seven in the same manner as though such authority had refused to grant or failed to act upon an application for an original license under this chapter, and all the provisions of said section shall apply to such an appeal.

Section 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage and shall apply to applications for the transfer of any license held by an individual, partnership or corporation to any individual, partnership or corporation filed with the local licensing authority after that date. Any such application filed prior to the effective date of this act shall be governed by section 23 of chapter 138 of the general laws.

Whereas, There are no future sales of surplus property being proposed which would replenish the fund; and

Whereas, There have been previous discussions of the financial advantages of the sale of certain City buildings such as 26 Court Street and Police Headquarters at Berkeley Street; now therefore be it Ordered, That the Committee on Ways and Means hold a hearing to review the City's current building inventory and the possible sale of some of those assets and that Mary Nee, the Director of PFD and Barbara Gottschalk, the Acting Director of ASD, be invited to testify.

City of Boston

In the Year Nineteen Hundred and Ninety-four AN ORDINANCE RELATIVE TO COMMERCIAL OCCUPANCY OF BUILDINGS

Be it ordained by the City Council of Boston, in accordance with the provisions of Massachusetts General Laws Chapter 43B, Section 13, and any other applicable law, as follows:

Section 1. City of Boston Code, Ordinances, as amended, is hereby further amended by inserting in Article 16 the following new subsections:

(16-12.6A) TEMPORARY PROVISIONS FOR COMMERCIAL USE BEGUN BEFORE 1985.

The foregoing section shall not apply to any use begun prior to January 1, 1985 provided: A) No certificate of use and occupancy has been issued for the premises after that date, and, B) a copy of a long-form building permit, issued prior to January 1, 1985, permitting the use is posted instead of the certificate. REQUESTING MAYOR DIRECT CORPORATION COUNSEL TO DRAFT LEGISLATION TO UPDATE AND STRENGTHEN ORDINANCES AND ZONING CODE RE ADULT ENTERTAINMENT (DOCKET NO. 0322)

Couns. HENNIGAN, DAVIS-MULLEN, IANNELLA, KELLY, MODICA, O'NEIL, McLAUGHLIN, SAUNDERS, FEENEY, CONLEY and NUCCI offered the following:

Whereas, Lifestyles for the 90's, located at 7

Spring Street in West Roxbury, is dispensing adult video and entertainment materials in violation of Section 34A of the Boston Zoning Code; and

Whereas, Section 34A of the Boston Zoning Code prohibits adult entertainment in the City of Boston, except in appropriately zoned areas; and

Whereas, The City of Boston Inspectional Services Department has already cited the landlord of 7 Spring Street; and

Whereas, The City and the landlord are seeking legal remedies to enforce the lease and law violations by the tenant, Lifestyles for the 90's; and

Whereas, This case is very important to West Roxbury and to every City neighborhood as it may set a precedent for the location of other adult entertainment sitings in the City's neighborhoods; and

Whereas, Mayor Menino and Boston Redevelopment Authority Director Marisa Lago should become actively involved in this issue from a proactive as well as an enforcement perspective; now therefore be it

Resolved, That Mayor Menino direct Al Wallis, Corporation Counsel, to draft, where appropriate, legislation to update and strengthen the City ordinances and the Boston Zoning Code; and be it further

Resolved, That the City focus on how adult entertainment legislation and zoning should be dealt with from a neighborhood perspective.

The resolution was adopted under suspension of the rules.

LATE-FILED MATTER

The Chair stated that, in absence of objection, one late-filed matter would be added to the Agenda.

No objection being heard, the following matter was added:

ORDER REQUESTING CITY OF BOSTON PARKS AND RECREATION DEPARTMENT CONSIDER FEASIBILITY OF INSTALLING PUBLIC PHONE AT JAMAICA POND TO INSURE SAFETY OF BOSTON RESIDENTS (DOCKET NO. 0337)

Coun. HENNIGAN offered the following:

Whereas, Jamaica Pond is an historic recreational location where many City of Boston residents go to partake in outdoor activities; and

Whereas, There have been extreme weather conditions this winter, resulting in large amounts of snow and ice at Jamaica Pond; and

Whereas, Many people venture onto the ice of the frozen Pond to ice skate or simply "explore"; and

Whereas, With the fluctuating weather conditions, the Pond is partially melted and partially frozen, and the ice consistency is constantly changing; and

Whereas, If someone falls into the Pond or injures himself or herself while visiting Jamaica Pond, there is no way for anyone easily to summons emergency help; now therefore be it

Ordered, That the City of Boston Parks and Recreation Department determine the feasibility of installing a public phone at Jamaica Pond, to insure the safety and well being of the residents of the City of Boston.

Passed under suspension of the rules.

Joseph Moakley; Boston City Councillor Charles C. Yancey (District 4); Marc Goldberg, President, MBRI; and Joice Burwell, Roxbury Neighborhood Council.

Mayor Thomas M. Menino announced a major economic development initiative to create jobs for the future in Boston. The new Boston Emerging Industries Center (BEIC) will be created in the former Digital Equipment Corporation (DEC) facility in Roxbury. "This initiative will foster the growth of new high technology companies which have the potential to expand rapidly and generate many new high wage jobs, if they are given a place to start. The Boston Emerging Industries Center will be that place," said Mayor Menino. The City's purchase of the old DEC facility to serve as a super-catalyst for new companies is a powerful symbol of rebirth for the hard hit Roxbury neighborhood, as well as the City and the region.

The innovative BEIC program is a major component of the City's Empowerment Zone (EZ) application which was recently submitted to the federal government. With the help of local congressional delegation members Senators Edward Kennedy and John Kerry and Congressmen Joseph Moakley and Joseph Kennedy, the City is now lobbying in Washington to call attention to the application's innovative nature and potential for timely positive results.

VISIT OF FIRST LADY HILLARY RODHAM CLINTON RALLY FOR UNIVERSAL HEALTH CARE COVERAGE

Statement of Mayor Thomas M. Menino, July 31, 1994

Right now, there is an army of high powered lobbyists and big-money special interest groups in Washington trying to defeat Universal Health Care coverage. They say they want what's right for average Americans, but all they really want is to preserve the status quo.

The special interests don't care about the nearly 40 million Americans who don't have health insurance. They don't care that two-thirds

ANNOUNCEMENT OF BOSTON EMERGING INDUSTRIES CENTER

Statement of Mayor Thomas M. Menino, July 31, 1994.

The siting of the Boston Emerging Industries Center at the former DEC Plant is great news because it is not a one-time infusion of jobs. We have planted the seeds for the growth of hundreds of new jobs now and in the future.

The Massachusetts Biotechnology Research Institute will manage the Boston Emerging Industries Center. If the M.B.R.I.'s success in Worcester is any indication — 2,200 jobs in 16 new companies; $55 million dollars in new capital attracted to support the new companies; job training programs for local residents; and ## Emerging Industries Center . . .

The Boston Emerging Industries Center represents the first phase of the EZ initiative for which the City has committed the resources to undertake now. "The new companies that will be created in this facility represent the vision for the 21st Century Boston which are starting their lives in the former Roxbury DEC plant," added Marisa Lago, the City's Chief Economic Development Officer.

The first phase of the BEIC will be the establishment of an Innovation Center which will focus on the biotechnology and medical device fields and will be managed by the Massachusetts Biotechnology Research Institute (MBRI). MBRI is a non-profit group started in Worcester to help bolster the faltering local economy through the nurturing of fledgling biotech companies. It has enjoyed phenomenal success during its short eight-year existence with its achievements including:

- Creation of over 2,200 jobs in 16 new firms, representing over $55M in payroll.

- Leveraged $6M in public funding to attract over $55M in private venture capital monies to capitalize new companies.

- Created demand for over 1,000,000 SF of real estate with new construction jobs.

- Established a biotechnology job training program which has already trained 50 previously unemployed people in its first few months of operation.

- Trained over 400 public school teachers in biotechnology and the life sciences.

Due to MBRI's experience, the BEIC will truly be able to hit the ground running on a number of fronts. The immediate benefits for the surrounding community include:

- Generation of 70-80 construction jobs to refit the DEC facility to house an incubator with shared reception and conference facilities for the new companies.

- Over $20M in venture capital funding has already been lined up to support these new companies; these private funds were leveraged by $2M in Federal funds which have already been awarded to the project.

- An education and training program developed by MBRI will be set up and tailored to the needs of the surrounding neighborhood, which includes:

- Entry level training programs aimed specifically at local residents, including displaced DEC and Stride-Rite workers;

- An elementary and secondary life science education program designed to increase interaction between industry and the schools and improve the quality of science education in the local schools; and

- A summer science program for local youth with a summer science camp and summer science/technology internship jobs.

In this way, the BEIC will ensure that residents benefit from the new high-tech jobs of the future. Marc Goldberg, CEO of MBRI, stated, "We hope to replicate the great success that we've had in Worcester and expand on the concept significantly." Congressman Joseph Moakley has been instrumental in helping to make that vision a reality by garnering Federal resources which will allow the BEIC to get under way immediately. Congressman Moakley added, "We've got to roll up our sleeves and work together to create a new industrial base for a new economy — and give families and our children something to look forward to."

However, biotechnology will just be the first of several industry groups to be located in the BEIC. Other emerging fields like advanced materials and environmental industries will also be nurtured in the new facility. Many of these industries have the potential to grow even faster and create even more jobs than biotechnology. Additionally, the City realizes that in order for the BEIC to truly benefit the area residents, the companies that start in the incubator must stay in the area as they grow and employ more people. These "graduating" firms must have appealing places to expand their high growth businesses and the City has readied the Crosstown Industrial Park to be the area for this expansion to take place.

"The BEIC is part of a larger initiative to remake the Crosstown Industrial Park as a new "Gateway to Roxbury" where a mix of new high tech firms and well positioned traditional industries create jobs to carry Roxbury and Boston into the 21st century," added Senator Kennedy. This two-pronged approach will ensure that jobs will be created in a variety of different industries and over a range of skill levels so that benefits can be created for all citizens.

HEALTH CARE . . .

of those people are middle class folks who work hard but can't afford health insurance. All they care about is keeping the same broken health care system in place and collecting their lobbying fees at the end of the day.

Well, we have a message for the special interests: Universal Health Care is the right medicine for Boston and for America.

For some time now, President Clinton, First Lady Hillary Clinton and our own Senator Ted Kennedy have been fighting to get Universal Coverage passed this year. But let me tell you — it's not enough for us to stand behind them. We need to stand up and fight alongside them.

We need to let Congress know that we want nothing less than Universal Coverage and we want it this year! And, as for the right wing Congress who continue to play politics with people's lives, they ought to take another look at their pollster sheets.

Two-thirds of all Americans say that the President should veto any Health Care Plan that does not provide Universal Coverage. The Ame ican people understand what a lot of folks in Washington can't seem to figure out: Health care is a right — not a privilege.

Nowhere is this understood better than right here in Boston. We're surrounded by some of the finest hospitals and medical schools in the entire world. These institutions are on the cutting edge of health care and medicine, and do you know what the heads of Boston's medical schools and teaching hospitals think? They know health care better than any of us and they have endorsed the President's call for Universal Health Care coverage.

When the President was in Boston a few weeks ago, he pointed out that the poor and the rich are covered. It's the middle class and the working poor who are being left behind. There is just no excuse for this. All people should have the comfort of knowing that if you get sick, you will be cared for and you won't lose a shirt off your back paying for it. In the past, it was always places like Boston City Hospital who were there for poor and working people. We want to provide quality, affordable health care for all people in the future, we've got to pass Universal Coverage, but we've also got to protect and preserve public hospitals like B.C.H.

Again, we're not here today to just support Universal Coverage — we're here to join the fight and force Congress to pass it quickly. As a city and as a society, we can not and we will not settle for less. Thank you.

ANNOUNCEMENT . . .

bio-tech and science training for local teachers — then there are truly bright days ahead for the Boston Emerging Industries Center and this community.

Right off the bat, the B.E.I.C. will create 70 to 80 construction jobs to refit the former Digital Plant, and over $20 million dollars in venture capital funding has already been pledged to support the incoming businesses, including $2 million dollars in federal funds.

The B.E.I.C. will offer a job training program targeted at local residents, including those workers who lost their jobs when Digital and Stride Rite abandoned them. And, with an eye toward the future, the center will work with local schools and offer internships to local youth to improve the quality of science and technology education so they will be trained in the skills that will be in demand here when they graduate.

Just as we are preparing area residents and young people for the jobs to come, so too are we preparing for the future of the companies that start here. The Boston Emerging Industries Center is an incubator for new high technology companies that have the potential to expand rapidly and generate many new high wage jobs.

In order to offer long term economic stability to these companies and the local community, the City of Boston has prepared the Crosstown Industrial Park for those "Graduating" companies that will need additional space to grow and expand. This will keep the companies that start in the incubator in the area as they grow and employ more people.

Since the day that the DEC Plant was first abandoned, this site has been a symbol to the people of this community — and in fact, all the people of Boston — of the seemingly endless stream of bad economic news that plagues urban neighborhoods.

In truth, a number of businesses were willing to take up residence here, but I wanted more than just another business to meet today's demands for jobs. I wanted an institution that would help lead this neighborhood and our city long into the economic future.

So I am proud of what we have accomplished. The Boston Emerging Industries Center has all the necessary ingredients to create new business and new jobs and to keep them in this community for years to come. Equally important, today, the City of Boston has set an example for the entire country on how to bring jobs and economic opportunity to urban centers today and in the future.

The Boston Emerging Industries Center was a major piece of the city's Empowerment Zone Proposal, but we decided to go ahead with it with or without federal empowerment zone funds.

So, if the federal government wants to see how a real partnership between the public and private sector can generate the resources to prepare students, train workers, and create good jobs for today and tomorrow, I say come to Boston!

There are many people who deserve thanks for this accomplishment, but I think everyone would agree that special recognition must be given to Senator Ted Kennedy and Congressman Joe Moakley. Senator Kennedy's career is a lesson in how to create jobs and economic hope for people. As Mayor, I appreciate the support that he and Congressman Moakley have shown for this project and for their consistent ability to deliver when the people of Boston need them.

I also want to give proper credit to Senator John Kerry and Congressman Joseph Kennedy — two more very effective and committed friends in Washington who can always be counted on to stand up and fight for the people of Boston.

Finally, I want to thank Joice Burwell and the Roxbury Neighborhood Council, and Marisa Lago, Chief Economic Development Officer for the City of Boston. And on behalf of the people of Boston, I want to thank and welcome Marc Goldberg and the Massachusetts Biotechnology Research Institute to Roxbury.

NEW LOANS FOR SMALL BUSINESS OWNERS

The Small Business Administration is announcing a new low documentation loan program meant to get loans of under $100,000 into the hands of the small business community.

The program was announced by Mayor Thomas M. Menino and Senator Ted Kennedy during a news conference July 24, at the Centre House of Pizza on Washington Street.

Mayor Menino told the audience, "This new program makes applying for an SBA loan easier than it's ever been. The application process has been simplified, and the SBA is promising a rapid response to applications. This is the kind of program which shows the small business owner that government supports enterprise. Thousands of business owners will be able to expand, renovate, and hire more employees."

The program, called LowDoc, streamlines the loan application process for guaranteed loans under $100,000. The approval process focuses on character, credit, and business experience. Under LowDoc SBA can guarantee up to 90 percent of a loan made by a commercial lender to an existing business, a business purchase, or a business start-up.

Any small business eligible under the regular 7(a) loan can apply under LowDoc if its average annual sales for the previous three years are five million dollars or less and it employs 100 or less, including affiliates.

For more information business owners should call the Small Business Answer Desk at 1-800-8-ASK-SBA.

COMMUNITY SERVICE KEY TOPIC AT CORPORATE VOLUNTEER MEETING

The Corporate Volunteer Council of Greater Boston (CVCGB), an alliance of 40 corporations and institutions collectively representing some 60,000 employees, held its 13th annual meeting at the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston on June 24th. The topic of the program was "Perspectives on Community Service" and included guest speakers Margaret Boles Fitzgerald, of Hill, Holliday, who represents the CVCGB on the Massachusetts Community Service Commission; and Sharon Bassett, of the Massachusetts Department of Education, who spoke about the relationship between the Corporation for National and Community Service and the Massachusetts Department of Education. Other perspectives on community service learning were also presented.

A locally funded model, YouthBuild Boston, which has been recognized at both the state and national levels as an outstanding model of community service learning, was represented by Gary Daffin. Mr.

Daffin was accompanied by clients of YouthBuild Boston who addressed the group about the personal experiences and successes they achieved through participation in the program.

Another locally funded model, the Lincoln Filene Center's Community Service Learning Program in Boston Public Schools was represented by Pat Barnicle. The program is a training model and facilitator of school-based community service learning. Ms. Barnicle described one of the 65 Boston public schools projects of 1993-1994, West Roxbury High School's Book Buddies, which brings together high school and grade school students through reading.

The Corporate Volunteer Council of Greater Boston encourages cooperation and participation in public-private volunteer partnerships in addition to strengthening and promoting corporate volunteerism. Member firms are represented by almost every major industry: advertising, architecture, banking, communications, education, entertainment, financial services, health care, high tech, insurance, law, manufacturing, real estate and utilities.

EDY'S GRAND ICE CREAM ENCOURAGES CHILDREN IN SUMMER READING PROGRAMS

Edy's Grand Ice Cream has joined with the Boston Public Library in urging children to participate in the Library's Ticket to Read summer reading program.

Focusing on the theme of travel, transportation, and cultural diversity, the Ticket to Read program is being offered to children at 20 of the Boston Public Library neighborhood branches and at the Central Library in Copley Square during July and August. Programs vary among the sites and include reading and sharing stories, listening to storytellers, puppet and magic shows, songs, films, games, and craft activities. Each participating child receives a packet which includes posters, bookmarks, reading logs, and games.

Recognizing the importance of reading within children's summer activities, Edy's Grand Ice Cream is donating a $25 bookstore gift certificate to each of the 21 Library reading programs. Children who successfully complete their summer reading program will be eligible to participate in a drawing for the gift certificate; these children also will be eligible to enter the drawing for a grand prize of a $500 savings bond, also provided by Edy's.

Edy's Grand Ice Cream is the eastern arm of Dreyer's Grand Ice Cream, Inc. which was established in Oakland, California, in 1928, and is now the second largest ice cream company in the nation. On May 23, 1994, Edy's entered the Greater Boston market, offering an extensive line of packaged ice cream products through Star Market, Stop & Shop, Purity Supreme, Roche Brothers, and Shaw's supermarkets. Dari Farms of Whitman, Mass., is Edy's local distributor.

KAJI ASO'S NILE RIVER EXPEDITION ON FILM AT BPL

A documentary film, "Kaji Aso Studio on the Nile River," depicting noted Japanese artist and world traveler Kaji Aso's 1993 kayaking expedition on the Nile River, will be shown in the Rabb Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library in Copley Square on Wednesday evening, August 17, at 6:30 p.m.

The documentary was made by a Japanese film crew that accompanied Aso and other artists on their river journey from Khartoum, Sudan, to Cairo, Egypt. The film is narrated in Japanese, but because the story is told mainly through visual images accompanied by music, it is easily understood by English-speaking audiences.

The film, which is being shown in conjunction with a month-long exhibition of paintings, watercolors, drawings, photographs, and poems at the Central Library that were inspired by Kaji Aso's exploration, will be introduced by Kate Finnegan, a member of the expedition.

Kaji Aso, who is also a professional tenor and poet, has led previous expeditions down the Mississippi (1982), Seine (1987), and Volga (1989) Rivers. He is a well-known and respected artist in Japan (where his works are listed as National Property) and the United States and his awards for cultural contributions include Distinguished Bostonian (1980), Honorary Citizen of New Orleans (1983), and most recently a Proclamation of Recognition from Mayor Thomas Menino (1993).

Both the exhibition and film are free and open to the public. The exhibit can be viewed in the Great Hall Monday through Thursday from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. and on Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For information, please call the Boston Public Library at 536-5400, Ext. 336.

NORTH ATLANTIC BALLET FOR CHILDREN AT BPL

"In the Playroom," an original ballet for children choreographed by Larisa Luvishchuk, director of the Youth Program of the North Atlantic Ballet, will be presented in the Rabb Lecture Hall of the Boston Public Library in Copley Square on Tuesday morning, Aug. 16, beginning at 11 a.m.

Performed to the music from "The Nutcracker" composed especially for children by Tchaikovsky, the curtain rises on children playing together in a 19th-century nursery who create dances that magically transform the nursery to a stage.

Balletic versions of the composer's lyrical pieces, "Morning Prayer," "The Hobby Horse," "Little Mother," "March of the Wood Soldiers," "The Sick Doll," "The Doll's Funeral," and "The Nutcracker," unfold before your eyes to reflect the joys, sorrows, fears, and excitements of the children's daily lives.

The 45-minute program is intended for children 5 years of age and older and is free and open to the public. Space is limited and groups can be accommodated. Infrared assistive listening devices are available for hard-of-hearing children. For information, please call the Children's Room of the Boston Public Library at 617/536-5400, Ext. 328.

"GEORGE ELIOT:
ADVENTURES OF A PSEUDONYM" AT BPL

Rosemarie Bodenheimer, a professor of English at Boston College, will discuss "George Eliot: The Adventures of a Pseudonym" at a noon-me Brown Bag Seminar in the Mezzanine Conference Room of the Boston Public Library in Copley Square on Tuesday, August 16.

Mary Ann Evans changed her name many times during the course of her life. The most famous change was, of course, her adoption of the pseudonym George Eliot. During this program Professor Bodenheimer will cover the first three years of Evans's life as a pseudonymous novelist and suggest how they shaped the brilliant depictions of gossip and rumor in her novels. Her reactions and reflections during this period give us one way to glimpse the human complexity of her career and the ways she transformed painful personal experience into fiction.

A specialist in 19th-century British novels, Professor Bodenheimer is the author of the soon-to-be published book The Real Life of Mary Ann Evans: George Eliot, Her Letters and Fiction. She is also the author of The Politics of a Story in Victorian Social Fiction.

The program is free and open to the public. For more information, please call the Boston Public Library at 536-5400, Ext. 339.

SKIN CANCER

When the Sun Is No Longer Fun

The sun gives life — but it can also be a deadly force. Exposure to the sun is responsible for more than 90 percent of skin cancers. This year more than 500,000 Americans will develop some form of skin cancer, and between 7,000 and 8,000 will die from it. In fact, one out of every seven Americans will develop the disease during his or her lifetime.

Recent research indicates that with consistent, long-term exposure to the sun and intense periods of exposure can be equally harmful. The good news, however, is that almost every type of skin cancer is preventable.

CONTRACTS AWARDED WITHOUT ADVERTISING

The Mayor has approved the awarding of contracts without advertising, based on the following communications:

POLICE DEPARTMENT

C. 1163-94 March 22, 1994.

Legal Services

Dear Mayor Menino:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to William Wingert, an attorney, located at 44 Princeton Street, Boston, Massachusetts, 02128, for legal services. This contract is exempt from the provisions of M.G.L. c. 30B and is awarded under the authority of the Boston City Charter.

Under the terms of the contract, Mr. Wingert will serve as a Law Clerk for the Office of Administrative Hearings under the direct supervision of Superintendent Joseph C. Carter. Mr. Wingert was chosen, after being interviewed by the City of Boston's Corporation Counsel, Albert Wallis, for his experience and expertise in the field of labor hearings and disciplinary proceedings.

Mr. Wingert is uniquely qualified to provide these services because of his expertise and experience in labor hearings and proceedings. With Mr. Wingert's assistance, the Boston Police Department will be able to process a backlog of decisions on disciplinary hearings resulting from a significant number of cases being heard by a single Hearing Officer.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $8,000, to be paid at the rate of $25 per hour, which I have determined to be reasonable.

The period of this contract shall be February 23, 1994, through April 20, 1994. Funding for this contract shall be charged against appropriation 011 211 0211 PD01 0290.

Due to the professional nature of the services involved, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

This contract is being submitted late as a result of the urgency to start Mr. Wingert's services before the processing of contract documents.

Respectfully, Paul F. Evans, Police Commissioner.

C. 1164-94 March 22, 1994.

Dear Mayor Menino:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to Timothy F. Cullen, an attorney, located at 36 Covington Street, Boston, Massachusetts, 02127, for legal services. This contract is exempt from the provisions of M.G.L. c. 30B and is awarded under the authority of the Boston City Charter.

Under the terms of the contract, Mr. Cullen will serve as a Law Clerk for the Office of Administrative Hearings under the direct supervision of Superintendent Joseph C. Carter. Mr. Cullen was chosen, after being interviewed by the City of Boston's Corporation Counsel, Albert Wallis, for his experience and expertise in the field of labor hearings and disciplinary proceedings.

Mr. Cullen is uniquely qualified to provide these services because of his expertise and experience in labor law. With Mr. Cullen's assistance, the Boston Police Department will be able to process a backlog of decisions on disciplinary hearings resulting from a significant number of cases being heard by a single Hearing Officer.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $8,000, to be paid at the rate of $25 per hour, which I have determined to be reasonable.

The period of this contract shall be February 23, 1994, through April 20, 1994. Funding for this contract shall be charged against appropriation 011 211 0211 PD01 0290.

Due to the professional nature of the services involved, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

This contract is being submitted late as a result of the urgency to start Mr. Cullen's services before the processing of contract documents.

Respectfully, Paul F. Evans, Police Commissioner.

C. 2824-94 February 11, 1994.

Office Lease

Dear Mayor Menino:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to award a contract pursuant to the authority of M.G.L. chapter 30B, section 16e2 for the lease of 600 square feet of office space for use by the department's Vietnamese American Collaborative Program. The contract will be awarded to the Vietnamese American Civic Association (VACA) of 1486 Dorchester Avenue, Dorchester, Massachusetts 02122.

The lease of this facility is part of a Vietnamese Police Collaborative Program Grant given to the Boston Police Department by the Massachusetts Office of Refugees and Immigrants (MORI). This program, which is being piloted in two cities within the Commonwealth, is in its second year of funding. The goal of this program is to improve the relationship and understanding between the Police and the Vietnamese population. Under the terms of the year two grant, the department must continue to lease the 1486 Dorchester Avenue office site which is a familiar and comfortable meeting place for the Vietnamese population.

I have determined that advertising would serve no useful purpose given the unique qualities this location provides. The 1486 Dorchester Avenue site was chosen as it was the only location available which met the grant's specifications and mandated requirements. The grant necessitates that the office location be situated within the Field's Corner area, have visibility from the street and be a location which provides both comfort and familiarity to the Vietnamese Population. This location meets and exceeds these requirements as it offers visibility, office space, a large meeting room and classroom facilities for the reasonable price of $500 per month.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $6,000, which I have determined to be reasonable. The term of this contract shall be October 1, 1993, through September 30, 1994, which coincides with the term of the grant.

Given the unique qualities of this location in meeting the desired grant specifications, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose. This contract is submitted late due to the late acceptance of the grant's funds by the Boston City Council.

Respectfully,
Paul F. Evans,
Acting Police Commissioner.

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT
C. 19150-94
February 1, 1994.
Lead Paint Abatement

Dear Mayor Menino:

Pursuant to a vote of the Public Facilities Commission on December 23, 1993, I respectfully request Your Honor's written permission to dispense with public advertisement and award a sole source contract to Ecumenical Social Action Committee, a non-profit corporation, with offices at 3134 Washington Street, Jamaica Plain, MA 02130. Under the terms of this contract, the contractor will administer a lead paint abatement program for residences of low to moderate income households in the City of Boston. This contract is exempt from M.G.L. c. 30B, as it is a grant agreement with a non-profit corporation to provide support and stimulation.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $35,000, which I have determined to be reasonable for the services to be performed. The submission of this request for approval has been delayed due to lengthy negotiations associated with the scope of service. The term of this contract shall be from January 1, 1994, to December 31, 1994. Funds for this contract shall come from those received under the Community Development Block Grant program.

This sole source contract will provide project management funding to administer a Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency (MHFA) Lead Paint Abatement Program through the Ecumenical Social Action Committee. The contractor is the only non-profit agency approved by the MHFA to provide these essential services. The contractor shall fulfill all of the requirements of a Local Rehabilitation Agency as set forth by the MHFA.

As this is a negotiated contract at a reasonable cost, based upon an extensive program and proposal review, I believe that public advertising would serve to useful purpose. I, therefore, request permission to dispense with inviting sealed bids in the City Record, pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code, St. 4, s. 5.

Respectfully,
Mary Nee,
Director.

Pursuant to a vote of the Public Facilities Commission on December 10, 1993, I respectfully request Your Honor's written permission to award a contract to the Boston Housing Authority with offices at 52 Chauncy Street, Boston, MA 02111. Under the terms of this contract, the contractor will make security improvements to the Maverick, Gallivan, Orient Heights and Whittier Housing Developments and abate lead paint at BHA Housing Developments. This contract is exempt from M.G.L. c. 30B, as it is an agreement with an intergovernmental agency.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $1,200,000, which I have determined to be reasonable for the services to be performed. The term of this contract shall be January 28, 1994, to June 30, 1995. The submission of this request for approval has been delayed due the time required of the vendor to return the contract documentation. Funds for this contract shall come from those received under the Community Development Block Grant program.

As this is a negotiated contract at a reasonable cost, I believe that believe advertising would serve no useful purpose. I, therefore, request permission to dispense with inviting sealed bids in the City Record, pursuant to authority granted under the City of Boston Code, St. 4, s. 5.

Emergency Repairs

RE: Emergency Steam Tube Bundle Replacement at Central Maintenance Facility, Project No. 6013.

Dear Mayor Menino:

The above referenced location is owned by the Public Works Department of the City of Boston. On Thursday, October 14, 1993, the Public Facilities Department of the City of Boston was notified by the Central Maintenance Building Custodian, Thomas Grant, that there was no heat in the building. A site visit revealed the steam tube bundle which receives the steam that is used to heat the building is cracked in several places and is inoperable. An emergency waiver has been approved by the Division of Capital Planning & Operations (DCPO), in accordance with M.G.L. c. 30, s. 39M, to waive the advertising that would otherwise be required by M.G.L. c. 149, s. 44J. Emergency calls have been made to qualified vendors with the City of Boston. The results are as follows:

Patrick J. Kennedy & Sons, Inc., $26,030.
York International, $31,050.
The bid of Patrick J. Kennedy & Sons, Inc. is the lowest eligible and responsible general bid on this project and is within our range of our estimate for the cost of these services. It is my opinion that the cost is reasonable.

Your Honor's written permission is requested to award this work to Patrick J. Kennedy & Sons, Inc. with offices at 486 Albany Street, Boston, MA 02118, in an amount not to exceed $26,030, which I have determined to be reasonable for the work to be performed. The Contractor shall commence work forthwith upon execution of this contract and work shall be completed within 120 calendar days from the date of execution.

Respectfully,
Mary Nee,
Director.
C. 2198-94

RE: Emergency Boiler Replacement at Engine 56, Project No. 6223.

Dear Mayor Menino:

The above referenced location is owned by the Boston Fire Department of the City of Boston. At 2:00 p.m. on October 14, 1993, the Public Facilities of the City of Boston was notified by Superintendent Dennis Flynn of the Boston Fire Department that the boiler at One Ashley Street in East Boston was inoperable. A site visit revealed the boiler is cracked in several places and will have to be replaced.

On October 18, 1993, an emergency waiver of public bidding laws was granted by the Division of Capital Planning & Operations and the following contractors, normally engaged in this type of service, were called to view and bid on this work. The results are as follows:

J. A. Marino Automatic Heating Co. $27,000.
Patrick J. Kennedy & Sons, $29,330.
Davison Company, Inc., $36,240.
J. A. Marino Automatic Heating Company the lowest eligible and responsible bid.

This contract is procured pursuant to and in accordance with M.G.L. c. 149, s. 44A-J and is therefore, exempt from the process of M.G.L. c. 30B.

The submission of this contract is late due to the nature of emergency projects. These types of projects require immediate attention, thereby, making it necessary for the vendor to begin work prior to the execution of the contract.

Your Honor's written permission is requested to award this work to J. A. Marino Automatic Heating Company with offices at 203-205 South Street, Jamaica Plain, MA in an amount not to exceed $27,000, which I have determined to be reasonable for this work to be performed. The term of this contract shall be October 15, 1993, to October 27, 1993.

Respectfully,
Mary Nee,
Director.

This Contract is awarded pursuant to the provisions of M.G.L. c. 30, s. 39(M)(a) and is exempt from the provisions of M.G.L. c. 30(B).

The above captioned seawall is owned by the City of Boston. On August 10, 1993, the Public Facilities Department of the City of Boston was notified by Mr. Joseph Faletta, Director of Long Island Facilities, that the seawall at Long Island had failed and a twenty-foot breach had been created, causing serious erosion to the island. The City immediately sought to alleviate this condition by seeking design services for emergency repairs.

On October 19, 1993, the breach at the seawall had expanded to 200 feet. This presented an emergency situation threatening the structural integrity of the island and an immediate danger to users of the island.

After consultation with the Federal Emergency Administration Authority (FEAA), the City sought a bid, without competitive bids pursuant to the authority of c. 30 s. 39(M)(a) for emergency repairs, from R.D.A. Construction Corporation. R.D.A. Construction Corporation was solicited because it was performing seawall restoration adjacent to Long Island, at Moon Island and its ability to immediately mobilize and perform the emergency marine repairs made it the most practicable vendor to conduct the remedial measures.

Demolition of Buildings

RE: Emergency Demolition of Building at 209-219 Roxbury Street, Roxbury, MA 02120, Project No. A1830A.

Dear Mayor Menino:

The above referenced location is owned by the Real Property Department of the City of Boston. On September 21, 1993, the Public Facilities Department of the City of Boston was notified by the Building Inspector of the Inspectional Services Department of the City of Boston that the building at 209-219 Roxbury Street, Roxbury, MA, was in danger of collapsing due to a recent fire that had severely damaged the structure of the building. This emergency presented an immediate danger to the public and to users of the area and had to be demolished.

An emergency waiver of public advertising was approved by the Commonwealth's Division of Capital Planning and Operations (DCPO), in accordance with M.G.L. c.30, s. 39M, to waive the advertising that would otherwise be required. On September 22, 1993, the following contractors normally engaged in this type of service, were called to view and bid on this work. The results are as follows:

Wayne & Company, Incorporated, $46,227.
Mystic Wrecking Company, $67,500.
James R. Morgan d/b/a Jay-Mor Enterprises,
No Bid Submitted.

James Grant Company, No Bid Submitted.

The bid of Wayne & Company, Incorporated, located at 40 Sharp Street, Hingham, MA 02403, is the lowest eligible and responsible general bid on this project and is within the range of our estimate for the cost of these services. It is my opinion that the cost is reasonable.

Your Honor's written permission is requested to award a contract to Wayne & Company, Incorporated, the lowest eligible and responsible general bidder on this project, in an amount not to exceed $46,227. The Contractor commenced work on September 22, 1993, and completed work on October 1, 1993.

The submission of this contract is late due to the nature of emergency projects. These types of projects require immediate attention, thereby, making it necessary for the vendor to begin work prior to the execution of the contract.

Respectfully,

Mary Nee,
Director.

On October 18, 1993, the Public Facilities Department of the City of Boston was notified by one of their project managers that 241 Blue Hill Avenue has an exposed basement due to a demolition at an adjoining building. This creates an extreme emergency because the exposed parts of the building are a hazard to the occupants and to the public.

An emergency waiver of public advertising was granted by the Division of Capital Planning & Operations. On October 19, 1993, the following contractors, normally engaged in this type of service, were called to view and bid on this work. The results are as follows:

Faletra Brothers, $15,460.
Camdele Construction, $19,570.
D. Clancy & Sons, $23,800.

This contract is procured pursuant to and in accordance with M.G.L. c. 30, s. 39M and is, therefore, exempt from the process of M.G.L. c. 30B.

The submission of this contract is late due to the nature of emergency projects. These types of projects require immediate attention, thereby, making it necessary for the vendor to begin work prior to the execution of the contract.

Your Honor's written permission is requested to award this work to Faletra Brothers, Inc., the lowest, eligible and responsible bidder, with offices at 115 Providence Street, Hyde Park, MA 02136. The amount of this award is not to exceed $15,460, which I have determined to be reasonable for this work to be performed. The terms of this contract shall be from November 9, 1993, to November 19, 1993.

Respectfully,

Mary Nee,
Director.

R. D. A. Construction Corporation submitted a contract proposal price of $88,450 for the temporary repairs and restoration of the seawall, which proposal price was considered reasonable by the architect furnishing the emergency design services.

The cost of these services shall be reimbursed by the City by FEAA.

The permanent repairs to the seawall shall be procured pursuant to the provisions of M.G.L. c. 30, s. 39(M).

BOSTON MEANS BUSINESS

THE MAYOR'S LINE

During his first eight months in office, Mayor Thomas M. Menino has taken significant steps in improving Boston's business climate, beginning with his appointment of Marisa Lago, Boston's new Chief Economic Development Officer. The former General Counsel to the Economic Development Corporation of New York City, Marisa Lago brings a wide breadth of business and public administration experience to her role here in Boston. As the City's development chief, she has a major part to play in helping businesses in Boston. She strongly believes that government must do a better job of creating an atmosphere that allows businesses to flourish, and the City must encourage the continued growth of small businesses, which contribute so significantly to the quality of life in Boston's neighborhoods.

Mayor Menino has translated his interest in strengthening and supporting the neighborhood business districts into action. In Mattapan Square, ground has been broken on a $1.9 million reconstruction of the neighborhood business district, including the installation of new walkways, lighting, trees, a pedestrian plaza, and Browne Fund sponsored public art work. Most recently, Mayor Menino has presented Boston's application for a $94 million Empowerment Zone to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. This distinctive blueprint for economy recovery charts a course to create more jobs for Boston residents and provide more services and technical assistance to help our residents and businesses compete.

The creation of the Mayor's Office of Business Services (Hotline number 635-5555), which reports directly to Marisa Lago, is one of the first steps toward reaching out to businesses and changing the business climate in Boston.

MAYOR MENINO APPOINTS KEVIN CHAPMAN AS DORCHESTER'S NEIGHBORHOOD COORDINATOR

Mayor Thomas M. Menino has announced the appointment of Kevin H. Chapman as the Neighborhood Coordinator for Dorchester in the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services. Chapman will facilitate communication between residents and the Mayor through extensive involvement in the day-to-day issues facing the community.

A lifelong resident of Dorchester, Chapman is experienced in the marketing industry and the concerns of small businesses. Mayor Menino said, "I've made it clear that I want an administration that is responsive and 'customer-friendly.' Kevin knows Dorchester, and he knows the issues that small businesses face. His experiences make him well-prepared to respond to the concerns of Dorchester's residents and local business owners."

Chapman has already begun work in his new position. He said, "I'm looking forward to this opportunity to work with community residents and local business owners. As a lifelong resident of Dorchester, I am committed to helping my neighbors and improving the quality of life in our community."

Chapman can be reached at the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services by calling 635-3485. To improve the organization of the neighborhood districts and ensure accountability, the neighborhood districts are aligned with City Council districts. Chapman's jurisdiction coincides with that of City Council District 3.

MAYOR CHOOSES SOUTH BOSTON COORDINATOR

Mayor Thomas M. Menino has chosen Thomas Tinlin as his new neighborhood coordinator for South Boston and the South End. Tinlin, of South Boston, will be facilitating communication between residents and the Mayor in his position in the Office of Neighborhood Services.

Mayor Menino says, "Tommy brings his working knowledge of the neighborhoods to city government. He's been active in youth programs and in the cleanup of many business areas. He's shown a concern for what goes on where he lives and I'm pleased he's accepted the position."

Tinlin is a lifelong resident of South Boston. He is a graduate of Christopher Columbus High School and currently attends Boston University.

Tinlin is a member of the Castle Island Association. One city project he recently volunteered for was Mayor Menino's "Broom to Bloom" campaign which focused on cleaning up streets, sidewalks, and vacant lots, and planting flowers and trees.

Tinlin has already started work in his new position. He says, "As a lifelong resident of South Boston, I am familiar with the need to have a direct link to City Hall and I look forward to these new opportunities. I will advocate for residents and small business and will be on hand to ensure that all City services and programs are available and accessible to improve the quality of life."

Tinlin can be reached at the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services by calling 635-3485.

Settling in to his duties at City Hall, Edwards said, "I'm committed not only to helping my Mattapan neighbors, but also to ensuring that all City services and programs are open and accessible. I'm looking forward to the challenges ahead."

To improve the organization of the neighborhood districts and ensure accountability, the neighborhood districts are aligned with City Council districts. As the Coordinator for Mattapan, Edwards' jurisdiction coincides with that of City Council District 4. He can be reached at the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services by calling 635-3485.

MAYOR ANNOUNCES
SCHOOLS

Mayor Thomas M. Menino has announced that Boston has been awarded 1.2 million dollars in local partnership funding under the federal School-To-Work Opportunities Act. The money will allow the City to coordinate a more extensive school-to-work program in Boston.

The Mayor says, "This money will allow Boston to further educational reforms and initiatives. It will help to ensure that every Boston public school student has the opportunity to develop his or her potential, and to make a significant contribution to our city. The grant is the culmination of years of hard work by many different people and groups. I'd specifically like to thank Senator Edward Kennedy, the Private Industry Council, and School Committee member Bill Spring for all the time they invested to see this process through."

The 1.2 million dollars will be used by the Boston Public Schools and the Boston Private Industry Council to expand school-to-work programs. Three years ago, a school to jobs program was set up called ProTech. The new allocation will allow Boston to expand the number of ProTech youth apprentices from 220 to 400 in the coming school year. Two industry groups are being added immediately (Utilities and Communications and Environmental Services), and Boston will begin outreach to others.

Participating partners in the school-to-work program include American Express, the New England Medical Center, the Bank of Boston, John Hancock Financial Services, Northeastern University, Bunker Hill and Roxbury Community Colleges, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, the Boston School Committee, and community-based organizations.

Boston was among 265 cities and towns nationwide which applied for the local partnership funding. Boston was among 15 communities chosen to receive the grant money.

RECYCLING IN BOSTON INCREASES

up 13 percent*

Mayor Thomas M. Menino has announced that curbside recycling by Boston residents increased 13.5 percent in July compared with the same period a year ago. Overall pickups were up 10.6 percent last month compared with July 1993. The increase is believed to be due to the expanded recycling program implemented by the City this summer.

The Mayor feels new initiatives have made the difference. "The figures show that residents have responded to more regular recycling pickup. We implemented weekly curbside pickups this summer and that gave residents the chance to make recycling part of their regular routines. Weekly pickups mean convenience for people who live in Boston. And when recycling is convenient, residents are more apt to go along with the program."

Residents in all neighborhoods can now put out newspaper, magazines, and corrugated cardboard each week on trash day. Bundles are placed curbside before 7:00 a.m. on days when trash is picked up. Drop-off recycling locations continue to be used on select days in some neighborhoods: Allston/Brighton, Mission Hill, Roslindale, South End, Charlestown, East Boston, and Dorchester. The items received at the drop-off locations vary, but generally include glass, metal, plastic, telephone books, office paper, and junk mail.

Figures compiled by the City of Boston Recycling Office show 606 tons of recyclables collected in July at curbsides or drop-off locations. Figures show above average curbside participation by residents of Jamaica Plain, Brighton, South Boston, and West Roxbury. The largest amount of materials collected at drop-off sites were in the Allston/Brighton neighborhood (almost 15 tons), and in the area of Mission Hill (more than 13 tons). Residents who have questions about the City of Boston's recycling program can call a City Hall hotline between 9:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. weekdays: 635-4959.

NEW BOSTON OFFICE OF BUSINESS SERVICES CREATES BUSINESS-FRIENDLY ENVIRONMENT

*By Douglas Housman
Director*

Office Of Business Services

Friendly customer service, one-stop shopping, direct assistance — one would not usually characterize Boston's business climate with any of these words. But this is not business as usual.

Since taking office, Boston Mayor Thomas Menino has changed the face of doing business by incorporating a customer-oriented approach to city government. One example of this innovative approach at work is the Office of Business Services. With the creation of this office, the Mayor has kept his campaign promise to make Boston a business-friendly environment.

Equipped with a 635-5555 hotline number, we are open for business. The calls have been coming in from business districts throughout the city: from Mattapan Square to East Boston, from Allston-Brighton to Charlestown. Acting as a liaison between businesses and city agencies, this office is working to resolve the issues that confront businesses in Boston today. Gone are the days of a business person having to make many calls, visit different city departments, and yet have little to show for their efforts. By calling the 635-5555 hotline number, a business person will be able to take advantage of the one-stop shopping that we provide.

Since the Office of Business Services has been open, we have been able to assist more than 500 "customers" and help retain more than 500 jobs. Some of the services this office provides include the following:

- Locating new sites for businesses in Boston;
- Working closely with public and private agencies to identify technical and financial programs available to businesses;
- Providing information on starting up a business in Boston;

- Facilitating development projects between businesses and city agencies; and

- Assisting with the zoning, permitting, and licensing process.

This office has initiated and taken a major role in the creation of a site-finding group to help match potential employers with available properties in Boston. The group is an excellent example of interdepartmental cooperation within the Menino administration that puts useful information in the hands of business people.

This office is also working hard to ensure that the business community receives prompt, courteous, and professional assistance from Boston's regulatory agencies. Our office now handles many calls regarding the zoning and permitting process and helps walk businesses through the currently complicated and lengthy process, a process that often scares businesses away from Boston. We are gathering valuable insights about the system and preparing to work with pro bono consultants and others to ensure that the process is shortened and improved.

The following are examples of just some of the businesses we have assisted:

Costas Provisions — This $28 million, 40-employee operation located in Roxbury needed assistance in securing the permits and utilities necessary to expand its operation within Boston. Working closely with the two principals, this office broke through a bureaucratic logjam at the Inspectional Services Department getting it its permits in time to secure a purchase of a new building on Southampton Street. We also work diligently to provide utility access to the site so they could operate through the past winter.

Today's Bread — When this popular restaurant on Centre Street in Jamaica Plain came to us looking for more working capital, the company was immediately brought to the attention of several local banks. As a result of our efforts, they received a new loan for their fledgling business and were able to stay in operation

New England Seafood International, Inc. — This 120-employee, Roxbury-based company was on its way out of Boston until this office intervened to ensure the company could receive truck access to a new Dorchester site and that company employees could benefit from necessary neighborhood policing.

The Continental Shoppe — The Office of Business Services answered call for assistance from this small business by putting it in touch with a Community Development Corporation in the Small Business Loan Fund. The owner of this dog-rooming kennel received a small business loan to renovate a new facility and allow him to stay in business.

Resolving these issues and many more has meant working closely with city departments and agencies, merchant and neighborhood associations, banks, community development corporations, utility companies, and a whole host of other entities that provide services and assistance to the business community. By focusing on customer service, efficiency, and public service, we have removed many of the barriers to commerce and job creation.

Businesses throughout Boston, from large corporations to small mom-and-pops, provide stability and strength to the community. Strong businesses translate into jobs for the residents of our city. By opening the Office of Business Services, Mayor Menino has sent the message that Boston means business and Boston means jobs.

HAWAII'S FIRST LADY "REACHES OUT TO READ" AT BCH

Boston City Hospital's "Reach Out And Read" program hosted the First Lady of Hawaii, Mrs. Lynne Waihee. Mrs. Waihee reads along with South End resident Jolice Seide. Mrs. Waihee visited the BCH Reading Program to gather information and speak with BCH's experts on ways of improving Hawaii's literacy program and beginning a similar program at hospitals in Hawaii.

The Reach And Read Program gives parents of at-risk children the information, encouragement, and material they need to make books part of their children's lives. The program integrates parent education about literacy development into regular pediatric care for children between the ages of six months and five years, taking advantage of regularly scheduled well-child visits to reach parents of young children before the school system can.

Reach Out And Read was begun by Boston City Hospital's Department of Pediatrics in 1990. The program strives to engage children with books and learning by incorporating the importance of reading into their clinic and hospital visits. In the clinic waiting areas, volunteers engage the children with books and reading, looking and labeling, reading aloud, and listening to children read. Later, in the examining room, the pediatrician or nurse practitioner introduces an age appropriate children's book into the interview, commenting on the child's first response and offering information on the child's development. Finally, at each visit, the child is invited to take home a book. For many parents, the fact that the doctor gives the child a book communicates the importance of reading more effectively than any amount of explanation.

For more information on the program or to become a volunteer reader, contact Kathleen Fitzgerald Rice at 534-4765.

Demolition of Buildings

C. 19155-94
January 26, 1994.

RE: Emergency Demolition of 129 West Broadway, South Boston, MA, Project No. A2015A. Dear Mayor Menino:

The above referenced building is owned by the Real Property Department of the City of Boston. On December 27, 1993, the Public Facilities Department of the City of Boston was notified by the Boston Fire Department about a fire at the above mentioned location. The Building Inspector from the Inspectional Services Department of the City of Boston determined that the fire severely damaged the structure of the building. The Public Facilities Department was ordered to immediately demolish the building. This emergency situation is a danger to the public and to the users of the area.

An emergency waiver of public bidding laws was granted by the Division of Capital Planning and Operations. On December 27, 1993, the following contractor, normally engaged in this type of service, was called to view and bid on this work. The results are as follows:

James G. Grant Company, $36,000.

James G. Grant Company is the first eligible and responsible bidder to respond to this emergency.

This contract is procured pursuant to and in accordance with M.G.L. c. 149, s. 44A-J and is, therefore, exempt from the process of M.G.L. c. 30B.

The submission of this contract is late due to the nature of emergency projects. These types of projects require immediate attention, thereby, making it necessary for the vendor to begin work prior to the execution of the contract.

Your Honor's written permission is requested to award this work to James G. Grant Company, with offices at 28 Wolcott Street, Readville, MA 02137. The amount of this award is not to exceed $36,000, which I have determined to be reasonable for this work to be performed. The term of this contract shall be from December 29, 1993, to May 15, 1994.

Respectfully,

Mary Nee,
Director.

RE: Emergency Tank Installation At Area A Police Station D-4, Project No. 6021. Dear Mayor Menino:

The above referenced building is owned by the Police Department of the City of Boston ("BPD"). On November 13, 1993, the Public Facilities Department of the City of Boston ("PFD") was notified by the Police Department that an underground storage tank had ruptured due to an explosion. The explosion caused the release of approximately fifteen hundred gallons of gasoline into the ground and sewer system. This emergency was a danger to the public and to the users of the area.

The Commonwealth's Department of Environmental Protection ("DEP") and the Boston Fire Department ("BFD") ordered immediate cleanup and tank removal. The DEP and BFD summoned Clean Harbors, Inc. to conduct the initial cleanup. On November 15, 1993, the Public Facilities Department was advised by the BPD that the tank replacement was imperative for their daily operations and it was experiencing considerable down time because BPD vehicles had to be fueled at other facilities, thereby posing a significant risk to the health and safety of the district.

The DEP, which has overseen the cleanup, removal and replacement to date, had a number of requirements concerning the design and installation of the new tank, PFD immediately sought an emergency design of the project and simultaneously sought a fuel tank removal/installation contractor with the ability to adapt to an as-yet incomplete design and whose familiarity with DEP requirements and emergency tank removal and installation were proven. Pursuant to the authority of M.G.L. c. 30, s. 39M, on November 15, 1993, the following contractor, normally engaged in this type of service, was called to view and bid on this work. The result is as follows:

Green Environmental, Incorporated, $107,290.29.

Green Environmental, Incorporated was the first eligible and responsible bid by a contractor who could perform the work immediately. Upon receiving the above bid, PFD had an independent consultant evaluate the cost, and it was found reasonable for the scope of activity.

This content is procured pursuant to and in accordance with M.G.L. c. 30, s. 39M and is, therefore, exempt from the process of M.G.L. c. 30B.

DEP did not approve the design until December 31, 1993, and the permit was obtained on January 5, 1994.

Your Honor's written permission is requested to award this work to Green Environmental, Incorporated with offices at 216 Ricciuti Drive, Quincy, MA 02169, in an amount not to exceed $107,290.29, which I have determined to be reasonable for this work to be performed. The term of this contract shall be January 11, 1994, to February 1, 1994.

The submission of this contract is late due to the nature of emergency project. These types of projects require immediate attention, thereby making it necessary for the vendor to begin work prior to the execution of the contract.

Respectfully,

Mary Nee,
Director.

Gymnasium Rental

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to the Boston YWCA, a non-profit corporation, located at 140 Clarendon Street, Boston, for rental of their gymnasium to provide physical education classes for the students of Snowden International High School. This contract is being awarded under G.L. 30B, s. 16 (e)(2).

Under the terms of the lease contract, the Boston YWCA will rent their gymnasium to the Boston Public Schools for use by Snowden International High School for 357.5 hours during the school year for physical education, practices, and games.

Snowden International High School does not have a gymnasium. The Boston YWCA maintains a facility which is well suited to fulfill the physical education requirement for Snowden students. Because of the constraints of the type facility and the time it is to be used, it is not feasible to solicit alternative vendors.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $11,262. The hourly rate is $31.50. I have determined that the cost is reasonable. The term of the contract shall be from October 5, 1993, through June 10, 1994.

Because of the unique quality of this particular need; the proximity of the school to the Boston YWCA; and the reasonable cost, I have determined that public advertising would serve no useful purpose. This determination has been published in the Central Register.

Several factors have contributed to the delay in the submission of this contract. The request to initiate the contract was received on November 16, 1993. Use of the gym started on October 5, 1993. The request was not made until November because of changes in the school schedule of classes. The contract sent to the YWCA was not returned to this office until January 18, 1994. Several telephone calls were made to the YWCA about the delay. During this time span the Executive Director of the YWCA was also away for a short time.

To compound matters, the form Withholding Payment on Monies Owed to the City was omitted from the contract sent to the YWCA. The form was sent to the YWCA for signature on January 21, 1994, but was not returned until March 10, 1994, after telephone calls and a FAX communication to the YWCA.

Sincerely,
Lois Harrison-Jones, Ed.D.,
Superintendent.

Lease Contract

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising to award a lease contract to the YMCA of Greater Boston, a non-profit corporation located at 316 Huntington Avenue, Boston, to provide space and direct services to Community Academy, an alternative dropout prevention program conducted by the Boston Public Schools. This lease contract is being awarded under the authority of Chapter 30B, s. 16 (c)(2).

Under the terms of the lease, the YMCA of Greater Boston will provide Community Academy with approximately 20,000 square feet of space at their Roxbury Family Branch located at 285 Martin Luther King Boulevard, Roxbury, for a unit cost of $2 per square foot. In addition to classroom space the YMCA will provide student furniture, all utilities, custodial services, and trash removal. Rental costs in other buildings surveyed in the area are six to seven time greater per square foot. These other spaces would require renovations for school use, and would not include the cost of furniture and utilities.

The staff of the YMCA of Greater Boston, Roxbury Family Branch, will provide direct services to the students in the form of community services projects and a drug and alcohol prevention program. Community Academy is the only alternative program for both at risk and expelled students. The students will gain worthwhile experience, and benefit from the encouragement extended by the YMCA of Greater Boston staff.

The term of the lease will be from February 15, 1994, through June 30, 1994. Compensation under the lease shall not exceed $24,000 for the term of the lease. I deem the cost to be reasonable.

Because of the unique quality of this particular need, and the reasonable cost, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose. This determination is being published in the Central Register.

Sincerely,
Lois Harrison-Jones, Ed.D.,
Superintendent.

Educational Materials

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your Honor's approval to award contracts, pursuant to the authority of Ch. 30B, s. 7, to the vendors listed herein for the period July 1, 1994, through June 30, 1997.

Under the terms of these contracts the vendors will provide books and educational materials directly related to the curriculum as may be requested from time to time by a designated representative of the Boston Public Schools. Because these materials are unique to a particular publisher, I have determined that only one practicable source exists.

The following list of vendors represents a comprehensive compilation of the book vendors from which the Boston Public Schools will purchase these materials. Although this request is for a three (3) year period, not all contracts will be executed for the full term. Due to the indeterminate needs of the Department some of the contracts may be executed for a period less than the full three year term based on when and for what length of time the materials are expected to be requisitioned and purchased.

not from the provisions of G.L. c. 30B because of a contract for design services. This contract being awarded under the authority of the City Charter.

Under this contract H.W. Lochner, Inc. will prepare contract documents, estimates and specifications, as well as perform seismic analysis of the bridge in accordance with the 1992 AASHTO Specifications. H.W. Lochner will also provide Public Works Department with professional advice, consultation, and construction services relative to the rehabilitation of this bridge.

I have determined that H.W. Lochner, Inc., is uniquely qualified to perform these services. H.W. Lochner has demonstrated that they have the solid experience and expertise required for the successful performance of this work, and can complete the work within the time allocated by the Department at a reasonable cost.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $92,787, a fixed cost, which I have determined to be reasonable for the work to be performed. The term of this contract shall be for two (2) years, from February 22, 1994, to February 2, 1996.

Very truly yours,

Commissioner of Public Works.

SCHOOL DEPARTMENT

December 16, 1993.

Special Education Services

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your Honor's permission to dispense with public advertising and award contracts to the following agencies to provide special education services to various Boston Public School students.

M05287 (94), St. Elizabeth's Hospital of Boston, MA, 736 Cambridge Street, Boston, MA 02135, $40,000.

M05288 (94), Trustees of Health and Hospitals of the City of Boston, Inc., 1010 Massachusetts Avenue, Boston, MA 02118, $30,000.

M05289 (94), Aquinas College at Newton, 15 Walnut Park, Newton, MA 02158, $40,000.

As contracts for the provision of special education services, the contracts are exempt from G.L. c. 30B, pursuant to s. 1(b)(8).

These contracts are funded by a grant in the amount of $171,495 from the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Medical Security. The purpose of the grant is to implement M.G.L. c. 71B (Chapter 766) services as mandated in Individual Educational Plans devised by the special education teams.

The contract amount exceeds the budgets submitted by the contractors so that services may be provided to additional special needs students referred as the result of TEAM meetings.

The terms of each contract shall be September 1, 1993, to June 30, 1994.

The submission of the contracts was delayed initially pending identification of external funds in order to support the services to be provided, and subsequently a delay was caused by the reorganization of the Business Office and the relocation of the Business Office and the relocation of staff.

Because of the professional and specialized nature of the services to be performed and the unique expertise and capabilities of the respective institutions and organizations, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Very truly yours,
Lois Harrison-Jones, Ed.D.,
Superintendent.

Special Bond Counsel

Dear Mr. Mayor:
I respectfully request your permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to Fitch, Wiley, Richlin & Tourse, P.C. ("Fitch, Wiley"), One Bowdoin Square, Boston. The term of the contract is the period from August 5, 1993, through September 23, 1993, the contract price will not exceed $40,000. The fee was arrived at through negotiation by the former Collector-Treasurer based on prior experience with bond issues of this type. The fee

Telephones

Dear Mr. Mayor:

Your Honor's permission is requested to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract pursuant to G.L. c. 30B, s. 8, to New England Telephone Co., 185 Franklin Street, Boston, for coinless and coin-operated telephones, installation and servicing, at the Suffolk County House of Correction at South Bay.

A Request for Proposals, dated October 30, 1991, for the above mentioned telephones was sent to potential vendors by staff of the City's MIS Department, with a response date of November 8, 1991. Only two potential vendors, New England
Telephone Co. and Northeast Telesystems, Inc., could meet the installation schedule and both submitted proposals. New England Telephone Co.'s proposal was determined to be more advantageous of the two, based primarily on its proposed 29 percent commission rate as compared to Northeast Telesystems rate of 20 percent. New England Telephone signed an agreement, date
November 12, 1991, and was instructed to proceed with the installation of the telephones at the South Bay facility, which was done in a timely and satisfactory manner.

The procedure followed in the procurement of these telephones substantially complied with the provisions of G.L. c. 30B, however, no formal advertisement was published. In the case of *U.S.
v. Metropolitan District Commission*, United States Dist. Ct., District of Mass., Docket Nos.
85-0489-MA and 85-1614-MA, the court ordered that the Suffolk County House of Correction at Deer Island cease operations no later than January 1, 1992, so that demolition could begin to build the new waste water treatment plant. Due to the constraints imposed by this court order, there was insufficient time for a formal advertisement to be published in order for inmate telephones to be installed and fully operational when the South Bay facility began accepting inmates in late December, 1991.

Inasmuch as New England Telephone installed and has continued to service approximately one hundred coinless telephones for inmate use at the Suffolk County House of Correction at South Bay according to the terms of the original agreement, and inasmuch as the Suffolk County Sheriff's Department is now soliciting the second Request for Proposal pursuant to G.L. c. 30B, s. 6, I request that your Honor approve this award to New England Telephone Co. for the period of November 12, 1991, through June 30, 1994, which will allow sufficient time for a new contract to be publicly advertised and to be fully executed.

This contract is being submitted late because of the time required by the Sheriff's Department staff to confer with staff of the City's Law and MIS Departments to determine the matter's appropriate resolution. Additional delays resulted because of the time required to receive properly executed contract documents from the vendor.

Very truly yours,

Robert C. Rufo,
Sheriff.

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT

REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

The City of Boston, acting by its Director of the Public Facilities Department ("Official"), 26 Court Street, 11th Floor, Boston, MA 02108, hereby invites proposals for "Temporary Technical and Clerical Personnel." Requests for Proposals will be available to all interested parties, on August 22, 1994, at the Public Facilities Department, 26 Court Street, 11th Floor, Bid Counter, Boston, MA 02108.
Proposals will be received up until 4:00 p.m. on September 6, 1994, at the office of the Official, 26
Court Street, 11th Floor, Bid Counter, Boston, MA
02108. No late proposals will be accepted.

As specified in the RFP, proposals must be submitted in two separate, sealed envelopes clearly marked "Part 1: Non-Price" and "Part 2: Price".
"Non-Price" responses will be opened first and evaluated on the ratings of "Highly Advantageous", "Advantageous", "Not Advantageous", and "Unacceptable". Only after the "Non-Price" evaluation has been completed will the "Price" responses be opened and evaluated. The Awarding Authority shall then assign a composite rating for each proposal. One contract shall be awarded, the total amount not to exceed $135,000. Said contract will utilize a variety of funding sources including Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds. The contract is subject to the approval of the Public Facilities Commission. The Official will make an award within 90 days of the proposal due date.

The Official reserves the right to reject any and all proposals or any items of a proposal if it be in the public interest to do so. The City shall cancel the contract if funds are not appropriated or otherwise made available to support continuation of performance.

CHARLES T. GRIGSBY,
Director.

viewed by the City's independent financial advisor and found to be reasonable. Also, see attached letter from Dennis R. Tourse, Esq., written in response to certain questions raised by the Corporation Counsel. This contract is exempt from the provisions of G. L. c. 30B, as it is a contract for legal services, and is awarded under the authority of the City Charter.

The City's decision to borrow capital funds through a September, 1993 General Obligation bond issue gave issue to the need for the services of Fitch, Wiley. Fitch, Wiley served as Special Outside Counsel on this issue and provided advice and prepared documents in connection with the closure requirements attendant to the issuance of said bonds. This contract is being submitted due to delays by the contractor in submitting required contract forms and also because the Law Department had withheld approval pending resolution of certain questions including the legal status of Fitch, Wiley since the firm had subsequently reorganized.

Because Fitch, Wiley is especially qualified in the area of municipal finance, and because this firm has had previous substantial experience with the financial affairs of the City of Boston, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Very truly yours,
George E. Mahoney,
Temporary Collector-Treasurer.

C.3771-94.
March 22, 1994.

Special Outside Counsel

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I respectfully request your permission to dispense with public advertising and to award a contract to Joseph LaRusso, an individual, located at 1 Hampstead Road, Jamaica Plain, MA 02130, for professional services as Special Outside Counsel for the Treasury Department. This contract is exempt from the provisions of G.L. c.
30B, as it is an employment agreement, and is awarded under the authority of the City Charter.

Under the terms of the contract, the Contractor will provide professional services as Special Outside Counsel for the Department, compose, review and edit documents and contracts, and draft factual memoranda. In addition, the Contractor will represent the Department in litigation, as necessary, under the supervision of the Corporation Counsel. Finally, the contractor will provide advice and administrative and supervisory support in matters related to the City's capital borrowings.

Mr. LaRusso is uniquely qualified to do this work because of his past work experience and his formal education. Mr. LaRusso has not previously worked for the Treasury Department.

Compensation under this contract shall not exceed $9,970, payable at the weekly rate of $38.85, which I have determined to be reasonable for the work to be performed.

The term of this contract shall be April 4, 1994, through June 30, 1994.

Because of the professional nature of the service to be performed, I believe that public advertising would serve no useful purpose.

Respectfully yours,
George E. Mahoney,

MAYOR'S YOUTH LEADERSHIP CORPS GRADUATION

Corps members participate in the program during their junior year in high school. These students attend public, private and parochial schools and come from every neighborhood of Boston. As Corps members learn more about young people from other neighborhoods and cultural backgrounds, they discover how much they have in common.

MAYOR'S YOUTH LEADERSHIP CORPS GRADUATION EXERCISES

*Statement of Mayor Thomas M. Menino

Mayor Menino and the Class of 1994 — Eugenia Kiu, Orientation; Nancy Shaffer, CPR training; Leon Jones, Alcohol & Drug Education, Violence Prevention; Michelle Roberts, Communication Skills; Phillip Iantosca, Leadership; Joshua Kidd, Boston History Tour; Michelle Diaz, Boston Today; Jason Serino, Boston Tomorrow; Dieu Ngo, The Corps; Kamilah Drummond, Cultural Diversity; Marco Castro, Government; Michael Boyle, Washington, D.C.; Katherine McDonough, The Presidents; Kendra Blackette, Criminal Justice; Rion Danjuma, Mock Trial; Sharifa Anderson, Year of Youth Safety; Angela Barma, Community Service; Brendan Phalan, Media; Jacob Glickel, Environment; Margaret O'Brien, Arts; Assata Henericks, Health Care; Theresa Naughton, College Preparation; Jaime Bailey, Business and Careers; Anita Tavares, Resumes and Interview Skills; Louis Jacques, Internships; Andrew Donovan, The Future; and Margot DeMore, Thank You.

Since my days as a City Councillor, I have tried to take the time to get to know the members of the Mayor's Youth Leadership Corps. Quite honestly, what I found was that in this small group of young men and young women was all the hope and promise of a generation.

The Mayor's Youth Leadership Corps is a public-private partnership among the City of Boston and two of its leading professional and academic institutions — the Boston Bar Association and Northeastern University. The goal of the program is to show young people how the city and its various institutions function, develop leadership, encourage community service, and promote personal success in Boston's young people, now and in the future.

I have always been so impressed with this program and with the young people it attracted that when I became Mayor, I knew that one thing I wanted to accomplish with the Corps was to build on and expand the model. I wanted to take all of the energy and ideas and idealism of these young people — kids from every neighborhood of the city, from every race and background, from public, private and parochial school alike — and refocus them on each and every community in Boston.

The Youth Corps was established to provide hard-working and positive young people with alternatives to drugs and violence and to involve them in devising solutions to the problems and challenges facing the city. Headquarters of the Mayor's Youth Leadership Corps is the James Michael Curley House in Jamaica Plain, but activities take place throughout the City of Boston.

During the academic year, the program met twice weekly for after-school and weekend sessions of presentations and discussions, role playing, skill building workshops, field trips, and community service projects. A mentoring component is also involved, staffed by volunteers from the legal and other professional fields. Corps members receive academic and career counseling, and then are matched to a summer internship in an area of interest they would like to explore as a career.

I tell you this because as most of you know, this program will take on a new form next year and I wanted all of the kids who have been a part of this program to know that they began something they can be proud of.

The Mayor's Youth Leadership Corps and all of the young men and women who have been a part of it is something special. Something so special, in fact, that I wanted to take what you started and make it bigger and better for the whole city.

I believe in young people and I think it's important that we listen — that we really listen — to what our children are telling us. Just look at the difference the Mayor's Youth Leadership Corps has already made. It's my understanding that it was because of conversations between the Youth Leadership Corps and Peter Brown that WBZ's "Stop the Violence" campaign began.

That's a credit to the Corps members for recognizing that we can't just focus on the negative — we also need to focus on the good things that kids do. It's also a credit to Peter Brown and WBZ for listening to young people and then actually doing something about it. Look at the difference it's made!

Right now, violent crime is at its lowest level in twenty years in the City of Boston. That may not be just because of the Mayor's Youth Leadership Corps. But believe me, this program and the support it received from Northeastern University and the Boston Bar Association and now WBZ — they are all part of the reason that crime is down.

So on behalf of the people of Boston, I want to congratulate the members of the Mayor's Youth Leadership Corps for your terrific work. I know that we're going to be hearing big things from all of you in the future.

I also want to thank John Curry, President of Northeastern University, James Marcellino, President of the Boston Bar Association, for their support of this program. Finally, I want to offer very sincere thanks to WBZ for their very positive "Stop The Violence Campaign", and I congratulate WBZ in this award.

KEEP BOSTON MOVING
UP WITH BIKES NOT BOMBS GROUP

Cycling to City Hall from the Bikes Not Bombs Training Center near Jackson Square in Jamaica Plain, teens and their BNB trainer returned bike safety videos on loan from the Boston Transportation Department's KEEP BOSTON MOVING SAFELY Resource Library.

The ride is part of the summer bilingual bike safety and mechanics course taught by Bikes Not Bombs with partial funding from KEEP BOSTON MOVING SAFELY.

Students learn the basics of bike repair by working on used bicycles. They discuss the major types and causes of bicycle collisions, learn correct hand signalling and safe riding techniques, then put their knowledge to the test on supervised bike rides.

The program exemplifies quality, grassroots efforts that teach worthwhile safety habits and marketable skills to the city's youth.

Recent participants were Arthur Prokosh, Brent Street, Dorchester; Gordon Gaul, School Street, Jamaica Plain; Tony Ancrum, Smith Street, Mission Hill; Ayana Pizarro, Parker Street, Jamaica Plain; and Bikes Not Bombs Instructor, Eric Kennedy.

MAYOR HOSTS
SNOW EMERGENCY COORDINATION MEETING

"Winter Workshop 95"

Mayor Thomas M. Menino, hosted the Winter Workshop on Wednesday morning August 17, at 40 Trinity Place, to improve the coordination of snow removal and other basic services to city residents during the winter months. The workshop was part of the Mayor's ongoing effort to improve team work and communication in city service departments.

The Mayor said, "Today is proactive planning. This planning is in keeping with my goal of making a customer friendly City and lets people know we are on top of things. What we are doing today will keep us directed so we can be ready when snow begins to fall."

The meeting was facilitated by the Boston Management Consortium and conducted voluntarily by one of its members, a company called Synectics which develops innovative management techniques. The workshop was attended by about a dozen city service departments, the M.B.T.A., M.D.C., Mass. Turnpike Authority and other government offices. The workshop started out with everyone as a group identifying the good and bad points of basic services delivery during snow emergencies. The workshop then broke up into smaller groups to work on improving issues around snow removal. The issues ranged from alternative parking for congested neighborhoods, to the clearing of bus stops and bridge sidewalks. By the end of the workshop, progress had been made toward making departmental commitments to a "Winter 95 Action Plan." Tentative plans were made to hold follow up meetings to build on the progress made at the workshop.

MAYOR MENINO ANNOUNCES
COMMUNITY CENTER
RE-NAMING/PARK DEDICATION

The Lee Community Center in Dorchester was re-named the "Anthony Perkins Community Center" on August 13 after the late Tony Perkins, former coordinator of the center, who died one year ago.

Following the center renaming, a new multi-use neighborhood park abutting the building was also dedicated to Tony Perkins. This once barren, asphalt-covered lot has been transformed into a park through funds from the City's Browne Fund. Tony was instrumental in securing the funding for the park.

Friends, family, elected officials and other dignitaries who knew Tony joined co-workers and young people whose lives he touched in remembering him at the re-naming of the center. Over 2,500 people signed a petition asking for the center to be named in Tony's honor.

Tony was coordinator of the Lee Community Center for 9 years. During that time, he transformed the center into one of Boston's best. Tony created important programs to deal with issues facing Boston's youth. He also started numerous events that have become annual traditions such as the "Big BAD Weekend" to celebrate drug-free activities and the Lee Cotillion for children ages 6-12. He also secured funding to renovate and open the Grove Hall Youth Center on Blue Hill Avenue.

At the renaming, Mayor Menino praised the community's efforts in honoring Tony's memory and said, "Our city and the Dorchester community lost a young man of unparalleled strength and determination. Tony helped hundreds of young people find direction and meaning in their lives. He was a true role model and is missed by all who knew, respected and loved him."

The new Anthony D. Perkins Park includes ornamental paving, benches, trees, landscaping and a waterspray. The Edward Ingersoll Browne Trust Fund, which funded the park construction, was established by the City of Boston in 1974 when the proceeds from Mr. Browne's will became available. The money is to be used "for the adornment and benefit of Boston." Grants from the trust have funded more than 90 capital projects totalling more than $10 million.

The Perkins Community Center is under the umbrella of Boston Community Centers, the City of Boston's largest youth and human service agency. The Perkins offers afterschool, vacation and weekend programming for people of all ages. The Perkins Community Center is located at 155 Talbot Avenue adjacent to Franklin Field.

Statement by Mayor Thomas M. Menino on the Future of Pilgrim Theater and Naked-I Property

If these buildings are torn down and turned into parking lots, this will only be a temporary solution. Our goal is to promote the Chinatown business community's continued growth by developing this property to provide mixed-use space for retail and other businesses and to maintain the area's original character.

BYRON RUSHING
ANNOUNCES BUDGET FUNDS FOR STATE POLICE PATROLS OF SOUTHWEST CORRIDOR

State Representative Byron Rushing announced recently that Boston will receive funds for State Police to begin patrols of the Southwest Corridor. $75,000 was allocated to the Metropolitan District Commission for the use of State Police in the proposed budget for fiscal year 1995. These funds were added by an amendment sponsored by Representative Rushing and Representative John McDonough of Jamaica Plain. The budget passed the House of Representatives on May 12, 1994, by a vote of 151 to 3.

"This earmarking of funds in the Fiscal Year 1995 budget for motorcycle patrols of the Southwest Corridor was a priority that I and the rest of the Boston delegation pushed for," said Representative Rushing. "This is an essential step toward furthering community policing and a perception of safety along the Corridor.

"The hard work by many volunteers and neighborhood organizations improving the Corridor must not be lost because of a fear of crime," Rushing added. "The Metropolitan District Police will coordinate the patrols and will once again provide a consistent police presence."

The State's 1995 budget was signed into law by the Governor on July 10, 1994. The budget is for Fiscal Year 1995 which runs from July 1st of this year until June 30th of 1995.

NEW ADMINISTRATION SEEKS THE COMMON GROUND BETWEEN PUBLIC AND PRIVATE

By Marisa Lago
Chief Economic Development Officer

Recently, the City of Boston and NAIOP, along with a host of businesses and universities, sponsored a conference for 300 corporate and community leaders entitled "Boston Tomorrow." Listening to the speakers, I was struck by how much Boston has going for it and how closely everyone identified the success of the city with their own success.

By the end of the conference, I concluded that Boston's two greatest challenges, as it prepares to meet the demands of the 21st century, are how to take better advantage of its many advantages and how to get its public and private interests to work more closely together.

In the past, Boston's public and private sectors might have been able to afford an adversary relationship. But the new, global economy demands, if not greater harmony, at least greater efficiency. We can no longer see it as a game of "us" against "them." It is now "us" and "them" against the competition. The cities who understand this will continue to grow, and ones that don't will fall behind.

Mayor Menino has made it clear that strengthening Boston's business climate will be one of his major goals. His administration is hard at work putting in place more "customer friendly" policies — not only for residents, but also for businesses. Those businesses can be large or small. They can include new businesses looking to locate here or established companies looking to stay.

In order to better coordinate services and respond to market forces, the city's economic development agencies — like many private-sector businesses — are reorganizing themselves. Our intention is to make the process of doing business more predictable. When the rules are clear, everyone can focus on the costs and benefits of economic development decisions without getting sidetracked by skirmishes over the process.

We also want to lower the obstacles to doing business in Boston. Not only should the rules be clear; they should also encourage people to play the game. That's why we are following the recommendations of the Walsh Commission to streamline the economic development review process and cut unnecessary red tape.

Boston will never be Houston, a city with no zoning code and where anything goes. We will continue to preserve and protect our history, scale, and character. But we can't afford to process ourselves out of competition.

So far, we haven't. Right now, there is $1.3 billion worth of construction going on in the city — more than five million square feet of development generating more than 6,000 construction jobs and 5,000 permanent jobs. In the next two years, we anticipate as much as $2.1 billion more in construction starts, totaling more than 11 million square feet.

These include large projects, like the construction of the new Shawmut Center and small projects, like storefront renovation in neighborhood business districts. But they share one characteristic — they are all important to the well-being of the city.

Much of the current construction activity is institutional, and it is time to recognize that the city's health is directly connected to the health of its institutions — its universities, hospitals, arts centers, and museums.

We must also stop taking tourism for granted and see the convention business as a growth industry. That's why Mayor Menino is supporting construction of a new convention facility that will allow us to attract the larger conventions. Even with our current facilities, Boston's downtown hotel occupancy rate of almost 76 percent is the highest in the country, ahead of San Francisco, New York, Washington, Atlanta, and Los Angeles.

Our office vacancy rate currently stands at about 16 percent, somewhat high by Boston standards but down from 1992 and still good enough for fifth-best of the nation's major cities. Nearly every downtown office tower built in the '60s and '70s has begun or is planning a major renovation in order to compete with the newer buildings that have come on line. If our annual office space absorption rate reaches from 400,000 to one million square feet, which is what the five- and 10-year averages have been, we could be looking for new capacity in three to five years.

As part of the "Boston Tomorrow" conference, we asked the city's business community how city government could help keep this momentum — and private investment — going. They told us that the best thing we could do was to keep public investment — in our infrastructure — going.

We are doing that, to the tune of $487 million in the next two years. These public projects include a $3.5 million reconstruction of downtown Washington Street that is, literally, paving the way for $150 million in private investment by Jordan Marsh, Filene's, Swissotel, and Homart Development Corporation. They also include a seaport access study to help us find ways to make better use of Boston Harbor, for too long an underutilized economic as well as natural resource.

The message is clear. Boston is a city that works and is hard at work. But the only way to keep it that way is to work together. We can no longer take our many advantages — or each other — for granted. It's time to bury the hatchet between government and business, and in doing so find the common ground between public and private Boston.

BOLD HOME OWNERSHIP INITIATIVE LAUNCHED

Community-based developers across the country have adopted a variety of strategies as they work to transform neighborhoods and lives in distressed communities. What they have realized, however, as they rehabilitate apartment buildings and revitalize commercial strips, is the need to combine the rehabilitation of derelict properties with the recreation of local ownership stakes.

Building upon the strength of the community-based development movement and believing that encouraging and supporting local control and ownership is fundamental to successful renewal strategies, Local Initiatives Support Corporation, the nation's largest community development support organization, and the Boston Community Loan Fund — with the critical support of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the City of Boston — have embarked upon an ambitious initiative to promote home ownership in low-income communities across Boston.

The 1-4 Family Housing Program is designed to enable six to eight Boston-area community development corporations (CDCs) rehabilitate 45 to 60 derelict properties across the city and create 142 to 160 units of housing over the next three years. The targeted properties are either abandoned, foreclosed or at-risk and pose significant obstacles to neighborhood revitalization efforts. The Program will serve thereby three related community development goals: Remove blighted properties; promote ownership stakes; and stabilize and raise property values. The program also demonstrates the potential of public/private partnerships. LISC and BCLF will provide construction financing and the City and the Commonwealth will provide permanent subsidies through the federal HOME Program.

The City and the Commonwealth will each provide $3.5 million in federal HOME Program permanent subsidies to enable low-income families to purchase the units. LISC and BCLF will each provide $2.4 million in construction financing loans. The LISC and BCLF loans are expected to roll over several times, generating about $11 million in loan activity. The LISC financing will come in part through phases I and II of the National Community Development Initiative, a partnership of J. P. Morgan & Co., The Prudential, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co., six national foundations and the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development. Participating CDCs include Neighborhood of Affordable Housing in East Boston, the Neighborhood Development Corporation of Jamaica Plain and Dorchester Bay Economic Development Corporation.

TEENS TEACH POLICY MAKERS ABOUT SMOKING AND HEALTH AT KO TOBACCO'S SECOND LEADERSHIP BREAKFAST

Wednesday, August 17, decision-makers were having breakfast with Boston teens at City Hall. A panel made up of the Boston Tobacco Control Program's peer leaders and youth from Boston Community Centers, Fuego Latino, and the Boston Violence Prevention Program, shared their experiences and views on the tobacco industry's marketing tactics and the availability of cigarettes to minors. The youth also took the opportunity to tell politicians what should be done to promote health among Boston's young people.

“These young panelists are dedicated to educating their peers about the health risks of tobacco use and how they are being manipulated by the tobacco industry”, commented Linda Pucci, Director for the Boston Tobacco Control Program. She explained that the breakfast provided a unique opportunity for the teens to “tell it like it is” to City Councillors.

After the panel discussion, fourteen-year-old Rapper Blair Ross ‘rapped up’ the breakfast with his song, “Nicotine Fiend”, which won him first place in KO TOBACCO and WILD-FM's contest last month.

BOSTON MEANS BUSINESS

PUBLIC FACILITIES DEPARTMENT A NEIGHBORHOOD FOCUS

A critical element of any strong neighborhood is a vibrant neighborhood-based economy. The Public Facilities Department (PFD) Neighborhood Business Development Programs are a major link in the City's effort to create stronger, self-reliant business districts. PFD offers a wide variety of services tailored to meet the unique needs of the neighborhood business districts, including market opportunity strategies, technical assistance services; loan programs; real estate & site finding; and the business partnership program. Here are just a few examples of the businesses PFD has assisted:

Greens & Things - This flower & plant business located in West Roxbury wanted to expand to include landscaping services. PFD was able to provide them with a technical assistance consultant to work with them on writing a business plan.

Estrella Bakery - This small locally owned retail bakery was in business in Hyde Square for just three months when it applied to PFD's technical assistance program for help developing a start-up business plan and marketing strategies. This assistance enabled the bakery to meet its goals of operating a new business efficiently as well as increasing sales.

Grove Hall Printing - When this printing company, located on Blue Hill Avenue in Dorchester, wanted to increase sales, expand its services, and hire more employees, it applied for business marketing technical assistance through PFD. PFD will be working with this company to develop marketing and advertising strategies that will result in more visible, better marketed goods and services, and will enable them to expand their customer base.

Bearly Used Shoppe - This non-profit thrift shop operated by Shepherd House, a residential facility for drug and alcohol dependent women, will receive business administration assistance in Spanish. This operation will benefit from assistance with start-up services, records systems, bookkeeping and accounting. These services will allow the owner to open more quickly and devote more time to sales and service delivery.

These projects all share a common goal of effectively revitalizing a neighborhood business district by providing jobs and better shopping opportunities for local residents. Each of the above projects retained or created 2-5 jobs.

BOSNET

Overview

BOSNET is the City of Boston's implementation of an "Electronic City Hall" and an initial building block for the City's contribution to the "information superhighway". Available 24 hours a day, the BOSNET system is accessible via any modem-equipped personal computer and will provide users with information about different departments at City Hall and upcoming city sponsored events without having to require a personal visit to City Hall.

Anyone can use the system and users of the system will be given a personal access code and will have the option of communicating directly with the system or with one another.

A weekly updated list of city sponsored events will let customers know what's happening in and around the city. And the system will also provide users with a City Hall directory, including, the names, addresses and phone numbers of managers at City Hall. Users of the systems will also have the capability of leaving messages to any of the managers at City Hall.

Accessing information about the different departments at City Hall will now be easier than ever and users of the system will be able to find out information about how to pay a parking ticket, information on inspectional services, and information about the city's parks and recreation department. People seeking information about the disability office, neighborhood services, fair housing commission or dozens of other city agencies, who are a part of the BOSNET system, will be able to access the information they need.

To make sure that customers calling do not hear the sound of a busy signal or get stuck listening to voice mail, a total of four phone lines will be available for customers wanting to use the system, and possibly in the future, as the system grows, more phone lines will be added.

BOSNET is an outgrowth of Mayor Menino's directive to utilize information technology to directly service the constituency, who, as taxpayers, are also the customers of City services. It serves as an information resource, as well as providing another avenue of communication between the people of the city and their government. As the system grows, a fully interactive system will evolve, fully networked to all City agencies and enabling quick individualized responses.

Accessing BOSNET

BOSNET has been specifically designed to encourage maximum participation. The technical requirements to utilize the system are inclusive of older, and relatively "low-tech" equipment installed in many homes as well as the newer, more advanced technology currently available.

Anybody with a modem-equipped personal computer may dial in to the BOSNET number, 635-DATA (635-3282) and questions about BOSNET system will be answered directly by the operations manager Hyun Yoo (635-4783). No account with BOSNET or any other on-line service is a prerequisite. Access to Internet is not required.

The modems on the BOSNET side support speeds up to 14.4 kbps and multiple error-correcting protocols. They will sense and auto-adjust to the capabilities of the modem dialing in.

On-Line

Once connected, the user will be asked to identify themselves and input a password chosen by themselves. This step is completely optional, but will be necessary if the user wishes to have a private mailbox for responses from City personnel to their inquiries.

Once logged-on, the user will be greeted with any special announcements or events for the current week before they are presented with the Main Menu. From here, they may choose to browse the City Hall phone directory, send a message to a City official or agency, review a calendar of events or browse through a "How To" guide of City agencies and services. Users will also have the ability to communicate with one another.

A user will have the option of downloading certain information to their own computer for review offline. For example, instructions on filing for a building permit, how to pay a parking ticket or getting a copy of a Police report.

The system is completely menu-driven for ease of use, and requires no computer knowledge beyond that required to operate one's own PC and modem.

Implementation Schedule

Phase One - August 1994. Dial-in access for the public. Ability to download files and send "one-way" messages.

Phase Two - December 1994. BOSNET integrated in City Hall fiber network enabling networked agencies to directly respond to electronic mail and monitor the activity on the system relevant to their area. Users may maintain private mailboxes and engage in a truly interactive manner with City personnel. The option to receive a Fax in lieu of downloading the information. On-line applications available for various constituent service requirements.

Phase Three. Public access terminals located throughout the city. Access to selected city applications. Fee-based services on-line.

Other Public Information Services

The following on-line services are also currently available for public access:

Suffolk County Registry of Deeds
A fee-based document imaging and indexing system allowing on-line ookup of Registry of Deeds information concerning land and deed transactions. Users will have the ability to receive documents Faxed back.

Tax Bill Inquiry System. Provides automated database inquiries on property tax bills via touchtone telephone.

Parking Clerk.

Fiscal Administration

C. 7044-95
May 20, 1994.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I request your Honor's permission to award a contract pursuant to the authority of G.L. c. 30B, S5 for "Fiscal Administration of Summer and Winter Programs", to be procured under competitive bid procedures.

In response to an advertisement published in the City Record on April 25, 1994, and May 2, 1994, for "Fiscal Administration of Summer and Winter Programs", the following bids based on a percentage management fee of the total contract funds available, were publicly opened and read on May 10, 1994:

Boys & Girls Club of Boston, Inc., 50 Congress Street, Boston, MA 02109, 2.88% or $4,758.94.

D. R. White Computer Services, Inc., 636 Washington Street, Canton, MA 02021, 2.94% or $4,855.26.

The vendors bid on an administrative fee which is a percentage of the total contract amount ($170,000), which in turn represents the amount budgeted for administration of the Summer and Winter Programs. The Boys and Girls Club of Boston, Inc. submitted the lowest fee of $4,758.94, or 2.88% of the total amount budgeted. This percentage (2.88%) will be subtracted from the total vendor price and will represent the total amount paid directly to the contractor for services rendered under the contract with the balance used for direct program costs.

The contractual arrangement between the vendor and the City would insure the fiscal administration of Summer and Winter Programs in an efficient and cost effective manner, while permitting the City to not only monitor the performance of the contract, but also manage and supervise Summer and Winter Programs.

The contractor will provide financial management services and administrative support services, i.e. personnel, supplies, materials and administration necessary to operate Summer and Winter Programs. In so doing, they would maintain all books, records, accounts and other financial data necessary for the administration of the program. The City will reimburse the contractor for approved disbursements made by the vendor on behalf of the City.

Close monitoring of this program will be provided to ensure strict compliance with the terms of the contract, particularly with respect to supervision, liability, accountability, management and financial reports.

A Bid Opening Certificate Form was completed and signed on May 11, 1994. Duplicate bids were read at the Auditing Department on May 19, 1994.

Inasmuch as the Boys and Girls Club, Inc. submitted the lowest bid and inasmuch as the bid is a reasonable one, your permission is requested to award this contract to the Boys and Girls Club of Boston, Inc., 50 Congress Street, Boston, MA 02109, for the period July 1, 1994, through June 30, 1995. The cost of the contract will not exceed $170,000.

According to the evaluation criteria listed in the invitation to bid, I have determined that the contractor is the lowest responsive and responsible bidder.

Very truly yours,
Patrick S. Harrington,
Commissioner.

C. 7045-95
May 20, 1994.

Dear Mr. Mayor:

I request your Honor's permission to award a contract pursuant to the authority of G.L. c. 30B, §5 for "Fiscal Administration of the Park Ranger Program", to be procured under competitive bid procedures.

In response to an advertisement published in the City Record on April 25, 1994, and May 2, 1994, for "Fiscal Administration of the Park Ranger Program", the following bids based on a percentage management fee of the total contract funds available, were publicly opened and read on May 10, 1994:

Boys & Girls Club of Boston, Inc., 50 Congress Street, Boston, MA 02109, 2.88% or $9,797.82.

D. R. White Computer Services, Inc., 636 Washington Street, Canton, MA 02021, 2.94% or $9,996.11.

The vendors bid on an administrative fee which is a percentage of the total contract amount ($350,000), which in turn represents the amount budgeted for administration of the Park Ranger Program. The Boys and Girls Club of Boston, Inc. submitted the lowest fee of $9,797.82, or .88% of the total amount budgeted. This percentage (2.88%) will be subtracted from the total endor price and will represent the total amount paid directly to the contractor for services rendered under the contract with the balance used for direct program costs.

The contractual arrangement between the vendor and the City would insure the fiscal administration of the Park Ranger Program in an efficient and cost effective manner, while permitting the City to not only monitor the performance of the contract, but also manage and supervise the Park Ranger Program.

The contractor will provide financial management services and administrative support services, i.e. personnel, supplies, materials and administration necessary to operate the Park Ranger Program. In so doing, they would maintain all books, records, accounts and other financial data necessary for the administration of the program. The City will reimburse the contractor for approved disbursements made by the vendor on behalf of the City.

Close monitoring of this program will be provided to ensure strict compliance with the terms of the contract, particularly with respect to supervision, liability, accountability, management and financial reports.

A Bid Opening Certificate Form was completed and signed on May 11, 1994. Duplicate bids were read at the Auditing Department on May 19, 1994.

Inasmuch as the Boys and Girls Club, Inc. submitted the lowest bid and inasmuch as the bid is a reasonable one, your permission is requested to award this contract to the Boys and Girls Club of Boston, Inc., 50 Congress Street, Boston, MA 02109, for the period July 1, 1994, through June 30, 1995. The cost of the contract will not exceed $350,000.

According to the evaluation criteria listed in the invitation to bid, I have determined that the contractor is the lowest responsive and responsible bidder.

Very truly yours,
Patrick S. Harrington,
Commissioner.

PARKING REGULATIONS IMPLEMENTED FOR FOOTBALL GAMES

The Boston Transportation Department is implementing temporary parking regulations in Brighton near Boston College to ensure the availability of parking for area residents on days of the school's scheduled home football games this Fall.

Signs reading "Tow Zone, No Stopping, 4 Hours Before and 1 Hour After B.C. Football Game Except Allston-Brighton Resident Permits" will be posted and in effect on the following dates in 1994.

- o September 17
- o October 8
- o October 15
- o October 22
- o November 12

Parking regulations will be strictly enforced and vehicles in violation will be ticketed and towed if necessary. The City of Boston is strongly urging game spectators to take public transportation to B.C.'s Alumni Stadium.

The temporary regulations are being implemented in keeping with parking bans in neighboring communities. The City of Boston wants to ensure that Brighton's local streets do not become overburdened by spectators seeking on-street parking on game days.

The temporary regulations will cover the following area.

- o All streets to the south of Washington Street from the Newton line, near Oak Square, to Market Street in Brighton Center.
- o All streets east of Chestnut Hill Avenue from Washington Street to the Brookline line, near Cleveland Circle.

Neighborhood residents must display either an Allston/Brighton Resident Parking Permit, or a special temporary permit enabling them to park their cars in this area on the dates and times listed.

Boston Transportation Commissioner Frank Tramontozzi said. These parking regulations are designed to ensure safety and accessibility in the Brighton community during Boston College football games. To avoid unnecessary parking problems on game days, residents who do not already have an Allston-Brighton resident parking permit are asked to make a point of securing a temporary permit."

BOSTON MEANS BUSINESS

WASHINGTON STREET BUSINESS GROUP

by Jerry Mello, President

The Washington Street Business Group has been meeting for the past 10 years. Two of the issues they are currently grappling with are public safety and road construction within the business district. To address the issue of public safety, they have been working closely with Captain Parlon of the Police Department and will invite him to be a speaker in September to discuss community policing. By working with city and state agencies, this association has bridged the gap between local businesses and government agencies regarding road construction and its effect on the daily operations of businesses. This liaison with the various agencies has helped the businesses keep informed of issues in the community as they arise. Cooperative efforts such as these have helped in changing the business climate in Jamaica Plain.

Ed & Gerry Burke, Doyle's is the hub of many social gatherings and the meeting place for the Washington Street Business Group, the Kiwanis Club, and a steady stream of regulars and newcomers alike. Aside from their commitment to the restaurant, the Burke brothers are involved with the youth and elderly of Jamaica Plain. Ed Burke is one of the many reasons the Jamaica Plain CYO remains active and alive in Jamaica Plain today.

TWO WOMEN AUTHORS SPEAK OUT "AGAINST THE NEW FEMINISM" AT BPL

The women's movement in the United States has taken a wrong turn along the way according to the authors of two recently published books on the subject who will speak out "Against the New Feminism" in the Mezzanine Conference Room of the Boston Public Library in Copley Square at 6 p.m. on Wednesday evening, September 7.

Katie Roiphe, author of The Morning After: Sex, Fear, and Feminism on Campus, and Christina Hoff Sommers, author of Who Stole Feminism? How Women Have Betrayed Women, share the belief that the current women's movement in this country is in trouble.

When 24-year-old Katie Roiphe arrived at Harvard in the fall of 1986, and later as a graduate student at Princeton, she found the feminism she had been raised to believe in had been radically transformed. The women's movement which had once signaled such strength and courage, now seemed lodged in a foundation of weakness and fear. In The Morning After, Ms. Roiphe criticizes the rape crisis feminists and the growing campus concern with sexual harassment.

A professor of philosophy at Clark University in Worcester, Christina Hoff Sommers has become a prominent voice in the public debate over feminism. In Who Stole Feminism, she criticizes the views of such figures as Gloria Steinem, Susan Faludi, Naomi Wolf, Patricia Ireland, Marilyn French, and Catharine MacKinnon, who she believes have distorted the truth and are out of touch with most American women.

The program is free and open to the public. Books will be available for sale and autographing after the program. For more information, please contact the Boston Public Library at 617/536-5400, Ext. 336.

"BOSNIA: PORTRAIT OF A
 ON EXHIBIT AT BPL

"Bosnia: Portrait of a Nation in Pieces," a month-long exhibition featuring photographs and artwork by artists from the Boston area, will be on display in the Boston Room of the Boston Public Library in Copley Square through September 29.

The exhibit is cosponsored by the New England Bosnian Relief Committee and includes works by Sefer Osdemire, chairman of NEBRC; Peris Gumz, executive director of World Reach; and Suzanne Hodges, cofounder of Artists for Survival.

The exhibit follows "Portraits of a Shattered Soul: Bosnia," a related exhibition by editorial photographer Elizabeth Rappaport, a former Massachusetts resident who now lives in Aspen, Colorado, that was on display at the Boston Public Library earlier this year.

The exhibit is free and is open to the public during library hours: Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For information, please call the Boston Public Library at 617/536-5400, Ext. 336.

TO: Department Heads

Director, 24-Hour Service
Mayor's Office

RE: NOTIFICATION INFORMATION

The 24-Hour Service serves as a critical link in contacting the appropriate City official, department, or agency to respond to after-hours requests, from calls initiated by Mayor Menino, to press inquiries, to emergency service situations needing immediate attention.

From time to time, it is necessary to request that all department heads update the information on file with the 24-Hour Service. The information should include:

1. Department Head's home telephone number, as well as any car phone, pager, or permanent vacation home numbers.
2. Name and home telephone numbers for key personnel in your department. Key personnel would include person(s) designated to speak on behalf of the department in your absence, or those likely to be on-call in case of an emergency or special event involving your department.
3. Emergency Protocols: many departments, including ISD, PFD, BRA, Parks, etc. have established procedures for notification depending on the nature of the emergency. In most cases, these procedures should be reviewed and updated, due to personnel changes.
4. Vacation/Out-of-Town Notification: All department heads should notify the 24-Hour Service, as well as the Mayor's Office, of any time when you will be unavailable.

If you have any questions, please contact Frank McDonough at 635-4500. Thank you for your prompt attention.

“BUYING CAMPAIGN” URGED UPON NEW ENGLAND TO BREAK DOWN PRESENT IN-DUSTRIAL DEPRESSION — MAYOR CURLEY, IN RADIO
ADDRESS, ASKS CITIZENS TO CAST ASIDE FEELING OF FEAR AND RENEW FAITH IN COUNTRY’S ABILITY TO RE-COVER BUSINESS EQUILIB-RIUM — BIG BUSINESS SHOULD SHARE BURDEN

In his radio address at 11 p.m., on August 27, WNAC and New England network, under the auspices of New England Trade Week, Mayor Curley said in part as follows:

The assertion is frequently made that conditions are not ripe for a business revival and everywhere one turns the voice of the croaker is heard, until one gets the impression that there is something fundamentally wrong with America. We overlook the part that psychology plays in the present case, aided and abetted by the unfortunate army of women and men who lost their savings either in the November crash or in one of the sinking spells that have since taken place in the stock market.

The all-important fact is overlooked that America has weathered every storm, including seven wars, among which was the greatest internecine struggle in history, and that the present picture is rapidly changing but would change at once if everyone would take a more hopeful outlook as to the future.

The present situation does not differ materially from ones that have preceded it, and our chief concern at present should be to adopt such measures as will prevent a recurrence.

The finances of the nation have never been upon a sounder basis and banks have never been so plentifully supplied with funds and money has never been available at such a low interest rate for legitimate business needs. While it is true that there is a surplus of raw material it is equally true that every concern in America has been doing business for eight months upon less than a month’s supply of goods on hand. A buying wave tomorrow would mean depleted stocks of goods in every retail establishment and the starting up of mills and factories throughout the land with work and wages for everyone.

Workers Bearing All Burden

The financial report for the six months period of 1930 as contrasted with 1929 is of interest since it discloses that 702 firms made no change in dividends while but 25 omitted dividends and 24 decreased dividends. These figures disclose the secret of a large measure of present day depression, namely: the entire burden was placed squarely upon the weak shoulders of the workers instead of being borne equally by industry and the workers.

Dividends were maintained in many cases by retrenchment through the discharge of employees, unmindful of the all-important fact that for every man discharged a thousand prospective customers, in the person of fellow employees, are stampeded, through fear that they will be next, into restricting their own expenditures, thereby reducing their purchasing power to the minimum.

In a period like the present there is no way to justify payments of prevailing dividends, as this money should be utilized to maintain the purchasing power of the workers rather than to destroy it. Capital has failed to assume its share of the burden and in so doing has worked injury to all. Stress has been laid upon the loss of European trade owing to the recently enacted tariff act, notwithstanding the fact that every student of trade realizes that such an enactment is necessary for the protection of American workers, as Europe is rapidly becoming a closed book, so far as the United States of America is concerned, for other than raw materials.

Contrary to general belief imports and exports, outside of raw materials, do not mean much to America, since in 1927 and 1928, the two most prosperous years in the history of America they practically balanced, being in each case slightly less than five billions, while the total value of goods produced, fabricated or derived from the earth, and paid for by Americans, was $87,000,000,000 in 1927 and $90,000,000,000 in 1928.

Mass Production Universal Now

We must not be unmindful of the fact that American mass production is no longer an American institution, due to the invasion of foreign markets by American concerns, which today number nearly 1,700 branches in Europe.

Patriotism has not been the handmaiden of the American dollar in the case of these American foreign branches where child, prison and pauper labor at starvation wages have been set in competition with American workers.

The conferences arranged by President Hoover for the promotion of a construction program have been prolific in promise but rather sterile in the matter of performance, with the exception of the political subdivisions of the nation which have eagerly seized upon the opportunity presented to conduct major programs that have long been regarded as necessary, but which in the past, due to lack of public support, have been impossible of fulfillment. The federal government itself has been one of the chief offenders. The actual expenditure for building construction under federal auspices from January 1 to July 1 of the current year were but twenty-one million dollars. Congress authorized an expenditure of $520,000,000 under the public building program and the public assumed, that to meet the existing emergency and industrial depression that the entire amount would be allocated and provision made for its expenditure during the year 1930. As a matter of fact, the $520,000,000 allowed under the public building program represents a ten-year building program rather than a one-year program. So that the actual benefit to industry will be negligible. The Mississippi River project contemplatultimately an expenditure of $2,000,000,000, but the actual expenditures to the present time have been considerably less than $200,000,000. Had the federal government set the example and met the present situation as it should be met by making provision for the entire building program, representing a total of $520,000,000 during the year 1930, opportunities, not only for employment of labor, but for the purchase of vast quantities of material produced by the basic industries, namely, steel, lumber and cement, would have been added materially in minimizing the effect of present industrial depression.

Federal Expenditures Would Aid.

What is true in the case of the public building program is equally true in the case of the Mississippi River project. The expenditure by the federal government during the year 1930 of $200,000,000 would not only aid labor but would render it unnecessary for the railroads and the steel mills and other like industries to dispense with the services of countless thousands of workers who have been added to the already swollen army of the unemployed. This has not been the policy adopted, so far as the City of Boston is concerned.

Anticipating the seriousness of the situation, application was made to the State Legislature in January for authority to expend a sum of $23,000,000 greater than had ever previously been expended for public improvements in the history of the city. Hearings were given by the Legislature but, unfortunately for the unemployed, favorable action was not taken in the matter of authorization until almost the close of the legislative session in May. Work is now progressing upon some of these public improvements. Others may be said to be in the blueprint stages which could be in the construction stage had the Legislature given early assent to the authorizations desired by the municipal-

Street construction	..... 7,000,000

Commonwealth avenue
subway extension	..... 3,000,000
Tunnel to East Boston	..... 16,000,000

With a view to providing employment for service men who, in the hour of the nation's trial rallied to the call of country, Boston is at present constructing, upon a day-labor basis, the $3,100,000 Commonwealth Avenue subway extension and is doing the work on a two-shift system, thereby making possible the employment of twice as many men as have ever previously been employed upon a similar construction job.

The indications are that America has turned the corner. Relief is being provided for the farming element of the nation and the prices of farm commodities have shown some increase so that there is a reasonable certainty that this great element, representing one in every four of the population of America, may enjoy some small measure of prosperity.

One of the outstanding economists of America, Col. Leonard P. Ayers, of Cleveland, states that the depression of 1929 to 1930 was a world depression and consequently lasted longer than the purely national depression of 1924 to 1927. He further states that in the first five months of the present year we produced only about the same as we did in the first five months of 1925. Yet our living standards have advanced and the population has increased 7,000,000 during that period of time. Factories and merchants have been getting rid of their surplus and families getting rid of their debts. Meanwhile, we have not been producing on as large a scale. We are manufacturing shortages and with production lowered to the rate of five years ago and consumption higher, it can readily be seen that we cannot have much further to go to produce the shortage that will send us all back to work again.

Shipbuilding Industry Grows

The shipbuilding industry has already, under the provision of the Jones-White Act, started upon a period of prosperity with a program contemplating sixty-eight new or reconditioned ships, aggregating 700,000 gross tons, at a total cost of $275,000,000.

The food companies and the utility companies are showing marked improvement and there is every indication that the coming winter, which millions in America have regarded with fear, may prove one of the most prosperous ever known in peace times.

The deposits in mutual savings banks, which control more than thirty percent of all the savings in the United States, showed gains of two hundred and seventy-three million dollars for the six months up to June 30 of this year, in contrast to a loss of $82,000,000 in the last half of 1929.

The total resources of 7,250 national banks to June 30 of this year, aggregated $29,000,000,000, an increase since March 27, or but three months, of $1,768,000,000.

Every thoughtful citizen recognizes his duty in a situation like the present and it should be only necessary to direct the attention of the individual to their duty in order to have a performance of this duty.

The most pleasing feature in connection with the depression which has obtained during the past year is the fact that the industrial leaders of America have stood firm for the maintenance of the saving wage and have refused to cut the same, recognizing that the best buyer's market in the whole world is an American citizen enjoying permanency in employment at good wages, or, in other words, being permitted to share in the values that are created by the labor of his or her hand and brain.

Everyone Can Aid.

Each one of us can do something in the present emergency even if it be but to paint one's home, add to the household possessions, improve the plumbing or heating facilities, or plant the ground, all of which not only contribute to the aesthetic value but to the utilitarian and more than all else to the health of the household.

Faith was the basis for the establishment of the Massachusetts Bay Colony and without an abiding faith the Revolution tionary War would have been unsuccessful. We need faith at the present hour. Faith in God, faith in our common country, faith in our fellowmen, but more than all else, faith in ourselves. Saint Paul said: "Faith without good works is of no avail." Let the good work be represented by every individual purchasing at once, so far as his or her means will permit, not only the things that are necessary, but those things, the purchase of which might be delayed for a period of time.

If this is done by all an impetus will be given that will be reflected in every artery of industry which will make necessary the immediate employment of the nearly 3,000,000 of persons who are today without the opportunity for a livelihood because of an industrial depression which today obtains largely as a consequence of fear. The area of the United States has not diminished during the past year but the wealth of the nation has increased. The population of the nation has increased and the health of the people has been improved.

The future is in our own keeping. Let each one do his duty and the clouds of fear that have hung heavily over our fair land will be dissipated by God's sunlight of prosperity and the promise of an abundant future.

MAYOR REHABILITATES RINGGOLD PARK WITH NEW PLAN

BOSTON COMPETITIVE SALE $70 MILLION GENERAL OBLIGATION BONDS 1994, SERIES-B

The City of Boston sold $70 million of general obligation bonds by competitive sale on August 31, the City's third competitive sale in nearly a year. The overall interest rate on the bonds, 5.665 percent, was the third lowest in at least 20 years: Eight groups of underwriters submitted bids, an unusually high number.

According to Mayor Thomas M. Menino, "The high number of bids and low interest rate we received today are a tremendous vote of confidence in the City of Boston and its fiscal policies. The competitive sale enabled us to take maximum advantage of the strong investor interest. The bottom line is that taxpayers will save millions as a result of today's success."

The winning bid was submitted by a group of underwriters led by Morgan Stanley. The next closest bid, offered by underwriters led by JP Morgan, was 5.681 percent. Six other underwriting groups submitted bids.

On August 26, Standard & Poor's and Moody's confirmed the City of Boston credit rating at "A," which maintains the City's highest credit rating ever. In addition, the City qualified for insurance from the three major bond insurers.

"Prudent fiscal management" and a "capital plan well managed" were among factors cited by Moody's as Mayor Thomas M. Menino has ordered a plan to be implemented to improve the condition of Ringgold Park. The Mayor, with City Council President James Kelly, toured the park, Wednesday night, August 24, to see the work done so far and discuss the park's future with residents.

The Mayor said, "The idea behind this plan is for a more effective delivery of basic services and a quicker response to neighborhood concerns. When the issues surrounding this park were called to my attention at a meeting on Tuesday night, a team plan seemed like the best way to start getting something done. I hope more people will now see Ringgold Park for what a park is supposed to be, for relaxing, meeting people and letting kids play."

Over 40 workers descended on the park to begin work Wednesday morning. The team plan, under the direction of the Mayor's new Chief of Basic Services, Michael Galvin, involved a number of different city service departments including Parks and Recreation, Public Utilities and Neighborhood Services.

There were a number of problems addressed in the park. The existing lights were refocused into the park for better lighting, new nets were placed on the basketball hoops and the backboards were secured. Plans were also made to build a 3-foot fence in one part of the park. The BYCC "Red Shirts" removed trash and trimmed vegetation. Restricted hours signs were also put in place.

The City still has plans to do more work on the park. The options for future development of the park will be discussed with the community.

contributing to their confirmation of Boston's "A" rating. According to Standard & Poor's, the City's credit "outlook is stable and reflects expectations that continued strong financial management will result in sound financial operations over the long term."

John C. Simmons, the City's Chief Financial Officer and Collector-Treasurer, was pleased with the results of the sale. "The timing and method of the sale enabled us to receive excellent rates through a strong competitive market," Simmons said. "The interest rates received clearly demonstrate the City's competitive advantage and the tremendous investor demand for Boston securities."

PORTRAITS BY WILLIAM McDONOUGH ON EXHIBIT AT WEST ROXBURY BRANCH LIBRARY

An exhibition of paintings by portraitist William McDonough will be on display during the month of September in the Gallery of the West Roxbury Branch Library, 1961 Centre Street.

Some of the paintings in the month-long exhibit are of West Roxbury people who can be seen on any given day walking or working along Centre Street. The area community service officer, the lieutenant at the fire house, some of the West Roxbury librarians, and couple of people who work at Macy's, and the local branch managers of the Bank of Greece and the Shawmut Bank are among those who should be easily recognizable to library patrons.

Although he has been painting for more than 30 years, Mr. McDonough feels he still has room for growth and learning. "With each new portrait I see improvement," he said, "As in life, the process is continuous."

McDonough views a portrait "as the pinnacle of expression in paint" and feels there is a fine line to be observed in portrait painting. "Do you tell the truth or do you flatter the subject?" he asks. He also feels the portraitist must become emotionally involved in his subject. "Without feeling something for the subject," he says, "the portrait can, no matter how much technical skill is involved, be flat and lifeless." In order to accomplish this "emotional expression" he switched to water-colors which he says "can be controlled with ease."

A member of the West Roxbury Art Association, McDonough has had several one-man shows and has been in several group exhibitions in the area. He has taken numerous classes at the Massachusetts Art Institute and the MFA's Museum School, but has relied mostly on self-education and experience to hone his artistic skills.

The public was invited to meet Mr. McDonough at a Gallery reception in his honor on Thursday evening, Sept. 1, from 6 to 7:30 p.m., and at the exhibition which is open from 12 noon to 8 p.m. on Mondays and Thursdays, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on Tuesdays and Wednesday, and 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Fridays and Saturdays through Sept. 30. For more information, please contact the West Roxbury Branch Library at 325-3147.

KICK-OFF BACK-TO-SCHOOL IMMUNIZATION CAMPAIGN

*Statement of Mayor Thomas M.
Menino, September 1, 1994*

There is an old African proverb, "It takes a village to raise a child." For our children to grow up healthy and with hope, they need to be surrounded with care and attention at home, at school, at play, and everywhere in between. The City of Boston's Back-To-School and Immunization Campaign is about keeping kids healthy and safe wherever they may be.

The first part of the campaign is an immunization outreach effort designed to ensure that the nearly 7,000 children who will enter school for the first time in September are protected from preventable diseases and have access to quality health care.

To achieve our goal, neighborhood health centers, Boston City Hospital, New England Medical Center, Franciscan Children's and Carney Hospital are offering expanded hours, free and reduced cost visits, and fast-track services for children entering school this month.

With a 98 to 99 percent success rate, Boston already leads the country in the immunization of its children by the time they reach school age. We are proud of our success, but we can and must do better. We now know that children are best protected when they are immunized by the age of two.

The Boston Immunization Action Plan is a coalition of the City of Boston Department of Health and Hospitals, B.C.H., neighborhood health centers, Boston-area hospitals and non-profit family service providers. As one of 16 such coalitions nationwide, we are working to achieve a 90 percent immunization rate for children by the age of two by expanding access, conducting an ongoing awareness and outreach campaign, and creating and maintaining a city-wide immunization registry and tracking system.

As part of this effort, a number of youth and community service organizations, including Boston Community Centers, City Year, the Boston Housing Authority outreach workers, the Mayor's Youth Leadership Corps and the city's Red Shirts will help to distribute flyers and posters and will actually be part of a door-to-door campaign to maximize access to immunization and children's health services.

As I said at the beginning, children need to be kept safe and healthy wherever they may be. Immunization is one part of that and education is clearly another. But it is also clear that a child's time outside of school is just as important as time in the classroom.

Once school starts, 5 to 6 million children between the ages of 5 and 12 will spend part of their day alone and unsupervised. For some families there is no way around this, which makes it even more important that parents help to guide their children's after school activities.

Speaking as a parent, I know the importance and the rewards of establishing a routine for children. This means making sure that kids do their homework and chores around the house once they get out of school. It also means monitoring TV time. This keeps children busy, and over time, they develop a sense of responsibility and self-discipline.

Another helpful idea is for parents and children and even close neighbors to develop a system to check in with one another. Finally, our children need to know some common sense do's and don'ts. Don't open the door to strangers, don't use the stove alone, and do call 911 if there's an emergency.

I want to thank all of the people and institutions who helped to develop and who are participating in the Boston Immunization Action Plan. They are too numerous to mention individually, but I want them all to know that because of their efforts, Boston's children and their parents can look with confidence to healthy young lives.

MAYOR APPOINTS DERRIC SMALL AS NEW ROXBURY NEIGHBORHOOD COORDINATOR

Mayor Menino stands with his newly appointed Roxbury Coordinator, Derric Small. The Mayor appointed Small in Mid-August to fill the post of Roxbury Neighborhood Coordinator in the Mayor's Office of Neighborhood Services. Small was working at the Private Industry Council as a Career Specialist. In that job, Small coordinated the interaction between students, the School Department and the private sector. His people skills and abilities to coordinate resources are what he will bring to the job. Small's jurisdiction will coincide with City Council District 7.

And by all of us working together to educate and protect our children at home, at school, at play, and everywhere in between, we can have the satisfaction of knowing that we are providing a vital sense of hope and caring to this young generation.

"FINDING AND KEEPING THE JOB YOU WANT" AT BPL

Peter Weddle, chairman and CEO of Job Bank USA, Inc., will discuss "Career Fitness: How to Find, Win, and Keep the Job You Want in the 1990s" during a noontime Brown Bag Seminar in the Mezzanine Conference Room of the Boston Public Library in Copley Square on Monday, September 12.

Corporate layoffs, downsizings, rightsizings, and restructuring plans have destroyed the career ladder. There's less security, less upward mobility, a less clear direction for anyone trying to chart a career today.

The author of ROI: A Tale of American Business and the soon-to-be-released book Career Fitness, Mr. Weddle has devised a "career fitness workout" to help build a career with meaning and impact in the 1990s.

Job Bank USA is a computerized nation-wide employment service based in Washington, D.C., that uses its extensive data bases to network its corporate clients' with potential job candidates.

The 12 p.m. program is free and open to the public. For more information, please call the Boston Public Library at 536-5400, Ext. 339.

MAYOR PRAISES COUNCIL FOR SCHOOL CONTRACT APPROVAL

Mayor Thomas M. Menino praised the Boston City Council for approving 16.9 million dollars to fund school contracts. City negotiators and representatives of the Boston Teachers' Union reached agreement on the Boston Teachers' Union contract in June.

Mayor Menino said, "I'd like to thank members of the City Council for the vote of approval. By supporting the B.T.U. contract, the Councilors have demonstrated their commitment to long-term educational reform. The many innovative reforms in this contract will improve education for the school children in Boston."

Five thousand Boston Public School teachers and 1,000 other school department employees are covered by the school contracts.

School opened in Boston for children in grades 1-9 on September 8 and for children in grades 10-12 on September 9.

NEIGHBORHOOD STABILITY

*Statement of
Mayor Thomas M. Menino*

One of the major priorities of my Administration is promoting neighborhood stability through increased home ownership. The people who live in Jamaica Plain are rightfully outraged that foreclosed properties are being sold off to a convicted arsonist rather than providing home ownership opportunities to families.

Everyone in this city has a responsibility to make sure that Boston's neighborhoods are vital, healthy and safe. We want banks and other lenders to work with the City to make sure that this does not happen again.

The City must act to protect the neighborhoods and I am taking the following steps:

1. I am sending a letter to all of the private financing institutions involved in this case expressing my deep concern. This situation came about because several financial institution's did not consider the community's interests. Rather they pursued a strategy that precluded the ability for families to purchase these 18 homes in Jamaica Plain.

2. I am sending a letter to the Banking Commissioner asking him to investigate legislative remedies to stop an apparent loophole that currently allows private lenders to provide financing to convicted arsonists. We must provide the Banking Commissioner with the tools necessary to stop this type of lending practice. These issues concern all Massachusetts citizens as they affect the stability of the banking environment.

3. Lastly, I am calling on the state legislature to analyze the penalties for arson and examine whether convicted arsonists could be prohibited from owning investment properties for a specific period of time after sentencing.

MAYOR MENINO'S NEW PLAN HELPS CRACK DOWN ON HYDE PARK AUTO REPAIR SHOP

Mayor Thomas M. Menino has developed a plan that creates teamwork and communication between departments when dealing with problems in the City's neighborhoods. The plan demonstrated its effectiveness recently in Hyde Park by addressing resident's concerns with an auto repair shop located at 200 Providence Street.

Residents have complained about the old auto parts and vehicles left around by the shop. Residents also said they cannot open their windows on hot summer nights because of noxious paint fumes from the shop's late night car painting. Through the Mayor's new plan, under the direction of his new Chief of Basic Services Michael Galvin, two years worth of complaints have been addressed.

The plan calls for administrators from each city service department to meet weekly with the Chief of Basic Services to discuss chronic problems in the neighborhoods and then develop solutions to them as a team. Already this has proved to be a quicker way of addressing quality of life problems. The strengthening of communication between city departments will also allow for continued remedies to these problems should they return.

The effort in Hyde Park involved Inspectional Services, the Transportation Department, Code Enforcement and the Department of Public Works. The cleanup effort was coordinated as a team. Transportation Department tow trucks removed over a dozen vehicles; Code Enforcement Police issued citations for illegally stored materials; Inspectional Services investigated illegal paint spraying and Public Works moved in to clean out debris. The shop owners were also brought in to Inspectional Service Headquarters at 1010 Massachusetts Avenue, to have their permits verified. The action conducted by the City through this new plan has also led to the auto body shops relocation away from the area.

BOSTON MEANS BUSINESS AT WORK FOR BOSTON'S BUSINESSES

The Mayor's Office of Business Services was created by Mayor Menino to provide an important and much needed link to Boston's business community. The 635-5555 hotline number provides businesses with direct access to city services, permitting and zoning assistance, sources for working capital, and new sites for relocating or expanding operations.

The Office of Business Services assesses the needs of the business and ensures that they receive professional and speedy action from the necessary city departments.

Each call that comes into the office is assigned to a project manager who provides personal attention to the business and directs them to the necessary public or private assistance. Director Doug Housman, together with Assistant Director Jesus Rosa and Development Assistant Nicole Manny, get the word out about their services by attending merchant and neighborhood meetings and provide potential customers with first-hand examples of how city government can work to help the business commu-

Success Stories

Costas Provisions - Boston retained this $28 million, 40 employee company because the Office of Business Services was there to help them move into a larger, more suitable building and expedite crucial assistance from the Inspectional Services Department, Public Works Department, and Boston Gas Company.

New England Seafood International - This 120 employee, Roxbury-based company was on their way out of Boston until the Office of Business Services intervened to ensure the company could receive truck access to a new Mattapan site and company employees could benefit from necessary neighborhood policing.

Today's Bread - When this popular restaurant on Centre Street in Jamaica Plain came to the Office of Business Services looking for more working capital, we immediately brought the company to the attention of local banks. As a result of our efforts, they received a new loan from Fleet Bank for their fledgling business and were able to stay in operation.

SABATIER'S FRANCISCAN COLLECTION IN RARE BOOKS EXHIBIT AT BPL

"Assisi in Boston: The Paul Sabatier Franciscan Collection," an exhibition highlighting the Boston Public Library's extensive research collection for the study of Saint Francis and Franciscanism, will be on display through November 30 in the Rare Books and Manuscripts Department of the Central Library in Copley Square.

The Library purchased the principal portion of the Franciscan library of French scholar Paul Sabatier (1858-1928), a biographer and lifelong student of Saint Francis of Assisi, from his widow in 1930

The exhibition, which illuminates to the benefit of all visitors — researchers and nonresearchers alike — the timelessness of the Franciscan message, exemplifies the scholarship of Sabatier, the writings of Saint Francis and his legacy, and early Franciscan sources. Included among the rare books on display are Sabatier's important biography, Vie de S. Francois d'Assisi (Paris, 1894), a 13th century Franciscan breviary, a 15th century "Regula fratrum minorum," a 15th century rules for the Clarisses order, Ubertino da Casale's Arbor vitae (Venice, 1485), Speculum vitae B. Francisci et sociorum ejus (Metz, 1509), Bartolomeo da Pisa's Liber conformitatum (Milan, 1510), and Privilegia fratrum minorum (Paris, 1512).

The exhibit is free and open to the public in the Rare Books and Manuscripts Department of the Research Library, Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. For more information, please call the Boston Public Library at 536-5400, Ext. 425.

VII. HIGH COMMENDATION

On February 5, 1994, at 0830 hour, Engine Company 33 and Ladder Company 15 responded to the Howard Johnson Hotel at 575 Commonwealth Avenue, District 5, for a report of smoke on the seventh floor. Upon arrival on floor number seven, Fire Lieutenant Michael E. Tierney, Fire Fighters Richard H. Graham, Edward C. Doherty and Brendan Collins of Ladder Company 15 encountered a heavy smoke condition. Approaching the interior smoke doors, the crew encountered a substantial increase in heat, flames were seen beyond that point and screams of residents trapped in their rooms could be heard. The crew, advancing down the hallway through extreme heat, zero visibility and passing fire, split into two teams of two men. Each team forced entry into separate rooms, rescuing victims, when they were subsequently removed to the hospital. The search and rescue operations were performed before hand lines were in place and prior to ventilation.

Because of their life saving actions during serious fire conditions and while under great personal risk, the Fire Commissioner is pleased to highly commend Fire Lieutenant Michael E. Tierney, Fire Fighters Richard H. Graham, Edward C. Doherty, Brendan Collins of Ladder Company 15 and refers their case to the Board of Merit for further consideration.
